WORLD SESSION ON REPARATION PLAN FORECAST

Notion Prevails of Second Meeting to Follow Chequers Visit.

GERMAN STATESMEN CALL ON KING GEORGE

London Papers Link Mellon and Stimson Trips to Finance Problem.

London, June 8 (A.P.).—The notion that a world economic conference to consider the problem of war reparations might be the outcome of last week-end's Anglo-German discussions at Chequers continued to prevail in many quarters today, although the German ministers eschewed politics for the day and devoted their time entirely to filling social engagements.

The big event in their day was a 20-minute conference with King George V. Both Chancellor Bruening and Prime Minister Curtius appeared extremely pleased with their visit to the king because it marked the first time since the World War that German statesmen have been received at Buckingham Palace.

They took today's visit to mean that the last vestiges of war psychology have disappeared.

They found the monarch's health well restored and they also found evidence that the king follows the world economic situation with interest.

King Sympathetic to Germany.

The German statesmen were gratified at his sympathetic attitude toward Germany, although the king made no secret of the fact that he considers England also has her own pack of troubles at the present time.

London newspapers today linked the forthcoming visits to Europe of Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, with a promise made at the week-end conference to collaborate with other governments. A spokesman for the Chequers conversations said it was felt that "the ball has been started rolling on the whole international economic question, especially reparations."

Naturally, England and Germany alone can not solve the problem," the spokesman said, "but it is important that the parties at the Chequers conference went on record before the whole world as urging international cooperation and in promising each other to collaborate closely with the other governments concerned."

Meeting in Germany Forecast.

A remark made by Foreign Minister Curtius at the Germany Embassy after the conference led observers to believe that similar conference might be held on Germany soil in the near future. Expressing his gratitude to Prime Minister MacDonald for his hospitality, Curtius said he and Chancellor Bruening hoped it might soon be possible for them to reciprocate.

At their conference with King George today the king spoke English exclusively, but Ambassador von Neurath served as interpreter for Foreign Minister Curtius, who does not speak

HOOVER WIRES ORTIZ IN YOUTHS' SLAYING

Regrets Expressed on Death of Students; Officers to Face Charges.

Mexico City, June 8 (A.P.).—A cable from President Hoover of the United States expressing his regret over the slaying at Ardmore, Okla., today of Emilio Cortes Rubio, nephew of President Ortiz Rubio, and Manuel Gomez, both students, was delivered to the Mexican President this evening by Ambassador J. Reuben Clark.

The ambassador also presented his own personal regrets and those of the State Department, going later to the foreign office where he made a similiar presentation of regrets to Foreign Minister Genaro Estrada.

Official comment regarding the slayings will be withheld until the Mexican consul at Oklahoma City makes a full investigation into the tragedy, Foreign Minister Estrada said. He said the consul had been instructed to go to Ardmore to look into the matter, and that a quick and complete report was expected.

Ardmore, Okla., June 8 (A.P.).—County Attorney Marvin Shilling announced this evening he would file murder charges tomorrow against Bill Guess and Cecil Crosby, deputy sheriffs, for the fatal shooting today of two Mexican students in United States colleges—one a cousin of President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico.

The county attorney announced the contemplated action after holding an inquiry, which was not completed, and was adjourned until tomorrow. During the inquiry Guess said he would insist that the charges be filed, and expressed confidence he would be exonerated.

Gov. W. H. Murray late today also entered the case, directing Shilling to make a complete investigation of the slaying of Emilio Cortes Rubio, 20, and Manuel Gomez, 20. Emilio was a student at the Missouri School of Mines, Rollo, Mo., and Manuel attended St. Benedict's College, Atchison, Kans.

Gov. Murray, commenting on the slaying of the youths on a highway near here early today, said: "No officer has the right to make an arrest without a warrant except for disturbance of the peace committed in his presence. Shooting under other circumstances is done at the peril of the officer."

The youths were accompanied by Salvador Cortez Rubio, 24, also a cousin of the Mexican President, the trio expecting to motor to Mexico, their school year having ended. Salvador, also a student at St. Benedict's, had left the automobile and was standing out of sight down the highway when the shooting occurred. He was unarmed.

Guess, admitted slayer of the two students, said at the inquiry that he fired only after the youths, whose automobile was parked on the road, drew revolvers.

Salvador said several guns were being carried in the automobile, partly for protection and partly because they could be purchased cheaper in the United States and were being taken to Mexico to be used in hunting.

New York Banks Plan $67,000,000 Merger

New York, June 8 (A.P.).—Discussions looking to a consolidation of Continental Bank & Trust Co. and International Trust Co., two important downtown New York banks having combined resources of more than $67,000,000, are under way, it was reported today.

No details were obtainable at the offices of either bank. Continental Bank & Trust, at one time known as the German-American Bank, was reorganized in 1929, when its capital was raised from $2,000,000 to $6,000,000. It has no branches.

NAP ON RAILS FATAL TO MARYLAND MAN

Weeds Hide Resident of Leeland From View of Engine Crew.

Hidden from view by high weeds which overhung the tracks on which he was sleeping, Henry Jones, 55-year-old resident of Leeland, Md., was run over and fatally injured by a Pennsylvania Railroad train yesterday near Hills Station, 2 miles north of Marlboro, Md.

One leg was severed and the other mangled. The victim died at Emergency Hospital a few minutes after being admitted.

William H. Thirles, conductor of the train, said that the man was lying across the rails, apparently asleep, and the train crew failed to see him because of the high weeds. Hills Station is between the Marlboro Courthouse and Jones' home and it is believed the man was walking home when he decided to take a nap.

After the accident, the branch line train rushed to the main line connection at Bowie, where a fast train was waiting to bring the injured man to a hospital here. The train which brought him to Washington was one of those on the Baltimore-Washington run. Mr. Thirles phoned the dispatcher immediately after the accident and the train was held a few minutes to pick up the injured man.

Joseph O. Kline, of Bowie, was engineer of the train. Mr. Thirles also lives in Bowie. The dead man is said to be survived by his wife and two sons, one 18 and one 22 years old.

Roosevelt to Dedicate Von Steuben Memorial

Albany, N. Y., June 8 (A.P.).—Gov. Roosevelt will help dedicate as a State historic site the grave of Baron von Steuben, Frederick the Great's adjutant general, who, as major general, taught Washington's army the ABC's of soldiery during the bitter winter at Valley Forge. The dedication will be September 15.

Von Steuben's grave is in the town of Steuben, Oneida County. It is in a 5-acre "sacred grove" of trees which are part of a 50-acre plot to be dedicated. This is part of the 16,000-acre estate the general retired to after he had played a leading part in helping win the freedom of the colonies. He died here in 1794.

SOCIETY GIRL'S BODY IS CAST UP BY OCEAN

Starr Faithful, 25, Slain, Say Police; but Motive Appears Lacking.

New York, June 8 (A.P.).—Stanley E. Faithful, wealthy manufacturing chemist of New York and Boston, tonight identified as his daughter Starr, 25 years old, a young woman whose body was cast up on Long Beach, Long Island, today. Nassau County police expressed belief that the victim had been slain, but could ascribe no motive.

The father returned from Mineola after viewing the body. An autopsy disclosed a ruptured liver and many bruises on hte right arm and breast.

The Faithful family has been prominent socially. The girl recently returned from Europe.

The body was discovered by a beach comber two hours after the girl's disappearance had been reported in a general alarm.

The father said he knew of no reason why she should have left home. He averred that if she had a love affair it had not been discussed with her family. He asked for a secret search for her late Saturday, but only today consented to have her disappearance broadcast.

1,155 Polish Saloons Are Ordered Closed

Berlin, June 8 (A.P.).—A Telegraphen Union dispatch from Warsaw tonight said the police minister of finance has decreed the closing of 1,155 saloons in Poland.

The law limits the number of saloons in the country to 20,000 and the dispatch said that this number was now exceeded by the 1,155.

Movie Firm Breaks Clara Bow's Contract

Hollywood, Calif., June 8 (A.P.).—Officials of Paramount Studio announced tonight that they had broken the film contract of Clara Bow, red-headed star, in accordance with several requests from her that she be released so she might regain her health.

POPE AND ITALY TRY TO SETTLE CLUBS TROUBLE

Government and Vatican Envoys Seek Basis for New Pact.

BOTH SIDES TO FIGHT DRASTIC MEASURES

Rumors of Final Rupture Are Denied; Nuncio Still Carries on Duties.

Rome, June 8 (A.P.).—The Vatican and the Italian government were still searching today for a basis of at least a temporary solution of the controversy that exists between them, and at the moment neither side despairs of finding one.

Through regular diplomatic channels and through unofficial negotiators the conversations are continuing. It was learned on the best authority today, and there was nothing to indicate any drastic steps were contemplated.

The Vatican's two notes to the government are still unanswered by written reply, but it was assumed today the government's reply was probably delayed by discussions to determine its character.

Nuncio Discharges Duties.

Both Papal Nuncio Borgongini Duca and Ambassador De Vecchi are still carrying on their normal duties, and it was understood the secret negotiations with the government are in the hands of the Marchesi Pacelli, the Pope's legal counsel.

Cardinal Pietro Gasparri, who signed the Lateran treaty and the concordat, is continuing to advise the Vatican. He has paid a number of visits to the Pope recently and this morning he saw the papal secretary of state, Cardinal Pacelli, for an hour. Count De Vecchi, Papal Ambassador to Rome, spent an hour with Foreign Minister Grandi this evening.

On every hand active efforts to reach a solution are evident. Should the negotiators fail to reach an accord soon, however, it was said in some circles the Vatican may feel obliged to insist the government formally apologize for the alleged insults to the Pope.

If such an insistence were made it might take the form of a third note from the Vatican to the government, but the best information from the Vatican up to tonight was that no such step was yet in view.

Withdrawal Rumors Denied.

Rumors that the papal nuncio at Rome might be withdrawn, or that a complete rupture in the relations of the Vatican and the government was imminent, were said today to be entirely unfounded.

Diplomatic circles, however, said that practicaly nothing is impossible in the situation which prevails, because questions of policy are at stake and the differences of opinion between the Pope and Mussolini are so wide as to be difficult to harmonize.

As an addition to the hopeful signs brought forward today, the government announced the Knights of Columbus would be permitted to reopen their seven playgrounds and sports fields in Rome. These were closed by the police after the general order dissolving the Catholic clubs.

Edward Hearn, director of the Knights of Columbus' activities in

Douglass Is Awarded Prize for Flag Design

Capital Resident to Get $25 for Best Emblem for District.

(Design on Page Five.)

The Washington Post's contest to secure a suitable design for a District of Columbia flag came to an official close yesterday when the judges went through the many designs submitted and selected the one which they felt was best fitted to represent the District.

William Boone Douglass, 4500 Lowell street northwest, was the winner of the contest, for it was his design which won the approval of the judges and it is his design which will be presented to District officials with a recommendation that it be adopted as the District flag.

There were many fine flag designs submitted in the contest and many of the contestatants showed care and skill in preparing their drawings. The item in Mr. Douglass' design which caught the eye of hte judges was the center emblem of the eagle above the shield bearing three stars, an emblem which will adorn everything connected with the bicentennial celebration in 1932 and which, it is believed, will firmly implant in the minds of all Americans the idea that the design represents the District.

Mr. Douglass, in addition to earning the honor of having his design selected out of the hundreds submitted, also will receive $25 in cash.

METHODISTS SELECT DR. CHESTEEN SMITH

Chosen New Superintendent of Baltimore District; Appointments Made.

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., June 8.—The Rev. Dr. Chesteen Smith, pastor of Hamline Church, Washington, today was appointed superintendent of the Baltimore District, Baltimore Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, at the closing session of the conference in First Church.

The Rev. Dr. H. W. Burgan, former superintendent of the district, was assigned to Hamline Church.

Dr. Smith formerly was a pastor of Grace Church, Baltimore. He came to Baltimore in 1925 from Friet Church, Decatur, Ill. He is a strong advocate of prohibition.

Prior to reading of pastoral appointments, a testimonial book was presented Bishop William Fraser McDowell, resident bishop of the Washington area, who presided for the last time this year as president of the Baltimore conference, and who will retire next May at the general conference of the denomination.

In the book was engraved an appreciation of the attitude for the bishop and for his wife, the late Mrs. Clotilda Lyon McDowell. There also was a check, which the bishop immediately presented as the first gift to a memorial to be presented at Strawbridge Home for Boys, Eldersburg, Md.

List of appointments for Washington District follows:

FIRM ENTERS CLAIM FOR CABINET CAMP

Tract on Rapidan Never Was Leased From Company, Commissioners Told.

Madison, Va., June 8 (A.P.).—The "Cabinet camp" was claimed today by the Ward Rue Lumber Co. The camp is composed of half a dozen small cottages erected in the Blue Ridge Mountains, 1½ miles from President Hoover's Rapidan River camp, and intended for use of Cabinet members coming down to confer with the Executive.

Claim to the cottages was made by representatives of the company appearing before State commissioners meeting here in connection with condemnation of land to be included in the proposed Shenandoah National Park. The company laid claim to the timber lands, which it valued at in excess of $1,000,000, and stated that the Cabinet camp had been erected on its holdings.

An acre and a half of land occupied by the camp was to have been leased, but the contract was never completed, the commissioners were told. Later it was said the claim was asserted merely because the cottages are within the bounds claimed by the lumber company, and it is not intended to embarrass the Cabinet members because terms of the lease have not been fulfilled.

Mountain land on which President Hoover's camp is situated is not involved in the lumber company claim. This land was bought from the Wayland estate which owend it for generations and the title first acquired by William E. Carson, chairman of the Virginia Conservation and Development Commission, later was transferred to President Hoover.

In accepting the deeds, President Hoover expressed a desire that they be held so that the camp might be furried over to future Presidents in event they wished to utilize the camp for week-end recreation.

The Ward Rue Lumber Co. has large holdings of timber land in Madison County, much of which is intended to be included in the proposed national park. Condemnation Commissioners Joseph Samuels, J. P. Billingsby and L. M. Farmer today began hearings here for the purpose of fixing value on the land to be taken over for the park.

$33,000 Given Dancer For Loss of Her Sight

Chicago, June 8 (A.P.).—Miss Amenda King, 20, former stage dancer, was awarded $33,000 for the loss of her sight in the settlement out of court today of a $150,000 damage suit against the Chicago Surface Lines and the City of Chicago.

In February 1930, Miss King was left blind from injuries suffered when the automobile she was riding struck a hole in Western avenue, near the car track, and catapulted against a light post.

SENATORS JOIN IN RETORTS TO CRIME BOARD

Walsh Avers President Should Not Be Freed of Criticism.

RIGHT IS DEFENDED ALSO BY BINGHAM

Fire of Commission Brings Conflict Over Choices Into Open.

(Associated Press.)

Senators spoke back yesterday to the attack by the Law Enforcement Commission upon political interference by the Senate in the selection of Federal district attorneys.

Senator Walsh, of Montana, ranking Democrat on the judiciary committee, said, "If the Senate is to be accused of injecting politics into the selection of Federal appointees and particularly district attorneys, it may be retorted that politics are rarely absent in the nomination of them by the executive.

"Why assail the Senate or senators in such a matter and exempt from like criticism the President who has sole power of appointment?" he asked.

Senator Bingham (Republican), Connecticut, defended the right and the practice of senators in recommending appointments to the judiciary and insisted that the senators were in a better position than others to know the best qualified men in their States and were held responsible for the appointments.

Turns Back Criticism.

Senator Caraway (Democrat), Arganesa, turned the criticism back to the commission. He said, "That indictment could have come in better grace from a commission that hadn't thought itself to be a political smoke screen for this administration's failure to enforce the law."

The commission's attack upon the Senate brought into the open the conflict between a considerable group of the Senate and the executive over the making of appointments.

President Hoover, at the outset of his administration, announced a policy of independence in judicial nominations. However, it was not long before pressure was brought to bear from the Senate, principally from the Republican regulars, for more attention to their recommendations for judicial appointments.

The controversy broke again last winter when the President flatly refused to name the candidate of Senator Schall (Republican), of Minnesota, to the Federal judgeship in Minnesota. Finally, Mr. Hoover sent up another nominee. The Senate did not have time to set upon him. That nominee, Gunnar Nordbye, is now serving under a recess appointment. Indications are the dispute will be aired before the Senate.

Indorsement of Walsh.

The recommendation of the commission for abolition of the grand jury system drew the indorsement of Senator Walsh, who said he had watched State governments function well without grand juries.

Chairman Norris, of the Senate judiciary committee, also has proposed elimination of the grand juries as a means of speeding up new enforcement and serving justice as well.

"Neither the Senate," Senator Walsh said, "nor individual senators exercise any greater or additional authority respecting appointment of district attorneys than with respect to any other Federal officers.

"Evidence is not wanting that political considerations sometimes enter into the appointment of the highest judges. The criticism, it seems to me, is one to be directed at the entire system of naming Federal officrs."

Declared Exaggerated.

Senator Bingham said: "I think the situation has been exaggerated. As for Connecticut, the Federal attorney, while he was very active in politics, is one of the ablest lawyers in the State and we were very fortunate in getting him and I was happy to recommend him.

"I think the Department of Justice is just as apt to get a good district attorney by taking the advice of a senator as by listening to any other man. After all, I know the men in my State and I assume a certain responsibility for their appointment. It

Hyde Tells Farmers To Limit Production

Secretary of Agriculture Warns Institute of Cooperative Members That Plans for Crops Must Consider Economic Demands.

Manhattan, Kans., June 8 (A.P.).—Secretary Hyde told American farmers tonight their plans for production must start with consideration of the economic demands of the market.

Addressing the American Institute of Cooperation, the Department of Agriculture Secretary said, "Whether we shall continue to produce price-breaking surpluses * * * boils down to how we want to live."

"Today the American farmer," he said in a prepared address, "demands an American standard of living. Such a standard of living is possible. Indeed, we must attain it. But the farmer himself must not defeat it.

"His production plans must start with consideration of the economic demands of the market. Adhering to that procedure all along the line, we can then organize agriculture so that the American farmer can reach the golden goal of economic equality.

Secretary Hyde said the intelligence, thrift, industry and efficiency of the American farmer "is great enough to meet and defeat the world in producing any of our great agricultural crops.

"But to do so," he said, "they will have to sell on world markets at world prices. That means that Southern planters shall measure their living standards against those of India and China and that wheat growers must meet Russian standards of living.

Tracing the international tariff trend, the Secretary said some countries have "tariffs so mountainous as to make our tariff wall look like a clutter of mole hills."

"Boiled down," he said, "we can probably continue to produce tobacco, lard and to some extent pork, rice, apples and citrus fruits for export market, and, unless foreign expansion becomes too great, sell them at a profit.

"In cotton, we face a prospect of severe competition. The consumption of foreign growths of cotton is increasing faster than is the consumption of our own cotton. Sensational expansion of foreign cotton lands, however, is not likely. By reducing our costs and producing a higher quality of cotton, we can probably maintain our foreign market. Cotton growers need to balance their production both as to volume and quality against their market demands.

"The growth of domestic demand has practically eliminated exports of dairy products, beef and poultry products, but there is little, if any, room for expansion of the volume of their production."

Secretary Hyde said agricultural products accounted for more than one-third of the value of the country's export trade in the past five years, or approximately $1,800,000,000 annually. The value of the country's agricultural exports, he said, has amounted to 18 per cent of the total value of American farm production.

Monarchist Mayor Is Lynched in Spain

Slain in His Home When He Refuses to Surrender Job to Successor.

Madrid, June 8 (A.P.).—Fernando Pitado, former monarchist mayor of the town of Solana, was lynched in his home by a mob tonight after he refused to turn over his office to a newly elected Republican mayor.

Pitado was a candidate for reelection to the town council in the recent elections, but was defeated.

When the new mayor called at the city hall tonight to take possession, Pitado said: "I am a better Republican that those elected." He refused to surrender the office. A mob followed Pitado to his home and lynched him there.

Shouse, in Boston, Calls On Gov. Joseph B. Ely

Boston, June 8 (A.P.).—Jouett Shouse, chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic national committee, today paid a social call on Gov. Joseph B. Ely at the statehouse. He was in Boston to attend the graduation of his daughter Marion, from a private school, and to visit another daughter, Elizabeth, at Wellesly College.

He described the Democratic national outlook as "very bright," but made no definite predictions.

Per Capita Circulation Of Money Increases

(Associated Press.)

The Treasury reported yesterday that per capita circulation of money increased 35 cents in May over April.

Money in circulation last month was $4,702,283,712. This sum is equal to $37.66 per person as against $37.31 the previous month. Total money in the United States, including gold coin and bullion held by the Treasury, was $8,781,382,173 on May 31. The Treasury held a total of $3,666,331,951 of gold coin and bullion.

Braggart Serves Lindbergh With Summons; Is Beaten

One Unknown Floors Another on Field When Flier Is About to Make Test of His Pontoon Plane; Colonel Takes Air for Cameramen.

North Beach, Long Island, June 2 (U.P.).—An unknown man bragged today that it was easier to serve a summons on a "big man like Lindbergh than on the little fellows" and was knocked down by a bystander who resented such boasting as Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh tested the plane they plan to use on their transpacific flight.

The Lockheed Sirius monoplane had been fitted with pontoons instead of wheels for landing and had not been in the air since the change was made.

The Lindberghs had just arrived at the Glenn H. Curtiss airport here for a test flight. The colonel was seated in the cockpit just ahead of his wife. Up stepped the unknown as the motor warmed up.

He climbed on the plane's low wing, handed a paper to the flier, and as Col. Lindbergh smiled and pocketed the document the man climbed down and began to boast to the crowd that he had served a summons on the aviator.

Another unknown in the crowd stepped up, measured with his left and crossed a right to the jaw which "grounded" the boaster.

The self-confessed process server scrambled to his feet and sprinted away from there. And the man who

Mrs. James J. Davis, Niece Injured in Auto Accident

Senator's Wife and Miss Esther Jones Shaken Up in Crash.

Mrs. James J. Davis, wife of the junior senator from Pennsylvania, and her niece, Miss Esther Jones, were badly shaken up, but not seriously injured, yesterday morning, when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a milk truck about 2 miles below Frederick Junction, Md.

Mrs. Davis and her niece were on the way to Gettysburg, Pa., where Senator Davis was speaking, when the accident happened. The two women were taken to Frederick City Hospital, where they were treated for shock, and a short time afterward returned to Washington.

The Davis machine, which was operated by a chauffeur, was badly dam-

Clothing Is Recovered On Search Warrant

Ray D. Miller, of near Boyds, was arrested yesterday by Headquarters Detective Roy Bodmer, of the Montgomery County police, on a charge of larceny. He is charged with the larceny of clothing, household goods and jewelry valued at $24.20 belonging to Lester Carter, of Barnesville, which had been stored in an empty house belonging to William Jackson at Blocktown.

Mr. Carter told the police that he believed the goods had been taken by Miller, who arrived in Montgomery County from Ohio less than a month ago and who had done some work for him. A search warrant was procured and the home of Miller searched, revealing the property which was identified by Mr. Carter.

Board Will Keep Cotton in Storage

Surplus Is Not for Sale at Present Prices; Williams Says.

(United Press.)

The surplus cotton being kept off the market at an annual cost of about $4,000,000 to the Government will be kept in storage indefinitely, it was announced on behalf of the Federal Farm Board yesterday by Carl Williams, member of the board for cotton. "The cotton is not for sale at present prices," Mr. Williams said.

This announcement of the Farm Board's policy was not given any definite time limit, the intimation being that the cotton would be held until prices improve. Cotton now is at the lowest level in 25 years, with the exception of the drop at the outbreak of the World War in 1914.

The cotton stabilization corporation purchased 1,241,000 bales of 1929 cotton last summer and withdrew it from the market in an effort to improve the price for the 1930 crop. Mr. Williams believes the price would have dropped below its present level if it had not been for this Government support.

hit him did not wait to answer questions.

A reporter asked Lindbergh:

"What's the summons for?"

"I'm sure I don't know. I'll have to look into it and see."

"You didn't by any chance hit that process server?"

Lindbergh laughed. "No."

Mr. and Mrs. Lindbergh, on arrival at the airport in their automobile, responded cordially to reporters who questioned them about their forthcoming flight, but gave no new information.

"We do not know when we'll go or just where, as our plans still are indefinite," was the reply to questions.

They had intended to fly immediately to the Edo Aircraft Co. plant at College Point, Long Island, but agreed to circle the North Beach a few minutes for the benefit of cameramen.

Lindbergh first obtained formal permission from Department of Commerce inspectors at Roosevelt Field to fly in his refitted plane as it had not been licensed as a seaplane.

After the "summons" incident, the flier taxied into the east channel of the East River, rose after a short run, circled the airport, flew down the river over the battery, Governor's Island, and Bedloe Island, then landed near the Edo plant.

A half dozen planes occupied by cameramen convoyed the colonel.

The plane will be ready for the long flight to China and Japan in a week. The motor recently was checked at the Patterson factory and again here. The water rudders attached to the pontoons must be adjusted, and the auxiliary gas tanks in the pontoons must be attached to the main tank above. The Department of Commerce inspectors will examine the plane before issuing a seaplane license.

Then the Lindberghs, provided they have completed their plans, will be ready for the pleasure trip by air to the Orient and return, announcement of which caused world-wide interest last week.

HYDE VIEWS MARKET AS FIXING FARM LIFE

"The international tariff trend," he said, "can be seen at a glance by reference to the recent history of import duties on wheat. Since January, 1930, the German duty on wheat has been increased six times, rising from 49 cents to $1.82 a bushel. Since July, 1925, the Italian duty has risen from 39 cents to 87 cents. The French duty on wheat in May, 1930, has reached 85 cents a bushel. Between January, 1930, and January, 1931, Greece increased her rate on wheat from 40 cents to 80 cents a bushel. Canada from 12 cents to 30 cents and Mexico from 66 cents to 90 cents. Our tariff on wheat, you will recall, is 42 cents.

"Of all of our agricultural products, wheat is most vulnerable. Our advantage in wheat production over our competitors is not great. Our low-cost wheat land is small in comparison with the limitless areas in Canada, Australia, Russia and Argentina."

Robin Hood, Washington, D. C., secretary and treasurer of the National Cooperative Council, told the convention that in two years the cooperative association movement had shown a growth of approximately 30 per cent.

He said that large scale cooperative associations have increased their volume of business 28 8-10 per cent, their membership 33 4-10 per cent and have handled commodities which have increased in value 4 2-10 per cent.

Roma, said, however, the playgrounds would not be reopened until the government returned the keys of the San Lorenzo Club, which he said were taken by the police.

He said he also expected "an adequate explanation" of the seizure of papers at the clubhouse by the police.

DEMAND FOR SILVER PARLEY IS RENEWED

London Banker, Visitor Here, Talks With Hoover and Two Senators.

(Associated Press.)

Interest in an international conference on silver revived yesterday following a round of conferences on the subject revolving about J. P. Darling, director of the Midland Bank, of London, and an advocate of a silver parley.

Mr. Darling called upon President Hoover and had lunch with Chairman Borah, of the Senate foreign relations committee, and Senator King (Democrat), Utah, who was chairman of the subcommittee on silver at the recent meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce.

The London banker left immediately afterward for Canada without divulging the nature of his talk with the President. Senator King, after the luncheon, demanded the administration take the lead in calling an international conference regardless of the reported unwillingness of the other powers to act now.

Says Canada Favors Parley.

Senator King said Mr. Darling has been in Canada and that he has persistently advocated a world conference on silver, despite the reported opposition of Great Britain herself to such a parley. "Canada would rejoice in a conference," Senator King said, adding:

"All of the Latin-American states would be happy to participate. Mexico has indicated that she would call a conference if some other nation did not. The people of India would rejoice and China, suffering from internal convulsions due to silver, would take on new life and would gladly participate. Australia and New Zealand and various European countries would be glad to see the United States call an international conference.

Salt Lake City, June 8 (A.P.).—Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, chairman of the Senate finance committee, today reiterated his statement that a nonofficial international conference was the quickest way to solve the silver depression problem.

Commenting on Senator Key Pittman's statement in Shanghai criticizing President Hoover's decision not to call an official conference at this time, Senator Smoot said:

Found Britain Opposed.

"President Hoover, in the case of calling an international conference for the consideration of the future of silver followed the universal practice of ascertaining, before an official call was made, whether or not the foreign governments, whose participation was necessary, would approve of and accept an invitation to such a conference.

"The result was that the British government, and if I am correctly informed, one other interested government, let it be understood that they would not accept such an invitation at this time.

"Time may change the attitude of these governments. But an international conference on silver without them would be absolutely useless. No one knows this better than Senator Pittman."

Foulois Is Urged As Air Corps Chief

Brigadier General Pointed to as Successor of Present Head.

(Associated Press.)

Speculation in Army circles yesterday pointed to Brig. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois to succeed Maj. Gen. J. E. Fechet as chief of the Army Air Corps. Fechet's retirement has not been announced, but War Department policy has been for bureau heads not to succeed themselves. Gen. Fechet will conclude the four-year period for which he was named on December 13, and there has been no indication of deviation from the usual practice.

Gen. Foulois, department officials said, is the oldest man in the Air Corps in point of service and was the first man in the corps to learn to fly under the Wright brothers.

In addition to his being present assistant chief of the corps, friends have cited his recent handling of the war maneuvers as indicative of the esteem in which he is held in the department and the success of the maneuvers as strengthening his chances for the post.

Girl of Richmond Willed $100,000

Miss Winifred Barber Must Stay Single to Get Income From Sum.

Goldsboro, N. C., June 8 (A.P.).—Miss Winifred Barber, of Richmond, former secretary to H. L. Finlayson, Richmond business man who formerly lived here, will receive the income from a $100,000 share of his estate until she marries or dies under the terms of his will filed here today. Should Miss Barber prefer matrimony, her share of the estate is to go to the First Presbyterian Church here.

Likewise Mrs. Murray Borden, of Goldsboro, gets $20,000 until her remarriage or death, when that portion of the estate will likewise go to the church. Similar disposition was made regarding $20,000 left Mrs. H. Lee Finlayson, of Richmond.

H. Lee Finlayson, a son, is to receive half of the remainder of the estate after the specific bequests are paid. The estate was estimated at more than $500,000.

District Acquires Land For Oxon Run Plant

Purchase of a tract of land, constituting the bulk of property to be acquire as a site for the Oxon Run temporary sewage-treatment plant, was authorized yesterday by the District Commissioners. The offer of Joseph E. and Josephine A. Gatti to sell about 2¼ acres for $1,713 was accepted.

Negotiations were carried on by the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, which is also acquiring the Oxon Run Parkway, in the vicinity.

Youth Hurt as Vehicles Crash.

Ralph Robinson, 17, was slightly injured yesterday when his bicycle collided with an automobile at Sixth and D streets southwest. He was taken to Emergency Hospital for treatment of bruises. He lives at 810 I street northwest.

West Point Plebe Class Gives Drill

Former Graduates Back for June Week Stay in Barracks.

Special to The Washington Post.

West Point, N. Y., June 8.—A drill in gymnasium work by cadets of the fourth, or plebe, class, featured the program for June Week at the Military Academy today. Exercises took place in the gymnasium during the morning hours and, in spite of the inclement weather, were well attended.

The skies cleared shortly after noon and the visitors' benches flanking the parade ground were well filled as the cadets marched out on the plains for formal guard mount and evening parade.

Tonight a hop was held at the gymnasium and another at the hotel. Former graduates are arriving for exercises which culminate Thursday morning with graduation formalities. The old grads are being quartered in north barracks, which has been vacated by cadets. The second and fourth classes have moved to Camp Clinton for the summer, while the graduating and furlough classes remain in central barracks until their departure Thursday.

Lamont Is Scheduled At Vancouver Meeting

Special to The Washington Post.

Fresno, Calif., June 8.—Displays from 25 of the most beautiful tourist and travel spots on the American continent will feature the second annual international travel conference and scenic exposition in connection with the convention of the Hotel Greeters of America, at Vancouver, British Columbia, June 16 and 17, William E. Metzger, of Fresno, California, national director, announced today.

The Federal Government will be represented on one of the conference committees by Robert P. Lamont, Secretary of Commerce, and Horace M. Albright, director of National Parks.

Postponement Granted In Trial of Shapiro

At the request of counsel for Jacob B. Shapiro, real estate operator, Justice Jesse Adkins yesterday postponed until tomorrow, the trial of Shapiro on an indictment charging him with use of the mails to defraud.

The real estate dealer was indicted on the charge of using the mails in connection with sales of real estate encumbered by so-called "hidden trusts." He was tried some months ago on another indictment charging a false pretense, but by direction of Justice Peyton Gordon he was freed. The indictment was criticized by the justice as being defective.

Judge Serves as Jury To Free Rum Suspect

Justice Jesse Adkins yesterday acted as judge and jury when he entered a "not guilty" decision in the case of Raymond Rigga, who had been indicted on a charge of violating the national prohibition act.

On motion of defense attorney, Denny Hughes, a jury trial was waived, and the Government's only witness, Policeman Charles A. Berry, took the stand. He said he stopped Riggs' machine, had it taken to the station house and there found some liquor. The court ruled there was no "probable cause" for stopping the car and found Riggs not guilty.

Permission Given To Close Oil Wells

Indian Service Officials Authorized to Accept Applications.

(Associated Press.)

The Interior Department yesterday authorized Indian Service officials in Oklahoma to permit temporary closing of small oil wells.

The superintendents were advised to permit, upon application from the driller, the closing of such small Indian wells as would not be damaged, but their authority was restricted to suspensions of a few months only.

In case of applications for longer periods, Superintendents Murphy and Landman were told to secure the consent of the tribal council or individual Indian, respectively, and then refer the matter to Washington for final decision.

Secretary Wilbur and the Indian commissioners have explained they wished to protect the lessees of Indian wells, but felt obligated to safeguard the interests of Indians who depend upon royalties for their living.

2 Men Being Considered As Lincoln U. President

Nashville, Tenn., June 8 (A.P.).—Chancellor John Wesley Hall, of Lincoln Memorial University, announced today that trustees are considering Dr. J. L. Clifton, director of education in Ohio, and Dr. Joseph Mayer, of Washington, former secretary of the American Association of Colleges, for the university presidency.

The trustees were in session today to consider the selection of a successor to President H. Robinson Shipperd, whose contract was not renewed. They intimated, however, the selection would not be made until next fall.

Desk Is Presented To A. A. A. Official

Miss Susan Bennett Paid Honor by Policemen on School Patrol.

Miss Susan Bennett, of the local American Automobile Association staff in charge of the schoolboy patrol system, yesterday was presented with a desk by the thirteen policemen assigned to duty as supervisors of the patrol system in the different sections of the city, when the policemen in a body called to make the presentation. Private C. H. Stroble made the presentation and thanked Miss Bennett for her cooperation. Responding, she declared that the safe record of the past year had only been possible through the carefulness and "fatherliness" of the policemen.

Those calling with Private Stroble, who is attached to the Fourth Precinct, were Privates John Scott, Second Precinct; A. S. Miskell, Third Precinct; Poland, Fifth Precinct; P. J. Lynch, Sixth Precinct; N. A. Reed, Seventh Precinct; R. E. Cannon, Eighth Precinct; P. C. Wheeler, Ninth Precinct; E. H. Henson, Tenth Precinct; J. V. Gladman, Eleventh Precinct; C. E. Gibson, Twelfth Precinct; C. H. Lutz, Thirteenth Precinct, and H. E. Metcalf, Fourteenth Precinct.

Wailing Wall in Jerusalem Given Moslems by Decision

Jews, However, Are to Have Free Access to Historic Monument for Devotional Exercises at All Times, But Under Conditions.

London, June 8 (A.P.).—The ancient Wailing Wall in Jerusalem, over which Moslems and Jews have clashed at times in fatal riots, is owned solely by the Moslems, a special government commission, ruled today.

The commission, which was created by the British government, with the approval of the League of Nations council, also declared that the Jews should have free access to the wall for devotional purposes at all times, but it outlined certain definite conditions regarding appurtenances of worship.

All political speeches and demonstrations are forbidden in the neighborhood of the wall, and the Moslems were told not to annoy the Jews when they gathered there for their devotions.

Use of benches, carpets and similar belongings is prohibited at the wall, and the Jews were told not to blow the ram's horn in the vicinity. However, on their days of worship they are allowed to place near the wall the cabinet Ark containing the Torah scrolls.

The Moslem ownership to the Wailing Wall, the pavement in front of the Wall and the adjacent Moroccan quarter is based on the fact that they form an integral part of the Haram Esh Eherif area, which is a Wagf property.

To the Palestine administration is intrusted the task of maintaining the wall because of its character as a historical monument.

AUTOGIRO WAR USE IS SEEN BY INGALLS

Navy Aid Predicts Speed of New Craft Will Be Doubled in Time.

(Associated Press.)

After several flights in the Navy's new autogiro, David S. Ingalls, Assistant Secretary for Aeronautics, is convinced that the windmill plane ultimately will be endowed with double its present speed and take its place as a formidable fighting craft.

By comparison with his Curtiss plane, with its cruising speed of 150 to 160 miles per hour, the 75 to 85 mile gait of the autogiro in which he piloted Secretary Adams to President Hoover's Virginia camp over the week-end, seemed "pretty slow," Mr. Ingalls said. "But," he added, "there are a dozen ways in which the speed of the autogiro can be increased by application of stream-lining and other well-known principles of aircraft construction."

Mr. Ingalls predicted that eventual improvements in design would give the autogiro a speed almost, if not quite, equal to that of a Navy plane of similar size and power.

Even if some slight discrepancy in speed might remain, he said this would be outweighed by the advantages of being able to take off and land in a small space and to descend vertically, at less than the speed of a parachute, if disabled.

Mr. Ingalls said these factors made even the present low-speed autogiro valuable for "spotting" enemy operations. The same factors combined with speed, he said, would make the autogiro highly valuable for combat use.

He added he was particularly desirous of learning whether it was possible to land an autogiro on a battleship. This and other tests are planned for the near future. The practicability of equipping the craft with pontoons also is under consideration.

More Land Urged For Three Schools

Additions for McKinley, Langley, Emery Playgrounds Asked.

Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, was urged yesterday by a delegation of school patrons to include in the 1933 District estimates requests for money to acquire additional land adjacent to the McKinley High School, the Langley Junior High School, and the Emery School and to improve tracts already acquired.

The additional land is requested for playground purposes, it was explained in a brief filed with the Engineer Commissioner. Attention was called to the plan to transfer pupils from the Columbia Junior High School to the Langley School this month.

The delegation, self-styled the joint committee, represented the parent-teacher associations of the three schools and the North Capital Citizens Association. It was headed by Edward R. Williams.

3-Cent Cash Fare Urged for Pupils

Books of Tickets Declared Hardships on Families of Small Means.

The Public Utilities Commission yesterday was urged to authorize the acceptance of a 3-cent cash fare from school children on street cars and buses in a letter written to Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman, by J. C. Wright, of 514 T street northwest.

The system of selling books of 10 and 40 special-fare tickets has imposed a hardship on many poor families, Mr. Wright said, and as a result many of their children have to walk to and from school. Particular attention was called to several impoverished families in Anacostia.

Gen. Patrick said late yesterday that he had not received the letter. It is not likely, however, that the commission will change the policy on the 3-cent fare for the present at least.

Mrs. Sweinhart's Rites Tomorrow

Funeral to Be at Former Home Near Boston; No Service Here.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Josephine Sweinhart, wife of Henry L. Sweinhart, 2007 O street northwest, chief of the Havas News Agency here, will be conducted at Newton Centre, near Boston, Mass., tomorrow. Mrs. Sweinhart died Sunday at her home after a brief illness.

No ceremonies will be held locally for Mrs. Sweinhart, it was announced at the home last night, and Mr. Sweinhart, who is well known in newspaper circles, tonight will accompany the body to the Massachusetts town of which his wife was a native.

Mrs. Sweinhart had lived in Washington nearly 30 years. She was an accomplished singer and had a large circle of friends. Before her marriage to Mr. Sweinhart she gave vocal instruction at the Georgetown Visitation Convent.

Dry Raiders Sued By Auto Company

Hertz Firm Asks $1,072.8 Damages in Alleged Illegal Seizure.

A suit for $1,072.87 for damages for depreciation and loss of the use of an automobile, was filed by the Hertz-Driv-Ur-Self Station, Inc., naming a prohibition enforcement officer and three District policemen as defendants.

The company alleges that Deputy Prohibition Commissioner W. B. Blandford, Sergt. George M. Little and Policemen George C. Devoe and Leo Murray illegally seized an automobile belonging to it February 4, 1930. The company brought suit and recovered the car about a month ago.

It is now seeking damages for the alleged illegal seizure of the machine. Justice Siddons, in ordering the return of the machine, said that it was seized without warrant of law.

DEBATE TO IMPEACH HORTON DUE TODAY

Alleged Dereliction in Duty in Bonds of Officials to Come Up in House.

Nashville, Tenn., June 8 (A.P.).—Renewal of debate on impeachment articles against Gov. Henry H. Horton is due tomorrow in the Tennessee House of Representatives.

Last week the members of the House voted down one article charging the governor with conspiring with Col. Luke Lea, newspaper publisher, and Rogers Caldwell, financier, against the best interests of the State. Adjournment for the week-end was taken without considering seven other articles.

The article to be considered next charges Gov. Horton with dereliction in his official duties by failure to have fixed the amounts of surety bonds required of his commissioners and their subordinates who handle State funds.

An act of 1923 is cited, requiring the governor, treasurer and comptroller to make an estimation of the average daily balances of funds of appointive officers handling public money so that their bonds may be fixed in twice that amount. The governor is accused of having neglected to cause the estimates to be made.

"Had he performed his official duties under the act and under the constitution, requiring him to take care that the laws be faithfully executed," the article declares, "the State might have been saved the loss of the millions of dollars of highway and bridge funds, on deposit in several banks that failed last fall.

"All said banks and corporations," it is set out, "were institutions dominated and controlled by Rogers Caldwell and Luke Lea, of Nashville, Tenn., or were institutions in which they were greatly interested and from which they were large borrowers."

The article declares that the commissioner of highways had on deposit in the banks at the time of their failures more than $5,000,000 of highway and bridge funds.

Chesapeake Bank Head On Trial Without Jury

Baltimore, Md., June 8 (A.P.).—The jury dispensed with at his request, J. Monroe Holland, president of the defunct Chesapeake Bank, went on trial before Judge Eugene O'Dunne today on charges of making false statements to the bank examiner and receiving deposits when he knew the bank was insolvent.

The Chesapeake Bank's doors were closed December 9 and the loss to depositors has been estimated as high as $1,700,000. Charges of widespread irregularities in making loans were voiced by State's Attorney Herbert R. O'Conor. Milton B. Delcher, a vice president, recently was found guilty of larceny and false pretenses in connection with the bank's closing, and was sentenced to five years in jail but has an appeal pending.

MEXICAN YOUTHS' KILLERS TO BE HELD

Previous to the visit by the officers Salvador said he and his companions had become apprehensive because of an apparently pursuing automobile.

The two officers asserted the victims knew the identity of their visitors, and exhibited their weapons despite this knowledge.

Gov. Murray addressed a letter to H. Waldez, Mexican consul at Oklahoma City, expressing regrets at the tragedy.

A copy of the letter to the consul was sent to the Secretary of State, Washington. At suggestion of the office of the Secretary of State in Washington, the Chief Executive said the State would prepare the bodies of the two youths for burial at State expense and would ship them to Mexico City.

Emilio Cortes Rubio is the son of a second cousin of the president. Salvador Cortes Rubio, who told police of the killings, near Ardmore, is the president's cousin.

(Associated Press.)

The Mexican Embassy late yesterday requested the State Department to open an investigation into the fatal shooting of two Mexican students at Ardmore, Okla.

Embassy officials made it clear in announcing the action last night the representation to the State Department was not in the nature of a protest. It was explained that the embassy wished only to have full information on the case for transmission to Mexico City.

The embassy was without detailed information of the shooting, although it had received brief confirmation from the Mexican consul at Kansas City, Mo., of whom additional information has been requested.

DRIVERS CONVICTED IN PRINCE GEORGES

Bowling and Randolph Found Guilty of Manslaughter in Auto Deaths.

Wallace Bowling and Frederick Randolph were yesterday found guilty of manslaughter on the opening day of the extended term of the Prince Georges County Circuit Court. Neither of the men was sentenced, however.

Bowling was convicted of responsibility for the death of Raymond Grimm, who was killed in an auto accident near Camp Springs last fall. The Grimm youth, 19 years old, was the son of Mrs. Lulu Mae Gamble, of La Plata, who was freed last fall on a charge of shooting her alleged rival for the affections of her husband.

Bowling, Grimm and several others were passengers in a light roadster which ran off a curve in the road while apparently traveling at a high speed. All were injured; though all but Grimm recovered. Bowling was tried before the court, with Senator Walter J. Mitchell as his counsel.

Randolph, who lives on Sixth street southwest, near G street, was convicted by a jury in connection with the death of George L. Portrast, of 19 P street northeast, on July 6, 1930. The prisoner left the county after the accident, and was not apprehended until recognized in police court while facing a charge of driving while drunk and reckless driving.

Although he was not in the county, he was indicted by the October grand jury and a bench warrant issued. He was recognized by Deputy Sheriff A. C. Thompson as being wanted while awaiting trial in Police Court, and arrested on the warrant made out for the previous charge. He was also convicted of the driving-while-drunk count.

Portrast's death is said to have occurred after a three-car accident near Camp Springs. Several other persons were slightly hurt in the crash.

An ordinance empowering the town officers of Colmar Manor to shoot on sight any dog seen attacking poultry or humans, whether or not the animal has been licensed, has been passed by the town council in an effort to curb the number of dogs running at large.

The ordinance also provides a fine of $15 or imprisonment for not more than fifteen days for any person who harbors a barking dog or one which attacks chickens or persons. About half the people of the town have petitioned the mayor and council to take this action, the town fathers said. The canine population of the town is said to be nearly as large as the human census.

Teeth were put in the series of recent fireworks laws by the appointment of several special bailiffs. The fireworks laws prohibit their discharge except on the first four days of July, and not then between 11 o'clock at night and 8 o'clock in the morning. A special license, costing $50, must also be procured for dealers in fireworks.

Bird H. Dolby, town attorney, was authorized to sell $80,000 worth of town bonds at a private sale, as no bids were received on the date set for the public auction. The bonds, the first issued by the town, are for the improvement of streets.

Two divorce suits were filed yesterday in the Equity division of the Prince Georges County circuit court. Lena M. Drum asked for an absolute divorce from Ralph G. Drum, of Fifteenth street northwest near M street, alleging infidelity, and Charles G. Walker, of Seat Pleasant, alleges that his wife, Grace V. Walker, deserted him.

According to the petition filed by Mrs. Drum she was married in 1909, and lived with her husband until this year. They have four children, Leon, 19; Virginia, 15; Ralph, jr., 12, and Harold, 9, whose custody the wife asks. The bill, filed through Attorneys J. Wilson Ryon and Albert R. Hassall, alleges a number of instances of unfaithfulness.

Mr. Walker gives his address as Seat Pleasant, and his wife's address in the same town. This couple were married in 1914, and have two children, Claude, 15, and Geraldine, 13. In 1928, the man's bill states, his wife left him, saying that she was tired of married life and would not return. He also asks the custody of his children.

A petition was filed yesterday in circuit court by Carl G. Potts to compel Susie B. Walker and Frederick E. Walker to carry out an agreement they are alleged to have made. Potts claims they agreed to sell him a certain tract of land near Ammendale for $9,500 and that he paid them $500. He then prepared to give them $2,000 more and allow them a mortgage for the rest, but they refused to make over title to the land, he says.

William F. Voelz and his wife, Helena D. Voelz, of Brandywine, yesterday filed a petition for the adoption of 2-year-old Mary Elizabeth Crutchfield. They state in their bill that the mother was deserted by her husband and left with five children, whom she is unable to support. They also ask the court to change the child's name to Arline Elizabeth Matilda Crutchfield.

An $800 fire yesterday destroyed a barn belonging to James A. Richardson near Meadows, although Mr. Richardson and his son, James, jr., a Washington fireman, managed to save a tractor in the building by towing it out with an auto. The barn contained a crop of hay.

The commencement exercises of the Marlboro High School, to be held at the Trinity Hall on June 18, will be featured by an address by E. G. Purvis, assistant director of the Strayer Business College in Washington.

The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered Sunday at Trinity Church by the Rev. J. C. M. Shrewsbury, and the declamation contests will be held June 16 in Trinity Hall. The medals given in this contest and those to be given to the best all-round student will be presented at the commencement exercises. Another feature of the graduation will be choral music by the students, under the direction of Miss Maude Gibbs, with Miss Maizie Bennett at the piano.

The following standing committees of the Brandywine Women's Club have been announced: Fair, Mrs. Frances D. Canter, chairman; Mrs. Stanley Lowe, Mrs. Joseph H. Blandford and Mrs. Hunter Edelen; club picnic, Mrs. J. F. Dyson, chairman, and Mrs. Walter Lusby; auditing, Mrs. John B. Edelkamp, chairman, and Mrs. H. A. Meinhardt.

RAIN HOLDS NORFOLK LOSS TO $3,000,000

Six-Hour Struggle With Fire Causes Slight Hurts to 50 Persons.

Norfolk, Va., June 8 (A.P.).—More than six blocks of valuable waterfront property was a smouldering ruin here today, drenched by heavy rains which providentially came to the aid of firemen, civilians, sailors and marines late last night after a battle of almost six hours with the most serious fire in Norfolk's history. City officials estimated the damage at $3,000,000.

Almost 50 persons, overcome by smoke, burned and blistered or otherwise injured, were treated in hospitals, but few of the injuries were serious.

Fire started in the Buxton Line warehouse on the waterfront, apparently from an exploding oil barge. Flames were fanned by a brisk wind and spread rapidly through the wholesale district and for a long time threatened the retail business section, jumping across Main street several times.

Heaviest loss was in destruction of the building of the American Peanut Corporation and the Old Dominion Line terminals. A number of other warehouses were destroyed, several tugs damaged and the Victoria Hotel, a five-story structure, which caught fire several times, was badly damaged by the fire, water and smoke. Guests fled from the hotel in safety, many without taking time to dress.

The fire started about 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon and was not brought under control until after the rainstorm broke after 11 o'clock.

State Bank Chief Accused at Trial

Holland's Lawyer Charges Chesapeake Was Solvent When Closed.

Baltimore, Md., June 8 (A.P.).—An effort to shift to the State banking commissioner responsibility for the closing last December of the Chesapeake Bank, involving a loss to depositors estimated as high as $1,700,000, was made today at the trial of J. Monroe Holland, the bank president. There was no question of the bank's solvency until the banking commissioner, George W. Page, ordered it closed on December 9, it was asserted by Robert R. Carman attorney for Holland.

John D. Hospelhorn, deputy banking commissioner, the only witness of the day, however, introduced correspondence between page and Holland, in which the commissioner warned the banker that his cash reserves were not up to the lawful standard, and prohibited further loans until the condition had been rectified.

The deputy commissioner also testified that on the two days before the bank was closed, Holland, knowing the institution was insolvent, accepted $583,000 in deposits.

The finals end tomorrow when a class of 45 receives diplomas.

Three Capital Autoists Are Injured in Crash

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., June 8.—Three Washington motorists were treated at the Emergency Hospital today for minor injuries sustained while they were driving on the Davidsonville road, near South River. Their car swerved from the road and overturned as the driver avoided striking a horse.

Virgil E. Boyd, of S street, near Thirteenth southeast, was driver. With him were Alfred G. Landrus, 1808 Connecticut avenue, and Miss Mary Carmick, 2910 I street. A passing motorist brought them to the hospital, where they were treated by Dr. J. O. Purvis. Following an investigation of the accident by State Patrolman James Shockley, Boyd was fined $15 and costs for reckless driving.

Haul of Alleged Rum Totals 1,000 Gallons

More than 1,000 gallons of alleged liquor were seized yesterday when Federal dry agents raided a garage at the home of Sam Wolf, just outside La Plata, in Charles County. The seizure is one of the largest ever made in the county, according to United States Commissioner J. Frank Parran.

Wolf was arrested and held in bond of $1,500 on charges of sale and possession. There were 55 10-gallon kegs of reputed liquor, the agents said, and 58 cases, as well as a lot of small packages. The agents were accompanied by Sergt. George Little, of the Washington Vice Squad, who is also a Federal agent.

FRIENDSHIP ENVOYS WILL GATHER HERE

Four Washington Children in Group Leaving Monday on Trip to Europe.

Representing the four sections of the United States, North, South, East and West, a group of boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 18 years, "Envoys of Friendship," who are to carry a message of good will from the children of America to the children of England and France under auspices of the United States Flag Association, will assemble at the Mayflower Hotel Thursday morning in preparation for ceremonies attendant upon the trip.

Among them will be the Washington boy and girl, Thomas J. Hayes 3d and Dorothy Skirm, selected to represent the school children of the Capital in an essay contest conducted two months ago by the flag association, with cooperation of The Washington Post.

The "envoys" are eleven in number and have been carefully selected as typically representative of the youth of America. In their ranks can be found members of the Junior American Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and Boys' Division fo the Y. M. C. A.

Leave Capital Monday.

They will be entertained in Washington through Sunday, leaving Monday morning for Fort McHenry, Valley Forge and Philadelphia on a patriotic pilgrimage to points where Francis Scott Key was inspired to write "The Star-Spangled Banner," where Washington passed through the critical portion of the Revolutionary War, and where the Liberty Bell first proclaimed freedom to a new citizenry. From there they will go to New York and thence to London and Paris.

Elaborate preparations for reception and entertainment of the "envoys" have been made in both England and France, according to Col. James A. Moss, president general of the Flag Association, who has recently returned from these two countries. Children's good-will mass meetings, at which boys and girls will preside and which will be attended by delegations from youth organizations and schools, will be held in London and Paris.

At these meetings greetings will be exchanged and the young American ambassadors of friendship will extend to the children of France and England an invitation to join the children of America in inaugurating, according to carefully prepared plans, a movement for creation among boys and girls of today, in whose hands will be the world of tomorrow, a lasting friendship that will impel them to repair to the conference table and not the battlefield for settlement of disputes that may arise between their countries when, as men and women, they will be in control of the governments of the earth.

Four From Washington.

In addition to the two Washington envoys selected by the Flag Association and The Post, the party will consist of John C. McDuffie, of Grand Rapids, Mich., officially designated as representative of the 7,200,000 members of the Junior American Red Cross; John H. Nixon, of Rochester, N. Y., a member of the Boy Scouts, which has a membership of 1,000,000 in the United States; Ward Stone, of Portland, Oreg., selected in a Nation-wide essay contest conducted by the American Boy Magazine among the boys of the United States between 14 and 18 years of age, 5,000,000 in all.

Charles H. Holbrook, of College Park, Md., a member of the boys' division, Y. M. C. A., with a membership of 300,000; Florence Burrows, of New York, a member of the Camp Fire Girls, of whom there are 150,000 in America; Helen Dettweiler, of Washington, D. C., a member of the Girl Scouts, of whom there are 250,000 in America; Catherine DuBois, of Washington, D. C., a member of the Holton-Arms School; Ruth Eldridge, also selected by the American Boy in a Nation-wide essay contest among the 5,000,000 girls between 14 and 18 in the United States; Sonia Schulberg, of Los Angeles, Calif., of the Hollywood School for Girls.

Regardless of the method of selection, each boy and girl was required to measure up to the requirements of the Flag Association, which call for perfect health, manifest intelligence, good personality and high character. The object was to select wholesome American boys and girls, representative of the twenty or more millions of children in America, who would convey to the children of England and France a message of good will and friendship in the interest of building up a foundation for permanent world peace among children.

Half-Starved Monkey Quelled by Policemen

New York, June 8 (U.P.).—A small, brown, half-starved monkey with a "Two-Gun" Crowley complex was captured today after a two-hour siege by firemen, police and civilians.

The starving simian had gone on a foraging expedition through apartments in a five-story tenement house on First avenue, to the consternation of housewives.

Flooded with phone calls, police dispatched the emergency squad. After striving nearly a half-hour to dislodge the monkey, police put in a call for firemen, and more than 1,000 persons were attracted to the scene.

The animal finally was taken by Joseph Gallo, a fearless bystander armed with a banana.

Duringer to Die in Chair At Sing Sing Next Month

New York, June 8 (A.P.).—Rudolph Duringer, convicted of the murder of Virginia Brannen, a taxi dancer, today was sentenced to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing the week of July 13. Sentence was pronounced by Justice Cohn in Bronx Supreme Court.

Francis Crowley, captured with Duringer after a gun fight with police, is now in Sing Sing awaiting execution for the killing of Patrolman Frederick Hirsch.

Robert Judson Kenworthy, Official in New York Lodge, Is Dead.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 8 (A.P.). Robert Judson Kenworthy, 70, secretary of the New York Grand Lodge of Masons, died in his sleep at a hotel early today. He came here last Friday for an outing.

As secretary of the New York Grand Lodge, largest in the world, Kenworthy was one of the most widely known Freemasons in the country.

He was long identified with the L. H. Hall Advertising Co. His connection with masonry began in 1889 when he became a member of Montauk Lodge 286 in Brooklyn. In 1910 and 1911 he served as grand master of the New York Grand Lodge.

General Motors Ends Suit by Settlement

Santiago, Chile, June 8 (A.P.).—Brussadelli & Manni, automobile distributors, today settled out of court for an undisclosed amount their $2,160,000 suit against the General Motors Export Corporation and the General Motors Acceptance Corporation, for commissions said to be due them on automobiles sold.

The suit was filed last March 17, and in its early stages involved diplomatic intervention by Ambassador Culbertson in behalf of Larry K. Bethune, American manager for the acceptance corporation, who was arrested and held incommunicado for two days.

Court Order Saves Home for Capones

Palm Island Residence Is Owned by Gang Chief's Wife, Is Claim.

Miami, Fla., June 8 (A.P.).—County officers today were prevented from removing additional furnishings from Al Capone's Palm Island residence by a temporary restraining order issued by Circuit Judge W. L. Freeland.

Officers Saturday night attached the house and removed some of the furnishings after Vincent C. Giblin, Miami attorney, filed suit against Capone seeking $50,000, which he alleged was a balance due him as attorney fees.

The restraining order was issued on petition of Frank Clark, jr., who asserted that he represented Mrs. Capone. Judge Freeland said the order was sought on the ground that the property was held in Mrs. Capone's name, while the suit filed by Giblin named her husband as defendant.

Mate for Prince Otto Being Sought, Is Report

Vatican City, June 8 (A.P.).—There were rumors today that former Empress Zita, of Austria, who was granted a private audience with Pope Pius today, has come to Italy to attempt to arrange a marriage between her son, Prince Otto, and Princess Maria, youngest daughter of the Italian King and Queen.

It was said in semi-official circles, however, there was little likelihood that such a marriage would be considered at present.

Trial of Two in Gordon Murder Is Postponed

New York, June 8 (A.P.).—The trial of Harry Stein and Samuel Greenberg for the murder of Vivian Gordon, Broadway blackmailer and vice inquiry witness, was postponed until tomorrow by Supreme Court Justice Cohn today.

Jacob Shientag, of counsel for Stein, asked a three week's delay, explaining that his partner was ill. The judge refused to put the case off that long, and Shientag withdrew "rather than let the trial break up a law firm."

*Consider your Adam's Apple!!

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

What is the effect of irritation upon the throat? Here are the exact words of a noted authority retained by us to study this question. He writes:

"First, the vocal chords, on account of their delicacy of structure, would be the first tissues to give indication of irritation, evidenced by the huskiness of the smoker's voice, the result of relaxed tension and slower vibration of the vocal chords. The next site of irritation would be the tissues adjacent to the vocal chords comprising the larynx, therefore the general focal point of the irritation would be in the voice box represented externally by the Adam's Apple."

So—Consider your Adam's Apple. Be careful in your choice of cigarettes. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants. Reach for a LUCKY instead.

GERMAN PRESS SEES HOPES FOR DEBT CUT

Nationalist Papers Are Only Ones Not Encouraged by Conference.

Berlin, June 8 (A.P.).—An atmosphere of hope prevailed in Germany today following upon the close of the conference of Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius at London.

Many German newspapers expressed the belief that the way has been paved for obtaining relief from the war reparations payments, although the Nationalist organs insisted the German statesmen had received "little encouragement" from Prime Minister MacDonald and Foreign Minister Arthur Henderson at London.

The Industrialist Allgemeine Zeitung characterized the Chequers meeting as an important psychological event. Chancellor Bruening, it said, has "put all his cards on the table and it now remains to be seen how he can carry on the government."

"Slow Progress" Is Seen.

The Vossische Zeitung and the Tageblatt summed up the result of the conference as "slow progress," while Germania, Chancellor Bruening's organ, hoped the promulgation of the emergency tax decrees "has left no doubt in English minds regarding the appalling gravity of Germany's situation."

Nationalist newspapers continued to clamor for immediate revision of the Young plan, declaring the result of the Chequers meeting has been "practically nothing."

The militant Kreuzzeitung, which still carries at its masthead its old slogan of "With God, for King and Fatherland," advises the country to take a bold plunge and refuse to make further reparations payments.

Bourse Holds Fairly Steady.

It is not likely, however, that any of this comment will move the government from the course it has set. The cabinet will assemble immediately after the return of Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius to hear their reports.

It is already intimated from government circles that the cabinet will insist on a free hand in the further conduct of the country's affairs. This was taken to mean it will not consent to a reconvocation of the Reichstag before the date set next October.

The bourse remained fairly steady today.

The Vossische Zeitung predicted today that Germany will demand a postponement of the reparations transfer payments as soon as Bruening and Curtius return from London.

Payment Delay Is Forecast.

"Germany is now in the midst of a long-considered action for a revision of the Young plan, the way for which was paved by the emergency decrees," the paper said.

It asserted the government would notify the World Bank for International Settlements in the near future that it intended to make use of the terms granted by The Hague agreement of January, 1930, namely "the postponing of transfers of that part of the running annuities which have been designated as deferable."

Such a step, the paper said, would open the way for a reexamination of the Young plan.

Stimson, Mellon Purposes Studied

French See Link Between Visits and Revision of Young Plan.

Paris, June 8 (A.P.).—Although official circles were reserved tonight in their attitude toward the forthcoming visit of two members of the United States Cabinet, Secretary Henry L. Stimson and Secretary Andrew W. Mellon, the French press was inclined to link their visit with possible discussion of revision of the Young plan.

The official attitude was that the American Secretary of State had planned his trip before the visit of the German statesmen, Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and Foreign Minister Julius Curtius, to England, which again brought the questions of reparation before the public. Therefore, it is argued, the visit of the American officials could not be the result of the Anglo-German conversations.

It also was remarked that Mr. Mellon often comes to France for a vacation. Nonetheless, the French and other European governments are showing considerable interest in the matter. Some circles suggest the American officials may make a study of the financial condition of Europe with a view of shaping their country's policy in this regard.

The box will be opened and McAnery buried upon the arrival of a nephew, John McAnery, of Sayre, Okla.

BINGHAM PROPOSES DEBT MORATORIUM

Two-Year Postponement of War Payments Plan of Senator.

(Associated Press.)

A two-year moratorium on war debts was suggested yesterday by Senator Bingham (Republican), Connecticut, as the administration studied the effect of Germany's appeal to her European creditors for a cut in reparations.

It appeared after conferences between President Hoover and Secretary Stimson that the administration was standing firm against any move to link the war debts due America to the German reparations problem.

Senator Bingham made his suggestion without consultation with the conferring administration officers, but he too declared against cancellation or downward revision of the debts. Just how seriously the Government would consider a moratorium was problematical.

Armament Slashes Demanded.

Senator Borah, of the Senate foreign relations committee, in agreeing with the German appeal for a reduction in her war burden, called upon the European nations to cut down their armaments and declared them in violation of the Versailles treaty.

Senator Bingham, who is a member of the finance committee, said:

"It is true there is tremendous pessimism in Europe and elsewhere and people are hard up. If it would help to declare a moratorium for two or three years I would say yes, but I see no reason for saddling the war debts on American taxpayers, and I certainly would be against cancellation or revision.

No report on the reparation statement has been received from the American Embassy at Berlin, nor has the State Department been informed by the American Embassy in London concerning the Anglo-German conversations in England.

Stimson Studies Press Accounts.

Secretary Stimson, however, has studied the text of the German declaration contained in newspapers dispatches.

American officials pointed out the declaration was made in connection with new tax schedules and was addressed to the German people. One high Government authority described it as designed to "sugar-coat" new taxes and measures to effect a balanced budget and permit Germany to continue to meet her international obligations. In no case, the authority said, had Germany indicated her intention of defaulting in these payments.

Speculation abroad that Secretaries Stimson and Mellon might enter into discussions over war debts and reparations during their vacation visits to Europe produced no comment here.

Secretary Stimson already had indirectly reiterated the pronounced policy of the American Government that the questions of war debts and reparations are separate.

WORLD REPARATIONS MEETING PREDICTED

Notion Prevails Conference Will Follow Session at Chequers.

English. Chancellor Bruening speaks English fluently.

The social program of the German ministers for the day comprised a luncheon given by the Anglo-German Association, a reception at the Royal Institute of International Affairs, a dinner to a select company of 30 at the German Embassy and a late reception to which London's leading figures in politics, diplomacy, business and science were invited.

Calls Conference "Milestone."

The German ministers refrained from discussing their country's situation today as much as possible.

"We do not feel that we should keep on dinning Germany's troubles into the ears of Englishmen," they said.

One member of the German delegation said that what they had to say was said at Chequers.

At the Anglo-German Society's luncheon, where Lord Reading introduced Chancellor Bruening as the youngest man in any country in Europe to hold a position corresponding to that of Great Britain's prime minister, Bruening said he believed "close and friendly relations between Germany and Great Britain are an essential factor in European affairs."

He expressed the hope the Chequers conference would be "not an isolated act, but a new milestone in the development of international understanding."

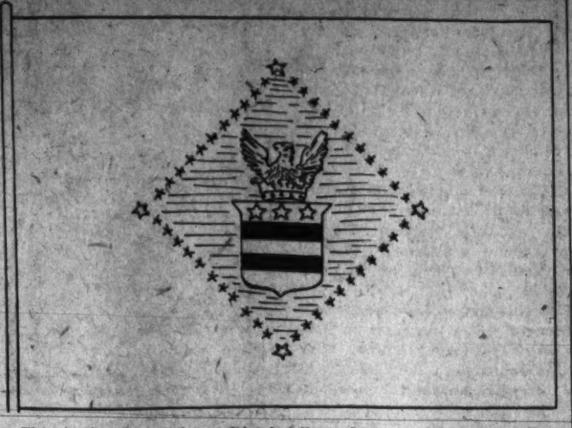
WINNING FLAG DESIGN



This is the design for a District flag which won first place in The Post's contest. It was submitted by William Boone Douglass, 4300 Lowell street northwest.

offered by The Post for the winning flag design, regardless of whether or not it is officially accepted by the District officials.

When Mr. Douglass' design is made into a flag it will have a field of blue, the square in the center will have a border of red stars; the eagle will be in gold, while the stripes in the shield will be of red and white.

The judges, Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of Public Buildings and Public Parks; Gen. Anton Stephan, commander of the District National Guard, and Dr. B. C. MacNeil, commander of the local American Legion Department, had considerable difficulty deciding on the winner of the contest, for many of the designs were very attractive. However, none seemed to fill the bill as a complete District affair except that submitted by Mr. Douglass. Many had incorporated portions of designs used in other flags and this factor was deemed enough to eliminate them from further consideration.

William L. Thomas, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the fourth judge, was unable to attend the session at which the winning design was chosen.

Among the other contestants whose designs were considered up to the final selection were: Frank Russell White, 808 Edmons Building; Oscar H. Kee, U. S. Coast Guard headquarters; A. H. Heron, LaSalle Apartments; J. Moultrie Ward and F. F. Sherwood, Fort Humphreys, Va.; Arthur E. DuBois, 905 Delafield place northwest; M. F. J. Brunow, 23 Rhode Island avenue northwest, and Hillett Hill, 2039 New Hampshire avenue northwest.

CAPONE BODYGUARD DENIED WRIT PLEA

Chicago Judge Orders Him Remanded to Officials for Deportation.

Chicago, June 8 (A.P.).—Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today dismissed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of Tony "Mops" Volpe, former bodyguard of "Scarface Al" Capone, and ordered him remanded to immigration authorities for deportation in accordance with a previous order issued by Secretary of Labor Doak.

Judge Wilkerson granted a stay of the order to permit Volpe's attorney to file an appeal with the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Volpe is No. 2 on the list of principal gangsters classed by the Chicago crime commission as "public enemies." The attempt to have him deported was one of the moves made by Chicago Federal authorities in their drive which has resulted in the conviction of Capone and other gangsters for income tax violations, contempt of court and other offenses.

He was ordered deported February 27 on grounds he had reentered the country illegally after a trip to Cuba in 1926. The Government contended that because of a jail sentence he once served for possession of counterfeit war savings stamps he lost his citizenship when he left the United States, and reentered as an alien. He was ordered sent to Italy, but the habeas corpus hearing held up execution of the order.

Are you walking a

TREADMILL?

DOES the daily routine in the kitchen keep you busy from dawn 'til dusk? Are you always running back and forth, adjusting the heat in the oven of an old-style stove—losing valuable time fussing with this and that when your attention should be devoted to other and more important things? Are you walking a treadmill?

Hundreds of women, who cling to the old-style range, are doing just that. And they wonder how their neighbor preserves her energy.

Modern gas ranges take much of the drudgery out of cooking. Oven Heat Control regulates temperatures inside the oven, eliminates the necessity of constant watching lest foods burn. Insulation keeps the heat where it belongs—in the oven—and does not heat up the kitchen where much of your time in summer is necessarily spent.

No woman need walk a treadmill when these new time and labor saving ranges are available.

Why not drop in at one of our display rooms to see the new ranges with Insulation and Oven Heat Control. A small down payment and the balance on liberal terms will put a modern range in your home without delay, and there is no extra charge for financing. We will allow you $10 on your old range. FRANCE VS. GERMANY.

Germany's spectacular effort to throw off the burden of reparations seemingly meets with sympathy in London. The desperate economic plight of the two countries gives rise to a fellow feeling. Britain can concede nothing directly to Germany, of course, but if the United States will kindly place the British war debt upon its owns citizens' backs Britain will gladly relieve Germany of an equal amount. The hope of improved conditions and consequent increase of trade between Germany and Britain makes this plan acceptable to the latter.

A report from Paris states that France might possibly agree to a scaling down of German reparations if the United States would correspondingly scale down the war debts. But Le Matin sounds a significant note when it declares that France will not relieve Germany of any payments unless Germany gives assurance that the money will not be spent to increase her military strength.

When the fundamental issue that divides Germany and France is considered it appears quite evident that Germany's current moves are destroying all chances of an international agreement for limitation of armaments. The European situation in all its aspects simmers down to the antagonism between Germany and France. This antagonism is as active today as it was during the war. No means of reconciling Germany and France has ever been found. Their interests as well as their national characterisitics are forever clashing. Britain, Italy and the others can plot and plan as much as they like, but they have nothing to offer that is acceptable to both France and Germany.

The idea that all of those nations can escape from their difficulties by saddling their debts upon American taxpayers is a fantastic dream. The United States does not look to Germany to pay France's debts, or Britain's debts, and the debtors can not by any hook or crook shift their obligations to anybody else. Germany may postpone reparation payments, but she can not evade them permanently so long as France has power to enforce the Treaty of Versailles. France and Britain and Italy could beg the United States to postpone debt collections in case of Germany's default, but those nations have not yet reached the humiliating stage where they must suspend service upon their external debts.

To all applications for remission of the debts, if such applications should be made, the United States has but to point to the fact that all of the nations concerned are spending enormous sums on armaments. Their plea of poverty would be scorned by the United States so long as they expended such huge sums for military purposes. The sums required for principal and interest on the war debts is insignificant in comparison with military expenditures.

The disarmament conference is set for February 2. The preliminary conference has sketched a program which is in itself a mockery of any genuine desire to reduce armaments. France and Italy are deadlocked over naval construction. Britain blandly gives notice that she will make the agreement with the United States and Japan a scrap of paper if France builds many more submarines. Now Germany comes out, groaning over reparations and asking to be forgiven her debt, while she builds a warship now and then. What will France say to that? Will France go cheerfully into the disarmament conference and agree to reduce her army?

If there is one point which the world can not afford to overlook in the European situation it is the fact that France has the upper hand over Germany, at last. Those who believe that France will forego this advantage have shorter memories than France.

PROSECUTORS OF CRIME.

It is not surprising that the Law Enforcement Commission should find the public prosecutor the weakest link in the administration of justice. Prosecutors in the States exercise more responsibility than judges, but they are chosen with far less care. Judges abide by the law and the rules of the court, but prosecutors are laws unto themselves. The findings of the commission prove conclusively that a large percentage of the leaks in the administration of justice occur in the office of prosecuting attorneys.

"The equipment, organization, system and methods of the prosecutor's office are generally defective," the report says. "The administration of prosecution is decentralized. The local prosecutor is independent of central control. The policeman, sheriff, coroner and prosecutor each goes his own way. There is no organization which compels them to cooperate. The result is a diffusion of responsibility which often results in failures of enforcement."

Since prosecutors are elective officers they are too frequently "deep in politics." Positions as assistant prosecutor are given away as political prizes. The major part of the work is often intrusted to inexperienced young men. The turnover of prosecutors is high, and their pay is inadequate. Under such circumstances it is not surprising to find that prosecution is frequently choked off by political influence.

The prosecutor virtually decides which laws shall be enforced. He has authority to dismiss charges, or to reduce them to minor charges on pleas of guilty. Protection of the public against criminals depends upon whether or not he is vigorous in haling offenders before the courts. Too often guilty individuals go free because inexperienced prosecutors are unable to cope with the best minds of the legal profession.

The Senate comes in for some sharp criticism for treating United States district attorneyships as political plums. The commission refers to the selection of Federal prosecutors for political reasons as "a serious menace to enforcement of the law." Nevertheless, the Federal plan under which district attorneys are responsible to the Attorney General is recommended as a pattern to the States. The commission urges that authority over all prosecutions in the States be concentrated in a director of public prosecutions, who would be as free as possible from political influence and whose tenure of office would be secure.

Contrary to the general belief, the commission found judicial procedure to be a relatively unimportant element in the miscarriage of justice. Yet the commission made a significant recommendation in this regard. It found the grand jury system obsolete, except as an agency for inquiring into the conduct of public officers and large conspiracies. Ordinary indictments, the commission said, merely offer one more opportunity for the guilty to escape punishment. Nineteen States have abolished grand jury indictments and now prosecute by informations or complaints.

The Law Enforcement Commission seems to have made an excellent diagnosis of the chief conditions which are contributing to the sluggishness of justice in this country. If to point out deficiencies were to correct them, a vast improvement in the machinery for bringing criminals before the courts could be expected. But whatever gains are made as a result of this report must come as a result of painstaking effort on the part of Legislatures, Congress and the public.

IN LATIN AMERICA.

Uruguay is giving a good example to other Latin-American republics by squarely meeting its service on public debts, foreign and domestic. During these times it is only too easy for hard-pressed governments to ask for postponements of their obligations. In some cases they are forced to do so, on threat of revolution. Nevertheless, courageous action by governments in the direction of economy and punctuality of debt payments helps to maintain credit and paves the way for readjustment of excessive burdens.

The republics of this hemisphere can not afford to shirk the task imposed upon all nations by the world depression. All must take in sail, cut down government expenses, hold taxes down as low as possible while providing building programs and other plans for keeping men employed. All countries look to the United States to take leadership in blazing the way back to prosperity. This country, as the strongest in the world, is perfectly willing to cooperate with all others, and will not fail to distribute benefits as its own prosperity returns. Latin-American countries are justified in feeling that the United States remains their friend, in hard times as in good times. Faithful observance of obligations by all will help to restore prosperity to all.

ANOTHER OIL CONTROL PLAN.

The oil industry is still playing with the idea of country-wide control from within. Attorney General Mitchell has given warning that he has no authority to suspend the anti-trust laws in the hope of making any industry prosperous. But the Oil Survey Committee, of California, which has just completed an intensive study of the industry's problems, suggests that oil men have been too timid in their respect for the antitrust laws. The committee considers modification of the anti-trust laws imperative, but until that can be done it advises a more aggressive policy of cooperative action.

No one can disagree with the committee's diagnosis of the disease from which the oil industry is suffering. Overproduction of crude oil continues to exceed all possibilities of consumption. Existing wells are capable of producing twice as much oil as the public can use, yet drilling continues with little regard for market demands. In their efforts to dispose of their products oil companies have built far too many service stations, and the costs of distribution have become excessive.

The remedy offered by the committee is an advisory council to which problems of the industry would be referred for adjustment. It is suggested that every company engaged in marketing petroleum products be required to abide by the marketing code of the American Petroleum Institute, and that deviations from the code be punished by refusal to sell refined products to the offenders. Apparently the advisory committee would operate to settle disputes under this code.

All producers would be asked to operate with a view to obtaining a fair profit instead of a great volume. An effort would be made to stabilize the price structure through a firm control over filling station prices. From this standpoint the report is utopian. Chances that the Government would allow the oil interests to establish a "firm control over prices" are small indeed.

On the whole this approach to the problem does not seem to be as practical as that proposed by the Oil States Advisory Committee with the approval of the Federal Oil Conservation Board. All indications point to the conclusion that only centralized control can relieve the oil industry of its distress. If that is true, it is essential that that control be directed in the public interest, instead of for the exclusive benefit of oil corporations. The Department of Justice will not wink at violations of the Sherman act, and Congress will make no special dispensation for the oil industry. An interstate agreement for regulation of the industry might be made to operate in the public interest, but certainly oil producers will not be given free rein to fix prices.

The latest Wickersham report was concerned entirely with the process of bringing criminals to justice, but the public will probably demand an explanation as to whether it is wet or dry.

Vice President Curtis has left for his home in Kansas without saying whether he is going to run, walk or back up. If he isn't careful the newshounds will start calling him "Silent Charley."

To avoid a repetition of that Tex Guinan incident, some one ought to explain to France that Secretaries Stimson and Mellon are not under contract to sing and dance.

Cal Coolidge has decided to take a vacation, and he doesn't even have to worry about visiting that part of the country which shows the most signs of wavering.

That latest combination in restraint of propaganda against prohibition ought to commend itself to the attention of the Department of Justice.

CALVIN COOLIDGE SAYS:

Northampton, Mass., June 8.—Most of Europe is again laboring, with difficult situations. Spain is passing through a revolution which has recently been accompanied by disorders directed against the property used for religious purposes. When it was hoped that the ancient differences between the church and state in Italy had been composed permanently new issues have arised of an acute nature. Germany and England are struggling with economic problems. France is disturbed by the political consequences feared from the proposed German and Austrian customs union. An uncertain Russia is always in the background.

While we should be thankful for our own happy condition we ought not to assume any attitude of superiority. We had our revolutionary period. We went through four years of a terrible internal war. We have periods of economic depression which no one adequately can explain or immediately relieve. At present our national Treasury is running a very large deficit. It is no time for harsh words or hasty action, but for patience, sympathy and sober thought. Nor is there any reason for despair. There is a way out and it will be found. The forces of good are still superior to the forces of evil.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

BABY GOLF GROWS UP

From the Boston Transcript.

Europe appears to be growing as miniature-golf crazy as the United States is—or was last year. It would seem as if nature, through her mighty oceans, might block a threatened international conflagration of real flame, but not, apparently, if the food for the fire is Tom Thumb golf. Canada, England, Australia and some other countries have organized companies for the promotion of this peculiar sport; it has invaded Japan, where the national genius for the miniature in landscape architecture would seem to offer unusual opportunities for the development of beautiful courses; in Hongkong the caddy problem does not exist, for dozens of little Chinese boys are at hand to count the strokes, lift the balls from the hazards and generally keep the player's mind off his troubles; while South Africa is said to be actually tiring of the game.

E. J. Breyere, of the specialties division, who writes an interesting story on miniature golf in Commerce Reports, finds many owners and operators in this country who believe that material changes may be expected in this field during the present season. The feeling seems to be general that the courses must be redesigned, the trick hazards eliminated and the game brought much nearer the standard, if the regulation golfers are to take any further interest in it. It has long seemed to us that some such reform must come eventually, the issue depending somewhat, however, upon the proportion of absolute novices and real golfers who support the miniature game. The person who knows nothing about golf may be content and delighted to play through a lot of cement pipes, gateways and other contraptions for the purpose of reaching some invisible goal, but the player with a particle of experience on a real putting green wants something nearer the real thing. The essential genius of a real putt is distance and direction, and while the player aiming at a horizontal cement pipe must have direction, he completely misses the delicate touch which insures that the ball shall reach the regular hole and drop into it without running over.

Detroit News.

The Very Idea!

POST HASTE.

Increasing rackets may yet keep Washington awake to support a night club.

Some stakes! Secretary Mellon calls with $451,000,000 on the table, but postpones presentation of I. O. U.'s until December 13.

Chicago forms a $1,000,000,000 bank. Mr. Capone's latest arest seems to have left some loose change around.

Columbia University wil soon inaugurate a new graduate school of international affairs, so if world troubles will just be patient there will be more experts eventually to attend to them.

The laconic statement isued after the Chequers conference gives assurance that there was agreement upon the universal necessity for close collaboration and international coopera-tion. No nation is so dumb that it would fail to figure something favorable from that.

France is so flattered over the British-German billet being called a communique that she read into it support for Briand's Pan-Europe scheme.

The Germans were disappointed that the newspapers in England gave more space to sports than to the Chequers meeting, but mere international affairs should not have invaded a British week-end.

The Woman's International League for Peace and Fredom is to bring a petition for disarmament to the President by caravan from the Pacific Coast. Premature disarmament may bring anything but the things the league's long name stands for.

The films portraying crime are being assailed. There are others that are a crime in themselves.

What is it makes the Army sore? Fifty-three lost posts to one Guam? Now, if it were a football score, they wouldn't give a Navy duam.

To keep cool during July and August without Neighboor Coolidge it may be necessary to be less hasty.

Mussolini will surely answer the Pope's notes before diplomatic relations are severed. The Duce may be rough, but he wouldn't be rude.

Think of the poor old Senate, charged by the Wickersham committee with crime responsibility through district attorney appointments. It's enough to cause an extra session.

JUST FOLKS

FREE DAYS.

Here and there along the years
A day of comradeship appears;
A day apart from humdrum care
And all the burdens mortals bear,
When man may walk with whom he choose
And turn away from local news
To talk to nature's towering trees
And every lovely sight he sees.

A passing bird may catch his eye
And he may stand to watch it fly,
Or, lured by daisies, follow far
Where crowds of brown-eyed Susans are;
Later to find a running stream
With rays of golden light agleam,
Nor ever stop to count the cost
Of precious moments wholly lost.

Men busy at their work forget
The beauty of the violet,
The majesty of trees; the charm
Of cattle browsing on a farm.
And likewise fail to keep in mind
The glory of their fellow-kind,
Because the soil is little known
Where barter rules the world alone.

But comes the day occasional, when
A man may be himself again,
And walk and talk and play with friends,
From dawn until the sunset ends.
Then beauty is his only goal,
Sky, earth and stream delight his soul.
And, drawn from petty cares afar,
He learns how fine life's splendors are.

Only the Simple Are Overwhelmed When the Man Takes a Rabbit From a Hat.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE modern American is hoodwinked by the word "scientific."

He accepts without question any statement made by a "scientist."

He is awed and mystified by the multiplied wonders invented to serve him, and his bewilderment prompts him to revere science and scientists as his forefathers revered witch-hunting clergymen.

Under the circumstances, would'nt it be a good idea to examine this new wonder and see what makes it tick?

What is science, anyway? Well, science is a study of facts.

Scientists are men who search for and study the truth.

But still they are men, prone to make mistakes, and frequently they disagree.

Now, when two men hold opinions or beliefs that are opposite, it is obvious that one of them is wrong. And if the fact of being right proves one of them wise, the fact of being wrong proves the other correspondingly foolish.

Surely no one will contend that a foolish man, even though a scientist, should be revered.

One man of science, great by reason of his accomplishments, believes in God the Father and looks forward to a future life. Another, equally great, thinks man developed from some primitive form of life and will be no more than dust when his days are finished.

And since one must be wrong, and it is thus made clear that scientists are fallible, why should any man of sound sense accept a scientist's unproven theory in preference to his own?

The great scientists, in popular estimation, are those well advertised—Einstein, for example. But any man who devotes himself to the study of facts is a scientist, whether he studies astronomy, medicine, chemistry, insects, germs, plants, heating systems, light waves or the human mind.

If he does research work and discovers new truths, he ranks above other men; but if he obtains his facts by reading books, as most of them do, any layman who reads and understands the same books becomes as much a scientist as he is.

Another point the science-worshiper should remember is this. A scientist studies facts within a limited field of knowledge. He knows how to measure the weight of stars, but he doesn't know how to compose music, lay brick, prune a tree, mend a light fixture or adjust a carburetor. Within his narrow range he deserves respect; outside it he is an ignoramus.

This generation makes itself ridiculous by regarding scientists as witch-doctors. If it has any brains of its own, it should learn not to stand with its mouth open every time it hears the word "scientific."

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Hoover's Reply to Woodring.

Topeka Capital.

President Hoover in reply to Gov. Woodring's telegram through his secretary reminds the governor that the President is not empowered to arrange reciprocity tariff duties with foreign governments, as requested. As the Capital remarked on Gov. Woodring's telegram, if President Hoover undertook to do so a mighty howl would go up from Democrats in both houses of Congress. Mr. Hoover also remarks that most retaliatory action by foreign governments against the present American tariff has been against the higher rates on the items of the agricultural schedule.

This is illustrated by the new Canadian tariff changes going into effect this week. The Canadian government is particularly trying to aid Canadian agriculture. It dominates railroad rates and by the June 1 arrangement will absorb 5 cents on the freight rate on every bushel of wheat exported from Canada. But the new Canadian tariff rates which, while not a revision, make many changes in the duties, so far as they affect the United States are almost entirely on agricultural products. This is stated by Premier Bennett, who remarks that "the more notable increases concern live hogs, fresh meats, bacons, hams and shoulders, shell eggs, cheese, hops, powdered milk, peas, corn and hay, field root and garden seeds, canned fruit and vegetables, raisins and oranges." Altogether the Canadian changes include some 200 articles.

Roosevelt's Rising Tide.

Atlanta Constitution.

The announcement that Col. Edward M. House favors Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt for nomination to the Presidency by the Democrats has importance mainly as an indication of how shrewd political observers are sensing the direction of Democratic popular feeling.

Not often has any one man, not already in the Presidency and standing for renomination, stood so far forth and so early in party favor as a suitable nominee as does Gov. Roosevelt at this time. His important work in the Wilson administration, his preference for the Vice Presidency on the Cox ticket in 1920, and his conspicuous and continuing service as a militant Governor of New York State, mark him as a Democrat whose character needs no spotlighting to make it known and whose statesmanship needs no expert political sales staff.

Franklin Roosevelt deservedly holds the admiration and confidence of more of his American fellow citizens than are registered in the Democratic rank and file. He would unquestionably poll for the Presidency a larger popular vote than any other Democrat now in sight. Put forth upon a straight-hewed and solid Democratic platform, containing fundamental American principles and proposing policies that would manifestly restore to the people equal rights and equal opportunities, he would easily win the party's fight.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Demand for Destruction of Trees to Provide Parking Space Provokes Sarcastic Reply.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: May I ask a question of your correspondent who signs himself Chevroford and who demands that all trees on the Mall, the Washington Monument grounds and the circles come down to make way for the "necessity" of more parking space?

My question is, why stop at the trees? Why not do away with the Monument itself, the Lincoln Memorial, the pool and all these other useless obstructions that take up good space which might be devoted to parking?

We read that there is only one automobile in Washington at present for each 3.11 per cent of the population. That is surely inadequate and we shall not prove that we are truly capable of co-ordinated intelligence and planning until this ratio is reversed and there are 3.11 per cent cars to each inhabitant.

Chevroford says that necessity comes first and so the trees must be sacrificed.

It is true that they furnish grateful shade on the sweltering days and rest many weary eyes and spirits. But what are these considerations compared to the necessity; and indeed what other necessity is there in Washington except that of allowing two dead automobiles to stand all day where only one stood before?

MRS. CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL.

Old-Timer Recalls Horrors of Old Days When Men Drank and Girls Didn't.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: To set over against what Mr. Russell, in your issue of June 2 has said concerning the evils resulting from prohibition, please permit this: I have lived in and about Washington since street cars were drawn by horses. I have known Pennsylvania avenue when it reeked of beer from one end to the other. I have known when not a well-filled street car, at nightfall, was without its drunken men, whose presence was taken as a matter of course. I have known when the barrooms, the hotels in the city were loafing places for besotted men who there drank up their wages.

If, now, due largely to the "shows" our young people frequent, they have got the idea that every party must be a whoopee club, and imitate the same by makebelieve drinking and carousing, this will pass like other fads have passed. Meantime, men and women who can think straight know that drunkenness has so nearly disappeared from Washington, in an open way at least, that there is no comparison between the times that were and the times that are.

Change the Democratic Lineup, Says "Hickory," and Change the Luck.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I am only a plain ordinary Democrat, but I have a suggestion to offer for 1932 which I hope you may see fit to print. When a baseball club suffers from a long losing streak, the manager sometimes gets a fresh start by changing the batting order. He knows that he can not make things much worse anyway, especially if the club is a tailender.

Democracy has been a tailender for quite a while now, and I think a good way to get wakened up and start something is to juggle the lineup. For instance, our leadoff man in 1928 was a wet, with a dry for his running mate. As you all know, the arrangement did not work so very well.

The way I look at it right now, Democracy's best show to win in 1932 will be on economic issues; and we don't need to worry about prohibition except as respects the Solid South. So as to bring back Southern solidity I would change the leadoff man from a wet to a dry, on a law-enforcement platform.

In the North I don't think the general run of voters consider prohibition the big issue; that is, outside of perhaps a hundred-thousand professional wets and the same number of single-track drys. All the noise these wets and drys may be able to make won't have much effect on the perplexed business men and working men out of work who have their ears cocked to hear the wheels of industry once more in general operation.

Head the 1932 ticket with a Southern dry such as Senator Robinson of Arkansas, for instance, and name a fairminded Eastern wet for second place and it will not be at all surprising to me if we develop a winning wallop in the next presidential campaign.

HICKORY.

Protest Against Sacrifice of Beauty to Automobile Utility.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Some individual signing the non de plume of Chevroford advocates the cutting of trees, the abolition of playgrounds, the destruction of circles and the giving over of the Monument Grounds to accommodate more automobiles.

The signature "Chevroford" (Chevrolet-Ford) gives the suggester away. For no one but a Ford or Chevrolet thinking apparatus would advocate anything quite so silly. It must have required considerable birth pangs to produce so glorious a brain-child as the brilliant bon mot, "Necessity comes first."

Certainly; why have trees, playgrounds for loafers, beauty to adorn or grandeur to entrance so long as it interferes with the parking of automobiles? I'll go Chevroford one better. Let's gut Capitol Hill and park mechanical insects in the basement of the Capitol. Why not deprive the White House of the south grounds and put a garage in the Treasury? Wouldn't a filling station in the Arlington Ampitheater help some too?

Is it true that civilization has reached a point where all beauty must be sacrificed to utility, or is it just a case of another candidate for a berth at the hospital on Congress Heights hill?

TARIFF GUNS BOOM ON POLITICAL FRONT

Charges Against Hoover Met by Republicans' Questions to Democrats.

(Associated Press.)

The controversy over the Smoot-Hawley tariff law and the recent increase of Canadian duties was continued yesterday by statements issued through Republican and Democratic headquarters.

Representative-elect Greenwood (Democrat), Indiana, said, "The Hoover administration and its tariff policy have destroyed our good will abroad, driven our commerce from the seas, produced stagnation at home and encouraged our capital to seek location in foreign lands."

Senator-elect Dickinson (Republican), Iowa, said a great many of the Canadian increases are levied on agricultural products and inquired if the Democratic leaders would commit themselves to removing the protection on agricultural commodities in the Hawley-Smoot bill as a means of inducing Canada to refrain from "retaliation."

Addressing himself to Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, and Senator-elect Hull, of Tennessee, Mr. Dickinson asked whether, "as an alternative to removing our tariff protection on farm goods, the Democrats would reduce industrial rates, thereby adding to unemployment because of competition with cheap foreign labor, and if so, what rates would they reduce?"

Mr. Greenwood's statement attributed investment abroad of American capital and the recent Canadian increases to the Smoot-Hawley tariff law.

Roosevelt Support Seen in Arkansas

Caraway Asserts He Is First Choice After Robinson; Crops Prosper.

(Associated Press.)

Strong support in Arkansas for Gov. Roosevelt of New York for the Democratic presidential nomination was claimed yesterday by Senator Caraway upon his return from that State.

Taking note of the possible candidacy of his colleague, Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, for the nomination, Senator Caraway said, "If Senator Robinson is not nominated, Roosevelt is the almost unanimous choice of the State.

"I have never seen quite the unanimity of public opinion as prevails in Arkansas for Gov. Roosevelt. First, the people have confidence in him as a man. Moreover, his policies appeal to the people. I think he is available."

Coming from the heart of last year's drought area, Senator Caraway said that prospects are bright for good crops this year and the people are cheerful. "The State is preparing as never before to feed itself," he said. "Gardens, fruit, grain, live stock and poultry are in the possession of nearly every farmer."

Move to Beatify Pope Pius X Made

Document Presented to Congregation of Rites as First Step.

Vatican City, June 8 (U.P.).—The first move in the canonization of Pope Pius X was made today when documents looking toward the beatification of the Pope were presented to the Congregation of Rites.

Pius X, born Giuseppe Sarto, of humble Italian parents, was Pope until 1914, famed for his piety, humility and religious zeal. He opposed the World War, and his death was believed to have been hastened by the outbreak of fighting.

One of his last acts was to refuse to bless the Austrian cause, saying, "I do not bless war; I bless peace."

CANADA AND RUSSIA CUT U. S. PURCHASES

British India Only Country Increasing Her Total During April.

(Associated Press.)

Canada and Soviet Russia, among others, reduced sharply their purchases in the United States during April, as compared with the same month last year.

Women Direct Furnishings of Tokyo Embassy

Mr. Forbes Is Expecting to Enter New Structure by Autumn.

WHEN the United States Ambassador to Japan, Mr. W. Cameron Forbes, moves into the million-dollar embassy now almost completed in Tokyo, he will find himself surrounded by the feminine touch in the matter of interior decoration despite that he is a confirmed bachelor. For the advisory committee to the commission set up by law by the Secretary of State, the Secretary of the Treasury and the Secretary of Commerce, constituting four women, named by Mr. Stimson, is in the final throes of selecting the last artistic details which will enhance the new embassy in Tokyo.

The committee, including Mrs. William R. Castle, jr., Mrs. Francis White, Mrs. Robert Low Bacon and Mrs. Peter Augustus Jay, has progressed beyond the basic details of furniture, hangings and rugs to the selection of mirrors, paintings, objets d'art, and when the third week in August slips around Ambassador Forbes will establish himself in a commodius building furnished to the last bit of linen according to the impeccable taste of the discriminating committee.

Mahogany and walnut furniture, all manufactured in the United States, has been shipped to the Far East. It is of Georgian period in formal design, the selections containing no antiques, as the ruling laid down for the committee requires bids on all furnishings.

Located on the site of the old embassy, destroyed in the earthquake and fire of 1923, the building comprises seven bedrooms, a large drawing room, dining room of noble proportions and library, the embassy, shaped like an inverted L, facing a charming garden. The four women on the committee have selected hangings of silver greens and blues, which will give a delightful effect against the ivory walls; rugs of taupe, also made in the United States, will cover the floors.

Closely linked with the Far East through residence there at one time or another the members of the committee are peculiarly qualified for the "job" assigned to them. Mrs. Castle, wife of the Undersecretary of State, of course, only recently spent some time in Tokyo, having accompanied Mr. Castle when he served as special Ambassador to Japan during the London naval conference. The widely traveled Mrs. Bacon doubtless has lingered long enough in Japan to imbibe its atmosphere of beauty and its quaint customs; Mrs. White, wife of Assistant Secretary of State, Mr. Francis White, has seen pretty much of the world—Paris, Madrid, Havana—while "following her husband to various diplomatic posts, and as a bride Mrs. Jay went in 1909 to Tokyo, where Mr. Jay was attached to the embassy as secretary, although in December that year he was transferred to Cairo as diplomatic agent and consul general.

Subsequent years spent in Argentina, El Salvador and Buenos Aires afforded opportunity for Mr. and Mrs. Jay to absorb ideas and customs of widely divergent peoples.

With the completion of the new building one more link will be forged in the chain of new embassies and legations now being built or under advisement by the commission, which includes Secretary Stimson, Secretary Mellon, Secretary Lamont, the heads of the Senate and House committee on foreign relations Senator Borah and Senator Swanson, Representative Henry W. Temple, of Pennsylvania, and Representative J. Charles Linthicum, of Maryland.

When Ambassador Forbes went to Japan about a year ago to assume his duties it was thought the completion of the embassy would be only a matter of a few weeks, but construction was delayed by the enlargement of the grounds and by delay in Washington in the approval of architectural plans. For the last seven years the embassy has been located in the Imperial Hotel and office buildings. It was there that Mr and Mrs. Castle lived before the arrival of Mr. Forbes.

Ambassador Forbes has as his hostess at Tokyo his sister, Mrs. Russell.

Moving day, nemesis of embassies, will find its complement, as far as Japanese-American affairs are concerned, in the removal this fall of the Japanese lares and penates in Washington to the new embassy which is nearing completion on Massachusetts avenue. It will be finished some time this fall. The chancery already has been moved to the new quarters.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlos C. Drake, of Chicago, are at the Willard.

Commander Percy W. Northcroft and Mrs. Northcroft, of San Diego, have arrived in Washington by motor. They will spend a few days at the Hotel Martinique before going to Newport, R. I., where Commander Northcroft will be stationed at the Naval War College.

Entezam's' Station Changed to Warsaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Abdullah Entezam are established in Warsaw, Poland, where the former has been assigned for duty as First Secretary of the Persian Legation. En route to this country, where it was definitely thought that Mr. Entezam had been detailed for duty in Washington, at the Persian Legation, his orders were changed. He will succeed his brother, Mr. Masrollah Entezam, in Warsaw, the latter having been transferred to Geneva to act as representative for his country at the League of Nations. Mr. Masrollah Entezam will return to Teheran later for duty at the foreign office.

Mr. and Mrs. Entezam had crossed Russia and arrived in Warsaw when they received word of the new orders. Mrs. Entezam was formerly Miss Margaret Hume, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hume, of Washington.

Maj. Gen. George W. Read, retired, of Philadelphia, is spending a few weeks in Washington at the Hotel Martinique. Mrs. Read will join him there next week.

Mr. Carlton Bailey Hurst, former Consul General in Budapest, has recently retired from the foreign service, and plans to come to Washington to make his home.

Mr. Hurst, a native of nearby Maryland, has been in the foreign service for over 20 years, during which time he served in Germany, Hungary and other countries of Europe.

The American Consul in Ottawa and Mrs. Julien Harrington are passing a few days in Washington. Mrs. Harrington, who was formerly a French woman, has recently obtained her American citizenship, and is now seeing the Capital for the first time.

Mr. Lodge to Receive Polonian Order.

The Polish Ambassador and Mme. Filipowicz will entertain at luncheon today in honor of Mr. Henry Cabot Lodge. Following the luncheon the ambassador will confer upon Mr. Lodge the order of Polonia Restituta.

Small Fetes Given British Envoy to Cuba

Departs Today Attended by Lady Broderick; Chalkleys Greeted.

Several small and impromptu fetes have attended the Washington visit of Sir John Joyce Broderick and Lady Broderick and the arrival here of Mr. H. O. Chalkley and Mrs. Chalkley. The Brodericks leave today for New York preparatory to sailing for Havana, where Sir John will assume his new duties as British Minister to Cuba. Mr. Chalkley succeeds him in Washington as Commercial Counselor of the British Embassy.

Sir John and Lady Broderick were the guests of honor at a dinner given on Saturday night by Mr. and Mrs. Armistead Peter 3d, at Tudor place, their residence in Georgetown. On Sunday afternoon the Brodericks journeyed to Uplands, the home of Mrs. Borden Harriman, on Ridge road, where they, with a small group of Mrs. Harriman's friends, had tea.

Mrs. Harriman observes the pleasant custom of being "at home" on Sunday afternoons at her attractive country residence.

On Sunday night the Brodericks and Mr. and Mrs. Chalkley were feted at dinner at the Chevy Chase Club by the Attache of the British Embassy and Mrs. Harold H. Sims.

Mr. and Mrs. Sims will sail shortly for Europe, where they will spend several weeks.

Miss Carrie Lee Chewning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvine B. Chewning, of Lynchburg, Va., and Richard Harrison Marks, jr., of Richmond, were married Saturday evening at Memorial Methodist Church by the pastor, the Rev. A. L. Franklin. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. The ushers were Mr. David Evans, Mr. Harrison Jones, Mr. Ewart Royall, Mr Edgar Boynton, Mr. Arthur Harrison, Mr. Conan Vaughan, Mr. Griffin Morrell, Mr Richmond and Mr. Duncan Hamner, of Lynchburg. Mr. Harold Welty, of Alexandria, was best man.

The bride's attendants were Miss Martha Jones, maid of honor; Mrs. Ewart Royall, matron of honor, Miss Clara Mahood, of Lynchburg, Miss Kitty Waters, Miss Swann Marks and Miss Caroline Cunningham, of Norfolk.

The bride atended Hollis and Randolph-Macon Woman's Colleges and Mr. Marks is a graduate of Randolph-Macon College.

After a bridal trip Mr. and Mrs. Marks will live in Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. William King, of Lawyers, Va., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Helen King, to Mr. John R. Carter, of Lynchburg, which was celebrated June 1 at Rustburg.

Miss Nancy Easley Barksdale, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sith Dudley Barksdale, of Charlotte County, and Frank Briton Fuller, of Callands, were married Saturday at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. S. N Kabler. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. S. N. Kabler, and Miss Frances Mills Barksdale, of Philadelphia the bride's sister, was maid of honor. J. D. Leggett, of Lexington, Ky., was best man.

After a motor trip Mr. and Mrs. Fuller will be at home after June 20 at Callands.

Mrs. Max Rich will be hostess to a party at dinner at the Shoreham Hotel tomorrow evening, when the guests will include members of the wedding party at the marriage of her daughter, Miss Fannye L. Rich, to Mr. Dunbar L. Rosenthal, of Washington and Chambersburg, Pa., which takes place on Thursday.

The marriage of Miss Ellen Crowhurst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. James Crowhurst, of Newark, N. J., to Mr. Carl Henry Shaifer, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Henry Shaifer, of Chevy Chase, Md., took place in the Bethlehem Chapel of the Washington Cathedral on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The ceremony was performed by Canon Dunlop in the presence of the relatives of the bride and bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Shaifer left immediately afterward for a motor trip through Virginia and Maryland, and after July 1 will be at home in Belleville, N. J.

Commander and Mrs. Andrew S. Hickey, who have been spending the spring in Washington, are in New York, where they are staying a short time before going to Newport, where Commander Hickey has been ordered for duty at the Naval War College.

Miss Irene Boyle, who has been acting in the capacity of social secretary for Lady Lindsay during the past year, will leave shortly for England, where she will visit her family until the fall.

Miss Berry's Wedding Held At St. Thomas'

Military Pomp at Rites Uniting the Bride to Lieut. Coleman.

At a wedding colorful with military pomp and ceremony Miss Catherine Knox Berry, daughter of Col. Harry Berry, of Nashville, Tenn., and Mrs. Georgia Knox Berry, of Washington, became the bride of Lieut Frank Jerdone Coleman, United States Air Corps, the service taking place at 4 o'clock yesterday in St Thomas' Church, the Rev. Dr C. Ernest Smith officiating. Lieut. Coleman is the son of Col. and Mrs Sherrard Coleman, of Battery Park, Bethesda, Md., and is a graduate of West Point.

The bridesmaids were Miss Virginia Coleman, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Laura Barkley, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Alben W Barkley, of Paducah, Ky.; Miss Mary Ingraham Henry, daughter of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Guy V. Henry; Miss Clara Bolling, niece of Mrs. Wodrow Wilson; Miss Kathleen Carmichael, daughter of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Roderick L. Carmichael, all of Washington, and Miss Dolly Corbin, of Chicago.

Col. Berry gave his daughter away. She wore a bridal gown of ivory satin made on princess lines, with a long train. The bodice was modeled with a very deep yoke of rare lace, which also formed the long sleeves. An ivory tulle veil was held by a cap of the tulle twisted in band effect about the face with a tiny wreath of orange blossoms. She wore a seed pearl necklace, which is an heirloom in the Berry family, and carried a shower bouquet of ivory roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore gowns alike of eggshell mousseline de soie heavily embroidered and made in the period of 1860, the full, quaint skirts falling from a double peplum. Miss Berry, the maid of honor, had a large straw hat of green with velvet ribbon falling below the shoulders and slippers to match. The maids' hats, of the same imported Swiss straw, were of orchid shade with matching ribbon streamers They wore orchid slippers and all carried colonial bouquets.

Lieut. John De Witt was the best man. The ushers, all of whom are lieutenants in the U. S. Army, included Lieut. Paul Caraway, son of Senator and Mrs. T. H. Caraway, of Arkansas; Lieut. Roderick L. Carmichael, son of Maj. Gen and Mrs. Carmichael; Lieut. Albert Watson, Lieut. William Lattimer, Lieut. Alexander Stone and Lieut. William Thompson.

After the ceremony a reception for about 200 guests was held at the home of Mrs. Berry, and the couple left immediately afterward on a motor trip to Nashville, where they will be guests of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Horatio Berry. From Nashville they will go to New York and on June 23 will sail for Honolulu, where Lieut. Coleman will be stationed.

Among the guests from Nashville in addition to Col. Berry were Col. Henry Dickinson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Folk, Miss Jane Folk, Miss Anita Frazier, Col. and Mrs. Henry Corbin, of Chicago, and Mrs. Donald MacLaren, of Toronto, also came on for the wedding.

Dr. Sherman Davis Honored at Dinner

Capitol Clinic Club Is Host to Expert Scientist; Papers Are Read.

A dinner in honor of Dr. Sherman L. Davis, internationally known biochemist, was given at the Mayflower Hotel last night by the Capitol Clinic Club.

A number of papers dealing with dental decay and the possibilities of effectively combating this condition by proper diet, a field in which Dr. Davis has done extensive research work, were delivered.

The principal speakers were Comdr. H. E. Harvey, U. S. N., stationed at the Norfolk Naval Hospital, and Dr. C. C. Robinson, M. D., of Chicago, chief surgeon of the Inland and Youngstown Steel companies. Other addresses were made by Dr. S. Bogdonoff, Dr. Sterling V. Mead, Dr. G Albert Smith, Dr. Leo W. Solbach, Dr Herbert Werkman, of the Indiana University Dental School; Dr. M. A. English, M. D., and Dr. Davis.

Pope Grants Audience To Richmond Hobson

Vatican City, June 8 (A.P.).—Pope Pius today gave a private audience to Richmond Pearson Hobson, American lecturer and author, and Mrs. Hobson.

They were presented by Mgr. Burke, rector of the American College. Mr. Hobson is a native of Greensboro, Ala., and lives in Los Angeles, Calif.

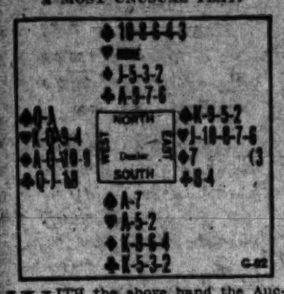
WORK ON BRIDGE

A MOST UNUSUAL PLAY.



WITH the above hand the Auction Bridge bidding would be: South one No Trump, West double, North pass, East two Hearts, South pass, West pass, North two Spades and East three Hearts, which would obtain the contract.

When the hand was played at Contract, the bidding was: South one No Trump, West double, North pass, East three Hearts, South pass and West four hearts.

South led the Ace of Spades, which won, and the suit was continued, dummy's Queen holding the trick. Dummy then led the King of Hearts, which South took with the Ace and, seeing no other chance, led his Club Deuce. North won and returned a Club, and South's King saved the game.

Could East and West have won it?

THE CORRECT PLAY.

The Declarer should have realized what must happen if West won the second trick and then led a trump. It would be perfectly clear to the adversary who won the trump that Clubs offered the only hope of saving game; and consequently that suit would be led and the game surely would be saved. But the Declarer would have a good chance to take the needed ten tricks if East's King overtook the Spade trick already won by West, although it left the East hand with two losing spades. That would enable East to lead his singleton Diamond to trick 3 and to take the unnecessary finesse by playing dummy's Queen. It would be reasonably safe to do this, as South's No Trump bid indicated the strong probability of his holding the King of Diamonds. When the Queen of Diamonds won, the Ace could have been led immediately and East could discard a Club. Then East and West could cross-ruff the rest of the hand, permitting South to take only the Ace of trumps and one Club, thus winning the game.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"GEMINI."

IF June 9 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a. m. to 11:15 a. m., from 1:30 p. m. to 4 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger hours are from 11:30 a. m. to 1:15 p. m., and from 4:35 p. m. to 7 p. m.

Activity and energy will be stimulated by the astrological conditions of June 9. It will prove to be an auspicious occasion for the initiation of new enterprises, especially those related to real estate and shipping. It will also be a favorable opportunity for the execution of contracts and for plighting troths.

A child born on this June 9 will be studious, intellectual and fond of travel. It will be impetuous and persistent, loath to yield a point, but quick to score one. What it learns it will never forget. Adaptable to environment, enthusiastic in its work, and loyal to friends, it will earn many of life's prizes.

Born on June 9 you are practical and energetic, although you possess strong intuitive faculties, which you should not only develop, but trust more. If you continue to pooh-pooh these promptings, they will gradually become weaker, and your future will be handicapped by a neglect of a rare and an exceptional gift.

The bent of your mind is a serious one, and, though you are not lacking in a sense of humor, you are not inclined to look on life as a trip, but as a voyage. You possess a certain amount of literary ability, therefore you can express yourself much more convincingly in writing than orally. You are always welcome in any social gathering, as you are a good listener. Moreover, you are always willing and ready to participate enthusiastically in any form of amusement that may be proposed.

You are a glutton for work—when the work appeals to you. If confined to routine duties, where there is no scope for an expression of your individuality you are a "wash out." You are kind and thoughtful, and take an interest—not an inquisitive one—in the affairs of others. Your temperament is a well-balanced one, and if mated with one born in January or September you should enjoy both a successful and happy career.

Successful people born June 9:

1—Sylvanus Thayer, father of U. S. Military Academy.

2—John Howard Payne, actor and poet.

3—Peter Henderson, horticulturist.

4—James Henry Darlington, bishop, head of U. S. Serbian Relief Fund.

5—Francis M. Finch, author of "Blue and Gray."

Dare Interprets the Mode

Smart and dressy street suit of gray woolen, with intricately tucked coral blouse. (Courtesy of the Maison Heim, Paris.)

New York, June 8.

IT seems that we've been suffering from all kinds of maladies simply because the middle of our torsos haven't been exposed on the beach, of course, to the "actinic" rays of sun along with our back and legs and arms. Either with our health in mind or merely because they were out to devise a new and "slightly" daring bathing suit chic, several of the very highest of the haut couturiers have evolved a means so that this neglected section of our persons may derive the fullest benefit of the sun's rays!

This is the way it's done, and it sounds very simple, but the effect is devastating, I assure you—a sort of brassiere-like arrangement over your bust, then a completely nude section, and then a pair of brief shorts, and voila! you're ready for sun or water bathing.

Marynowitzsky, than whom nobody designs more effective beach costumes, makes one such outfit in coral wool shantung, with a black arrangement exactly like a flat brassiere and a raglan knee-length coral shantung coat to protect you from either the sun's rays when they get too warm or from the public gaze.

Worth showed several of this type of beach costume consisting of shorts and bandeau, so it bids fair to be seen on smart beaches—in Europe, at least, this summer.

Of course the shape of the bandeau action is varied and in one very spectacular model in navy blue with red and white hand trimming this part had the form of a tiny bolero which closed with one button in the back—and one button was all it needed, too, because this "bolero" was reduced to just a point where it buttoned. Naturally, this type of beach attire is best completed by a jacket or coat if you do any beach strolling—and Marynowitzsky shows toweling knee-length coats in her famous vivid combinations that would be ideal for this purpose.

* * * *

Come, all you lovely ladies, and rejoice with the hordes of your fellows who have insisted on some sort of summer costume that will be beautiful, smart and appropriate for several occasions—for your insistence has been answered. There is a distinct trend, in the latest collections toward lovely and unusual suits to meet all the above requirements. 'N' can't you just see what I mean by the suit from the Maison Heim that I have sketched for you today? It is beautifully made of gray wool, lightweight for comfort, of course—just perfect for the street, and just as perfect for indoors because of the beauty of its intricately and gracefully tucked coral blouse. In spite of its perfectly lovely lines and its exquisite coloring—or do I mean because of them—it is both comfortable and practical.

* * * *

And the accessory for this suit or any other favorite frock is this necklace a la Schiaparelli, of aluminum wire modernistically pointed.

* * * *

The "poor working girl" never knows—now does she—when her important employer is going to ask her out to dine in the smartest restaurant in town? But she need never be unprepared for such an event—if she has sent her stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet that tells about the smartest dress in the world for the office. 'N' it is one with lingerie touches for charm—which are removable for washing—and interchangeable for just such a pleasant emergency as the one above. And I'll bet that clever little ladies who never step inside an office could find a hundred uses for such a dress, too.

* * * *

And you'll find many interesting ideas in the weekly Dare fashion letter in The Washington Post every Sunday.

Au Revoir!

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me the name of the plant which the inclosed leaf and flower were taken; also the care the plant requires.

MRS. O. J. S.

Your plant is a cineraria, an annual which, when it has finished blooming should be discarded. When its flowers fade it soon becomes the prey of red spiders and these pests will travel to your other plants, which may be pernanently injured.

Please tell me whether a poinsettia will grow outdoors and when to plant it. Also, will a hugonis rose grow along an iron railing between two yards. When may I plant one of these roses? Are they hard to raise? M. K.

The poinsettia will live in the open in southern California or Mexico throughout the year. In the North it is only suitable for summer use in the garden. The first suggestion of frost will kill it. Better write again, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and I will send you a circular we have prepared for readers on "The Care of the Poinsettia." A hugonic rose will be beautiful in such a location. It is of the easiest culture, though it must be grown, like all roses, in rich soil. Prepare the soil well, using plenty of well-rotted manure or bonemeal. Keep it well watered until it is established. It demands sun at all times.

Please tell me why the buds on both my yellow and my white calla lily failed to open. On both plants the buds turned brown and faded.

MARY T.

It may have several causes. All callas demand a great deal of moisture and a rather high temperature (68 to 70 degrees F.). You must give them water every day. They also demand a rich soil and a great deal of sunshine. They never do well in a dark place. Try giving them liquid manure when the next buds appear.

Please give me some information regarding the time it takes a holly seed to germinate. HANNAH T. R.

It may take two years.

Even so early I am beginning to see ants about my perennials. Please suggest a remedy. I saw where you mentioned a proprietary preparation that would soon get rid of these pests. Please tell me its name.

MRS. GEORGE K. P.

I am sorry, but we can not publish trade names or addresses in this column. If you care to write again, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, I shall be glad to send you name of this preparation.

Would maiden-hair ferns do well in a window box facing the north? It is in dense shade most of the time.

EMILY L. H.

The maiden-hair fern has too delicate a constitution for window-box use. Better fill the box with low-growing holly ferns or begonias.

Please give me the name of a reliable pink petunia. JAMES T. P.

Angel of Heaven is the most beautiful I know, and it is reliable.

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is supplied.

A Torn Overcoat.

DEAR FRANCES McDONALD:

Commenting upon the gold-digging girls you ask: "Are we all crazy?"

No, we are not all crazy, but how these money-mad girls get that way is beyond me.

Let me relate my own experience! The very thing that decided me to marry my husband was the fact that he was poor! We were dining together one night and I noticed the lining of his overcoat was badly torn and needed mending. I decided then and there that I was going to marry him—and told him so. He was surprised, for though he had asked me two weeks after we met—I had steadily refused, for though I was tremendously fond of him I was only 16 years old and wanted to see something of the world before I settled down. But when I saw that overcoat, a great wave of love swept over me and left me wanting nothing except to take care of him and make him happy for the rest of our lives.

Another thing—I went with him a year and a half, and in all that time we saw exactly three big-time shows (with tickets $4.40 apiece in those days). Those were really gala occasions. I worked in the same office with him, I knew what he was making, so movies and occasional dinners downtown were all I expected. I dated him three nights a week and we spent our Saturdays together. I loved him and I still do after ten years of marriage.

Today we have a darling little girl, many friends, a nice car and a $20,000 home. Incidentally I am 26 and he is 35.

Occasionally we reminisce and when we do, our sweetest memories are of those first years we had together. The struggles we had, scarcely any money, illness, then the second year a baby to provide for. Trouble, yes—but fun too—fun such as the girl who waits for security and a big bank account can never know.

Another incident I must tell you—when I said I would marry him he wanted me to go with him to pick out the engagement ring. But—I said "no," for I thought we should keep the $150 (he had so laboriously saved) in the bank and some day, when we were rich, he could buy me the ring. He demurred, of course, but as I insisted, he did as I wished and we became engaged without the conventional seal.

Did I hear some one say he was "cheap?" Well, you're all wrong, for since our marriage he has been generosity itself, giving me everything.

I still do not have the diamond ring. He has offered to buy me one a number of times, but always there has been something else I would rather have, so that has been the gift.

He says that the fact that he is successful is due to my love and tremendous faith in him away back when he had nothing, and the thought of it has inspired him in everything he has ever done since.

He says we had even more fun in the penniless past than in the prosperous present. So, you see, men are people, after all—just like us, and you miss the finest things in life if you pass up struggle and trouble and privation together for ease and comfort with an older man. The richness of experience is the game, not the prize.

If I ever met a man and found that I loved him more than my husband (possible, but highly improbable)—I say if I did, and he were poor, I'd throw over my life now and start all over again just for the sheer joy of conquering obstacles!

Are you shocked Miss McDonald? Such modern views—well, I'm like that, can't help it, really, and just to show you how convinced my husband is that that is true—he said one time—that if he ever found me to be failing for someone else, and he tried to win me back and failed—as a last resort, he would deliberately throw away everything we owned and come to me and ask me to help him start over and he would gamble I'd forget the other man and rush back to him just to help him!

So you see, that diamond ring is a sort of symbol—the unattainable—something to reach for and never quite get. I've seen too many fair, fat and 40 complacent ladies utterly satisfied with their lot—fingers covered with diamonds and their minds as supine as their bodies.

Not me—not ever—I hope! When I come to die I'm sure my arms will be the last to numb for they'll probably be reaching for something even then. Excuse the length of this letter please, Miss McDonald. I write "Finis" with regret, for never before have I put my thoughts on paper and feel that I have left unsaid the things that really make a love marriage beautiful and worthwhile. However I'm sure, you are sure, that I've said enough! C. H. P.

Wonderful young person, there will always be room in this column for anything as inspirational and as evidently from the heart as your story of your love. Few things I have ever read are more deserving or more beautiful. The younger women today are reaching out for paste diamonds with the real ones close to their hands. In the glitter of the imitation, they are blinded to the glow of the real.

Do tell us more of what you think about love and marriage. We will find space, never fear!

YOUR NAME — WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph.D.

THE previous article of this series discussed the family name "Carey," especially with reference to its connection with the name "Piacre," which has come to be adopted as the regular French word for "cab." Another Irish source of "Carey" is "O Ciarain," which means "the descendant of little Ciar." The personal name "Ciar" means "black," and was first given as a nickname to persons with dark hair or dark complexions. Although "O Ciarain" has normally resulted in the modern names "Kieron," "Kearon," "Kearns" and "Kerns," a few families who were once so called have adopted the name "Carey" as its supposed equivalent. In England most families who bear the name "Carey" have received it because of a former residence in the parish of Carew in Pembrokeshire. This place-name is of Celtic origin, and means "the fortresses." This English name was taken into Ireland at an early date, and, as we have seen, was adopted by many Irish families as the supposed English equivalent of several Irish names with wholly different meanings, although sometimes having somewhat similar pronunciations. Thirteenth century instances of this name in English records are John de Cary and Roger de Cary.

The family name "Master" is one of the relatively few English names whose original meanings are indicated by their present forms. It was first used by servants and other workers in referring to the master of a household or to the master of a trade. Its common variations are "Mastera" and "Masterson." In Scotland and Ireland it generally occurs as "MacMaster," meaning "the son of the master." Its modern French equivalent, "Lemaitre," is quite common. The German equivalent, "Meister," is also very common.

Watch this column every day. Your name will appear here.

Broiled Veal Chops.

6 chops cut ½ inch thick
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
3 tablespoons lemon juice

Wipe off chops with damp cloth. Fit into frying pan and broil ten minutes. Turn and broil other sides 10 minutes. Baste several times during cooking. Sprinkle with rest of ingredients. Broil two minutes. Serve at once.

Eggplant Lenox.

1 egg plant
3 teaspoons salt
2 egg yolks
2 tablespoons cold water
1 cup crumbs
4 tablespoons fat
4 tablespoons chopped cheese

Wash eggplant. Cut in slices ½ inch thick. Cut crossways. Peel. Sprinkle with salt and lay slices on top each other. Weight it down with dish. Let stand one hour. Remove slices and rinse well. Dip in yolks which have been mixed with cold water. Dip in crumbs. Heat fat in frying pan, add and brown eggplant. Sprinkle with cheese and let cook three minutes. Serve on platter. Garnish with parsley.

Cherry Pudding.

2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
4 tablespoons butter
2-3 cup milk

Mix flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in butter with knife. Mixing with knife, add milk. When soft dough forms, pat it to thickness of one inch. Place in shallow, greased baking pan. Spread with cherry mixture.

Cherry Mixture.

2 cups seeded red cherries
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons butter

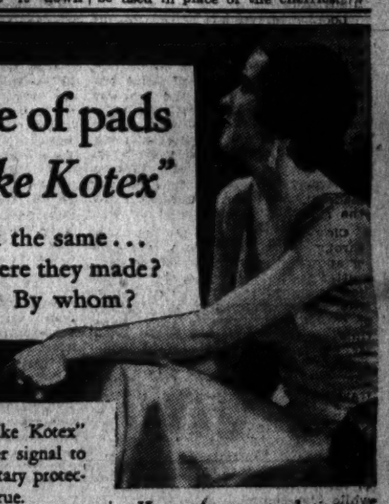
Mix ingredients. Spread on top soft dough. Bake 20 minutes in moderate oven. Cut in bars and serve warm.

Lemon, cherry or vanilla sauce, or plain or whipped cream can be served with this pudding.

Other fresh or canned fruits can be used in place of the cherries.

Beware of pads "just like Kotex"

May look the same . . . but how were they made? Where? By whom?



THE words "just like Kotex" should be a danger signal to every purchaser of sanitary protection! They cannot be true.

A pad, to be like Kotex, would have to be made in the Kotex factory. Unique, patented machinery makes Kotex from start to finish. Hands never touch it. Rigid cleanliness prevails. Materials used are superior, made especially for Kotex. The only way to make a pad like Kotex is to make Kotex.

Take no chances. Specify genuine Kotex. Accept no substitute or whose makers you know nothing. You know Kotex is safe. Hospitals used more than 10,000,000 pads last year. Their choice should be yours.

Kotex is adjustable. May be worn on either side. Stays soft.

WAR AND NAVY SITE DISPUTE IS LOOMING

Wood Bases Opposition to Tract on "High Cost;" Favors Another.

Indications that controversy was looming over the proposed sites for the new buildings of the War and Navy Departments became apparent yesterday when the Treasury Department selected architects who will make estimates of the needs of the War Department only, to be communicated in a report to Congress in December.

The controversy, it seemed, would be waged by Chairman Wood of the House appropriations committee, who announced his opposition to the site selected by the Public Buildings Commission for the War and Navy groups in the area between Constitution and New Yorkavenues and Eghteenth and Twenty-third streets northwest.

Representative Wood based his principal opposition on "the excessive cost" of this location, and is said to favor strongly a location in the Southwest section bounded by D street and Virginia avenue on the south, Maryland avenue and B street on the north, second street on the east and Seventh street on the west. He claims this is more appropriate from the city planning point, as well as from the value of the real estate concerned.

The Northwest sites have already been designated by the Public Buildings Commission, but the Treasury Department only engaged architects to consider the proposed War Department building yesterday, leaving the Navy Department plans for the future.

The architect selected will consider the space needed for the War Department, which is said to require much more floor space than the Navy Department. This, with estimates of cost and like matters, is supposed to be ready for presentation to Congress when it convenes.

Student Robber Suspect Is Shot

Honor Man in New Orleans Says He Needed Cash for Gambling Debts.

New Orleans, La., June 8 (A.P.).—A 21-year-old honor student who was to have received an award tonight from his university lay, instead, in a hospital critically wounded as the result of what police said was an attempt to hold up a street car and a motor bus early today.

The youth, after trying for some time to conceal his identity, finally told police his name when informed he might die from a bullet wound in the spine. He said he was Trimbel E. Winborn, of Coldwater, Miss., and that he had made the holdup attempt "because I was broke and owed gambling debts."

Armed with a pistol, which later was found to be empty, he first approached Robert Glass and Perry Curtis, motorman and conductor, respectively, of a street car that was standing unoccupied at the end of its run. Curtis said the youth took $6.75 from him and then forced them inside the car, saying he would wait for a bus that was due to pass shortly. When the bus arrived, Winborn entered it and was in the acting of holding up the chauffeur when Glass slipped in behind him and shot him in the back.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

THE presence of Clara Bow on the screen at Loew's Palace this week in Paramount's picturization of Willard Mack's "Kick In" has served, more or less, to concentrate attention upon the conflicting reports that have recently been current with regard to her future plans.

Miss Bow is now reported to have declared that the first knowledge she had had of the statement made by Ben P. Schulberg, in charge of West Coast production for Paramount, that "there is a big chance that she will never make another picture," was when she read it in the papers.

Since that time the red-headed temperament is said to have received two offers of fat contracts from other companies. However, she refuses flatly to make any definite plans until fully restored to health. Two pictures remain to be made under an existing contract, although it is also declared that Clara has not received a penny of salary from Paramount since her last breakdown.

"I do not feel that I should hold paramount to any contract," she is reported as saying. "I have not been able to fulfill my obligations. I am glad, therefore, to have my release. It is better for me to be free of all contracts until I am improved in health. I hope to go back to the screen in a few months."

The picture that has been so delayed in production by Miss Bow's illness is "Manhandled."

Speaking of personalities currently on the local screen, this department has been numerously petitioned these last few days for information concerning the identity of the youngster who comes so near running away with the orphanage sequences that usher in the gently purling love story of "Daddy Long-Legs," at the Fox.

Beyond the fact that the young fellow's name is Kendall MacComas, I know nothing about him, except that he is running Wesley "Freckles" Barry, who had the part in Mary Pickford's silent production of the Jean Webster play, a closer second that I would have thought possible.

And that reminds me. The Mary Pickford silent "Daddy Long-Legs," was directed by Marshall Neilan, who received his first great impetus toward the front rank of movie directors through the smashing success of this hoydenish romance. Miss Pickford, you may remember, was a slightly more turbulent Judy Abbott than Janet Gaynor and there was considerable heigh-ho, not to say hoop-la, in the action as Mr. Neilan gaited it.

That, however, is beside the point that under date of June 6 it was reported from Los Angeles that Neilan, ten years ago one of the most prominent and highest paid directors in the industry, appeared in court and told Judge Dudley S. Valentine he was broke and unable to pay $9,500 back alimony for the support of his minor son by his first marriage. His second wife, now also divorced, was Blanche Sweet, recently at the Earle in her sketch, "Snobbishness."

Well, that's the way it goes, up today and down tomorrow—or maybe vice versa!

It will be of interest to his many friends in Washington that Wallace Munro, one of the handsomest and most capable of the theatrical publicists, whose visits to the Capital are perennial, again heads the Theatrical Press Representatives of America, generally referred to as the T. P. R. O. A., whose official organ is the Quill, as president.

Mark Luescher, Frank C. Payne, Ollie Alger, Charles E. Barton, Cepha Day, Peter Ermatinger and Victor Kiraly were renamed governors at the election held last week at the Park Central in New York.

Victor Kiraly, for many years company manager for Billie Burke, it was who once in an emergency of the most urgent sort, secured me 25 seats within the first six rows of the center section at the New Amsterdam Theater in New York during an S. R. O. run of the "Follies," and, for later the same night, a string of ringside tables for the Midnight Frolic on the Amsterdam Roof, when both of these things "could not be done."

Demonstrating that such things can be done, "if you know the man."

Even at that, if you really want your favorite location for the National Theater Players' production of "Strange Interlude," it might be well to scurry around a bit, because that box-office sale got going yesterday morning and, after all, the National Theater will seat just so many people!

And, of course, you know that that rooster never again will crow in paradise. That is, I mean to say the furnishings and equipment of Club Chantecler and eL Paradis are to go under the hammer come Monday.

Sort of knocking down a setup?

Baptists Reaffirm Stand on Dry Law

Protest Uttered Against Denial of Citizenship in Arms Refusal.

Kansas City, June 8 (A.P.).—The Northern Baptist Convention reaffirmed its advocacy of prohibition and world peace today, and uttered a protest against denial of citizenship to those who refuse to bear arms in defense of the Nation during wartime.

In resolutions adopted at the closing sessions the convention pictured armament as a medium which "inevitably will create suspicion and fear among all the nations and diminish rather than increase the security of the United States."

The convention urged entrance of the United States into the World Court.

Gov. Louis Emmerson, of Illinois, was singled out for praise for placing his veto on the State liquor law repeal-enacted by the State Legislature, and Mayor Porter of Los Angeles was commended for abstaining from wine while traveling with the party of American mayors visiting France.

Pershing Gives Praise To Negro as Warrior

Paris, June 8 (A.P.).—Gen. Pershing, speaking today at a tea for American Negro Gold Star Mothers, said that when the Negro soldier is properly trained and properly led he is the equal of any fighting man in the world.

He spoke feelingly of his own experience with the Tenth United States Cavalry during the Spanish-American War as proof of his assertion.

THE THEATER LAST NIGHT

By NELSON B. BELL

"WHISPERING FRIENDS." S. E. Cochran and Clifford Brooke present a comedy in two acts and five scenes by George M. Cohan, enacted by Roberts Beatty, Raymond Bramley, Daphne Warren-Wilson, John Warburton, Adelaide Hibbard and Burke Clarke, at the National Theater. Staged by Clifford Brooke; settings by Charles Squires. Reviewed by W. A. Whitney.

Fittingly to draw to a close the first lap of their seventh summer season, to offer a toothsome morsel from the pen of George M. Cohan and to furnish the frothy appetizer for the most stupendous task ever essayed by a stcok company, the National Theater Players opened last evening with "Whispering Friends."

Here is an incredibly rapid-fire farce, its five scenes run off with machine-gun rapidity, staged against one of Charles Squires' masterpieces, and played by the almost irreducible minimum of players—six.

Robert Beatty and Raymond Bramley have recently been married and their closest friends, John Warburton and Daphne Warren-Wilson, decide to start a "whispering campaign" for a lark and to "test" the affection of the newlyweds and prove that it was a love match rather than one consummated for financial reasons. With seriousness in their tiffs and reconcilations alternating with the most palpably nonserious ones, the comedy moves along with amazing speed and has the audience howling in continual glee from the first to the final curtain.

In the roles of the ever-present and helpful servants are Adelaide Hibbard and Burke Clark—tailor-made roles for them both.

Nancy Sheridan and Stanley Ridges, in anticipation of their heavy assignments in "Strange Interlude," are given a week's rest.

"Whispering Friends" is, in its entirety as well as in the six separate characters, an utterly charming piece of writing, offering the cast a chance to display its decided flair for light comedy. While the opening performance was marred in spots by a few lapel linguae and a general tendency to race through their lines a little too rapidly, the Players did a commendable job.

Played entirely within the confines of a single set and enacted with an unusually small cast, this Cohan opus develops a greater speed than many of the dramas more ornately staged with vaster companies of actors.

Individually and collectively, the cast presented a delightful evening and their work ranks well up with the best they have thus far demonstrated.

MRS. E. A. MERRIMAN DEAD.

Steady Juvenile Crime Growth Recorded Here

Crimes and misdemeanors committed by persons under 21 years of age are steadily increasing in Washington, it is revealed by crime charts compiled by Capt. L. J. H. Edwards, in charge of statistics of the Metropolitan Police.

Capt. Edwards divided his study into two groups, those under 17 years of age and those between 17 and 21. In 1929, it is shown by his figures, 702 felonies were committed by persons between 17 and 21 years of age. In 1930 the number rose to 909. Misdemeanors grew from 11,393 in 1929 to 12,053 in 1930.

Children under 17 years of age in 1929 committed 530 felonies, and 682 in 1930, an increase of more than 150. Misdemeanors in this group grew from 2,525 in a year to 2,935.

LAWYERS FOR HOTEL TO FIGHT COMPLAINT

Mayflower Counsel to Seek Dismissal of Bill for Receiver Today.

Dismissal of the bill of complaint, on the basis of which Justice Oscar Luhring, of the District Supreme Court, issued a rule against the Mayflower Hotel Corporation to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed for he hotel, will be asked in a motion to be filed by William E. Leahy and Edmund Toland, hotel counsel, today.

Another action by Messrs. Leahy and Toland will ask that the rule of Justice Luhring to show cause be stricken out because it is not in conformity with the decision of the District Court of Appeals, handed down last week, setting aside the temporary receivership decreed by Justice Luhring without notice to the hotel owners.

These and other motions already filed will come up for argument in the District Supreme Court tomorrow morning. Justice Jennings Bailey ordinarily hears motions, but whether he will hear the several motoins in the Mayflower case or whether these will be herad by Justice Luhring is not certain.

Daniel J. O'Brien, president of the Mayflower Hotel Corporation, was subpenaed last week to appear yesterday before the grand jury, with books and papers in his possession showing the financial history of the hotel. This subpena was issued at the behest of Assistant Attorneys Nugent Dodds and F. O'Harness, in connection with an investigation of the financing operations of the American Bond & Mortgage Co., which completed construction of the Mayflower Hotel when the late Alan Walker failed to do so.

Mr. O'Brien, however, did not appear before the grand jury, but this was because the Department of Justice waived the subpena on him in view of the fact that all of the pertinent records which Mr. O'Brien could have produced before the grand jury were made available to department accountants as soon as demand for them was made.

JAMES ATWELL OBSEQUIES.

Funeral for Man Killed in Crash to Be Conducted Tomorrow.

Funeral arrangements were completed yesterday for James Atwell, 35, 3331 N street northwest, who was fatally injured Sunday when an automobile he was driving overturned on upper Conduit road. Services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at the funeral parlors of George W. Wise Co., 2900 M street northwest, with burial later at Arlington National Cemetery.

Mr. Atwell was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Atwell, of Williamsport, Md., both of whom survive him. Two brothers, Franklin L. and Samuel E., and two sisters, Mrs. Ina Hansbrough and Mercy Atwell, also survive. Although a native of Williamsport, Md., Mr. Atwell had lived in Washington most of his life. He was a veteran of the World War.

Coroner Nevitt issued a certificate of accidental death. A defective steering gear is believed to have been the cause.

MRS. MARY E. ESPEY BURIAL.

Services to Be Held at Residence Today at 2 o'Clock.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Espey, 87 years old, who died Sunday at her home, 1305 Irving street northwest, following an illness of several weeks, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence. Interment will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Surviving Mrs. Espey are three sons, John, Louis and Edward Espey; two daughters, Mrs. Philip Happ and Mrs. Walter Hill; a brother, James Bridget, and three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Denham, Mrs. Catherine Everett, all of this city, and Mrs. Emma Sauner, of Baltimore, Md. She also leaves fifteen grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

REV. J. U. KING SERVICES.

Funeral to Be Today for Methodist District Superintendent.

Funeral services for the Rev. J. U. King, district superintendent of the Alexandria district of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Eleventh and K streets northwest, will be held today at the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church, with burial later at Princess Anne, Md.

Dr. King, who had been superintendent of the Alexandria district for five years, died suddenly last Thursday while on a visit to Bridgeville, Dela. Previous to the Alexandria assignment he had been pastor of the Asbury church. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Esther B. King, a teacher at the Garnet-Patterson Junior High School, and a son, Douglass King.

RAYMOND ROTH FUNERAL.

Services for Automobile Victim Will Be Held Tonight.

Funeral services for Raymond Roth, 68, of Cherrydale, Va., will be held at 7 o'clock tonight at his residence in Cherrydale. The Rev. Dr. Coakley Graves, pastor of Grace Episcopal Church, will officiate.

Mr. Roth, who was fatally injured when struck by an automobile while walking on the Lee highway, near Park Lane, Va. Sunday, will be buried at Marietta, Pa., his native home. A sister, Miss Emily Roth, who lived with Mr. Roth at the Cherrydale address, is the only survivor. He had retired from the Government service about a year and a half ago.

Mr. Fisher, who died at his residence, 3807 Windom place northwest, is survived by his widow and two sons, U. A. Fisher and D. Merrill Fisher, all of this city. He was a member of the Washington Board of Trade, Chamber of Commerce, Merchants & Manufacturers Association, Washington Transportation Club and various Masonic organizations, including Almas Temple Shrine.

Mr. Fisher was a native of Frederick, Md., and served in Laurel, Md., as freight agent before coming to Washington.

J. W. SHADLE SERVICES.

Military Honors Will Be Paid to Veteran This Afternoon.

Military honors will be paid to First Lieut. Joseph Warren Shadle by Ciesel-Saxon American Legion Post, of Silver Spring, Md., when he is buried in Arlington Cemetery this afternoon. Services will be held earlier at the W. W. Chambers funeral home, 1400 Chapin street northwest, with legion members acting as pallbearers. The Rev. R. Paul Schearrer, pastor, Takoma Park Presbyterian Church, will officiate.

Lieut. Shadle died suddenly Saturday morning. He was 49 years old and lived at 24 Carroll avenue, Takoma Park, in which community he had been active in civic affairs nearly twenty years. Surviving is his widow, Mrs. Anna M. Shadle.

It would cost $2,250 to send postcards to all the readers that can be reached any morning by Post Classified Ads.

CHARLES OBERLANDER DEAD.

Bus Crash Victim to Be Taken to Buffalo for Burial.

Arrangements were made yesterday for the shipment tonight to his home of the body of Charles Oberlander, 75, of Buffalo, N. Y., who died in Emergency Hospital Sunday as the result of injuries suffered May 30 when a bus sideswiped a culvert on the Baltimore Boulevard.

Alex Oberlander, a son, of Buffalo, and a brother, the Rev. F. E. Oberlander, of New York, came to Washington yesterday and arranged with W. R. Speare & Co., undertakers, to prepare the body when it is released from the District Morgue by Coroner Nevitt, which is expected to be this morning.

COL. SHUTTLEWORTH DIES.

Retired Army Officer Expires at Home in Northfield, Vt.

News was received in Washington of the sudden death yesterday of Col. Edward A. Shuttleworth, U. S. A., retired, at his home in Northfield, Vt. He was retired from the service September 15, 1920.

Mrs. Minnie W. Shuttleworth, his wife, was with him when he died and immediately notified friends in Washington, where he was well known.

Col. Shuttleworth was a graduate of Norwich University, in Northfield. Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, with interment probably in Northfield.

MRS. SUSAN L. MORAN RITES.

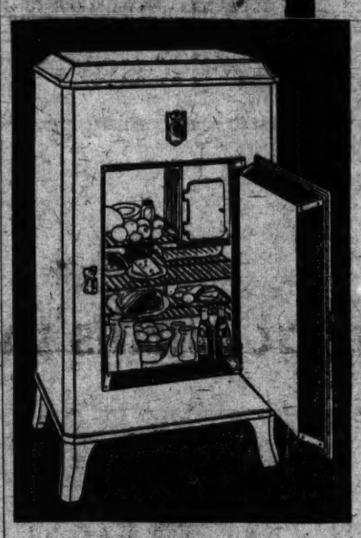
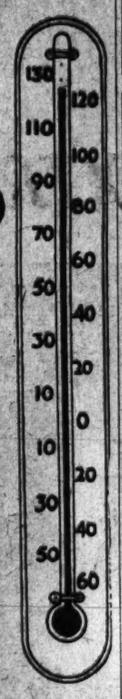
Mrs. Moran died Sunday at Columbia Hospital after a short illness. She is survived by two sons and four daughters, all of this city, Allen C. and Dorsey Moran, and Mrs. Jonas Beinheimer, Mrs. Howard Wilson, Mrs. David April and Mrs. Ferdinand Ellis.

MIGHTY MONARCH OF THE ARCTIC

Keeps Food Fresh despite 125° in Coachella Valley





MAJESTIC performance could receive but little higher commendation than that given it by a user in a recent letter . . .

"I just recently purchased from your local dealer, for cash, a seven-foot Majestic," says this Californian, "and it is truly a very fine machine. Before purchasing, I investigated no less than thirteen other standard makes . . . yours was the best and my wife is certainly very well pleased with it. We live here in Coachella Valley where the thermometer goes to 125 degrees without a bit of trouble, and a good unit is essential."

If a Majestic can maintain its 36° to 46° food compartment temperature economically under those conditions, it can efficiently do so for you. Let a Majestic dealer explain its 30 great features and a liberal monthly payment plan.

HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Roy Sernsaby

BIRTHMARKS

THE SUPERSTITION THAT AN UNBORN CHILD WILL HAVE A BIRTHMARK IF THE MOTHER IS FRIGHTENED IS SAID TO HAVE COME FROM THE STORY OF JACOB CAUSING LABAN'S CATTLE TO BECOME SPOTTED BY PLACING WHITE RODS BEFORE THEIR PARENTS' EYES. THE WEIGHT OF MEDICAL AUTHORITY SAYS THAT BIRTHMARKS ARE NOT CAUSED BY FRIGHT. ©1931 by Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc. Great Britain rights reserved.

ORIGIN OF "OMELET"

THE ROMAN WORD "LAMELLA" MEANT A THIN PLATE, AND CAME INTO THE FRENCH LANGUAGE AS "L'ALAMELLE." WHEN THEY COOKED EGGS IN A WAY THAT RESEMBLED A THIN PLATE THEY CALLED THEM "AMALETTE." THE ENGLISH CHANGED THE WORD TO "OMELET."

THE FIRST WEDDING RING

TRADITION SAYS THE FIRST WEDDING RING WAS MADE OF ADAMANT AND IRON BY TUBAL CAIN. IN EGYPTIAN HIEROGLYPHICS A CIRCLE REPRESENTED ETERNITY AND THE PLAIN ROUND CIRCLE HAS FROM TIME IMMEMORIAL BEEN SYMBOLIC OF MARRIAGE TIES, THAT ARE MEANT TO BE PERMANENTLY BINDING.

TOMORROW—The Ostrich Slander; "Dead Set Against;" "After me, the Deluge!"

If you have other ideas as to HOW IT BEGAN write to Russ Murphy, care of The Washington Post. If you want to see how some other particular custom or saying began let Russ Murphy know and his answer will be illustrated in this series.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

PITUITARY TROUBLES NO BAR.

RECENTLY F. P. A. wrote about Isaac Fleming in his column. From what he wrote the following is taken: "Day before yesterday Mr. Isaac Fleming, financial editor of the —— Star, died at the age of 80. Ike Fleming is one of our earliest memories. In 1903 he was financial editor of the Chicago Journal. What we remember about him is that he seemed the oldest man we had ever seen; he looked as though he had about 20 minutes to live; he was then 53, which nowadays seems to us like a flapper's age."

The writer knew this gentleman well just ten years earlier. He was then about 43 years old, and he looked like an old man with not many years to live. His hair was white, his face was wrinkled, and his complexion was pallid. In spite of his look of senility and debility he was a hard working newspaper man, and when he could steal away he fished as hard as he worked on his regular job. So noted was he as an industrious fisherman that a colaborer composed a poem in which the big black bass was supposed to warn the wall-eyed pike that Ike Fleming was around today.

The writer told Mr. Fleming of the nature of his peculiarity. The appearances that F. P. A. comments on—and that the writer discussed 35 years ago—are the result of some disorder of the pituitary body, probably congenital in character and irremediable. The people with this disorder generally have large, bony frames. Their feet and hands are large. Their hips are broad, almost as broad as those of women.

The length of the arm is not in the usual proportions to body length. The cheek bones are high, as are the ridges over the eyes. This makes the orbits appear small and the eyes seem to be beady. The skin is coarse, pale and wrinkled. The hair is coarse, straight and white. As a rule, the beard is scrawny. The voice is likely to be high-pitched.

The writer has seen scores of people with this disorder. He has encountered them in many places in America and in all walks of life. One was a mulatto. In his observation they have had very good minds. Many of them have been excellent business men and have fitted well into their social environment. If the disorder tends to shorten life or to incapacitate for work he has never heard of it. Nor does he know what causes it—that is, what causes the pituitary to go wrong; nor what can be done to remedy the abnormality.

TAKING BAKING SODA.

Mrs. G. L. S. writes: Is ordinary baking soda as good as anything for gas on the stomach? Which should I use, warm water or cold with it?

REPLY.

My opinion is that the use of baking soda for that purpose does more harm than good. It disturbs the work of the stomach. It may cause alkalosis. Using it may cause one to postpone finding what trouble lies behind this symptom.

TREATING DIABETES.

C. M. writes:

1. Is there any cure for diabetes?
2. If a person who has diabetes loses weight and strength is it possible to gain normal weight again?

REPLY.

1. Very few people are cured of diabetes. Some are. Many learn how to live so that they are able to do the day's work, to be comfortable, and to live to a reasonable age.
2. As a rule, it is. First, he must learn how. Next, he must live the law.

Reduce Dole and Beer.

Haverhill, Mass., June 8 (U.P.).—The old cry, "No beer, no work," has been written by the Public Welfare Board to read, "No work, no beer." Doles were reduced when it was discovered that some of the "needy" were spending part of the money for malt extract.

OLD DOCTOR HUER, WHO WAS AIDING US TO SOLVE THE MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF THE GOLD SHIP FROM ATLANTIS, MADE US GATHER GRASS WHERE THE BLACK RAY HAD FALLEN—AND SOME FROM WHERE IT HADN'T. WE WENT BACK UP THE LINE TO THE BATTLE-CRUISER—AND HAULED THE OLD FELLOW UP AFTER US.
COPYRIGHT JOHN F DILLE CO REG U S PAT OFF.
WELL—HERE YOU ARE, DOCTOR.
AND HERE'S YOUR GRASS—NOW WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO WITH IT?
TUT-TUT—IS MY LABORATORY READY—HEH?
I KNOW DEAR GIRL—BUT HE'S BEEN IN THAT LAB FOR HOURS—AND WHILE WE'RE DRIFTING AROUND HERE THE PIRATE IS ROCKETING FARTHER AWAY EVERY MINUTE!
WELL, WE ASKED HIM TO HELP US—WE'VE GOT TO LET HIM DO IT IN HIS OWN WAY!
THEN—AT LAST—
DR. HUER LABORATORY
EUREKA! I HAVE FOUND IT!
FOUND WHAT?
NOT BLACK BARNEY, I BET!
ONE BUNCH OF GRASS GLOWED WITH A STRANGE, WEIRD LIGHT—THE OTHER DIDN'T.
HUH!—NOW ALL WE HAVE TO DO IS TO EXAMINE ALL THE GRASS IN THE WORLD—AND WE'LL FIND OUT WHERE BLACK BARNEY THREW ANOTHER BEAM!
SEE—SEE!—WHERE THE BLACK RAY FELL, THE GRASS BECAME RADIO-ACTIVE!

Like tobacco . . . the best Gasoline is Blended

THERE are as many kinds of tobacco as there are soils and climate in which the plant is grown. Every smoker knows that no single tobacco makes a pleasant smoke. You may prefer Burley with a touch of Turkish or a mixture which includes Perique. Whatever the preference, every good smoke is blended. The popularity of your favorite brand rests entirely on the adeptness of the blender.

There are various types of gasoline. No one of them contains all the properties you want in a motor fuel. The proper ones in proper balance do contain them. That's why CONOCO refiners developed their balanced-blend, triple-test gasoline. Three types of gasoline are used: Natural Gasoline, for quick starting; Straight-run Gasoline, for power and long mileage; Cracked Gasoline, for its anti-knock properties.

As expertly as the tobacco leaves are mellowed and combined, these three elements are produced and blended in balanced proportions to make CONOCO Gasoline. CONOCO refiners are masters of the art of blending.

You will find this better gasoline wherever you see the CONOCO Red Triangle. Try it today.

SCHOOL HEADS MEET TO RATE PERSONNEL

Board Plans to Hold Special Session to Close Up Work of Year.

Future rating of teachers and other school employes was being studied at a closed meeting of school officials yesterday afternoon.

Among points under consideration were teaching efficiency, administrative efficiency, personal character and executive ability. The latter requisite applies only to supervisors and principals. Rating of clerks, custodians and laborers in the school service was also being considered.

The meeting, which was presided over by Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, is held each year and no marked changes are expected to result. Teachers are rated by their immediate superiors while other employes are passed on by a classification board.

The rating situation may come up for discussion at a special Board of Education meeting tomorrow. The extra meeting has been called to dispose of an accumulation of school business before graduation exercises and closing of schools next week. At least one other board meeting will be held this month, it was announced.

Two Women Convicted Of Stealing $250 Bonus

Emma Benthol and Inez Means, both Negresses, were convicted by a jury yesterday of having robbed Darrell Ghassaway, Negro, of his $250 bonus loan.

Ghassaway told the court he met the women at Seventh and N streets northwest, March 21, and that he went with them to a nearby alley where he was robbed. Marie Smith, Negress, indicted with the other two, was exonerated by order of the justice. Assistant District Attorney Julian Richards prosecuted the case.

Washington Paid Phone Book Honor

Data on Bicentennial Are Carried and More Pages Are Noted.

With a gray cover carrying a portrait of George Washington, the new telephone directories appeared yesterday for the summer-fall season, unusual looking as compared to the sober brown which has heretofore been the accustomed dress of the "local information book" issued quarterly by the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co.

The new directory, distribution of which started yesterday, in addition to the picture of the first President carries an announcement of the bicentennial planned for next year, and a feature of the new book is a separate new heading for Government departments, the different marked section.

The growth recently announced by the company is attested to by the additional pages inserted and carrying new subscribers. Company officials say the books will be distributed to more than 200,000 users within the next few days.

P. U. C. Considers Bus Line Changes

Foxhall Village - Potomac Heights Route Shifts Asked by Patrons.

Requests from patrons to make certain changes in the routing and service of the rehabilitated Foxhall Village-Potomac Heights bus line were considered yesterday by the Public Utilities Commission and will be taken up with the Washington Railway & Electric Co.

Patrons have asked that the downtown terminal now at Fifteenth and I streets northwest, be moved closer to the heart of the congested area, that the early morning and late night schedule be altered slightly, and that tokens similar to those used on the Burleith bus line be accepted on the Foxhall Village - Potomac Heights buses.

Requests were to change the morning schedule so that buses would leave the suburban terminal at 8 and 8:30 a. m. instead of 8:08 and 8:38 a. m., and to change the late night schedule so that the last bus would leave at 11 instead of 10 p. m.

Husband Asks Annulment.

Charging that when his wife went through a wedding ceremony with him she had a husband, who, he alleges, was living in Mayview, Pa., Herman R. Yates, of B street near First street northeast, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to grant him an annulment of the marriage. Yates' petition shows that he was married in Alexandria July 6 last. Attorney Hallock P. Long represented him.

YEARS OF GRACE - - - By Margaret Ayer Barnes

SYNOPSIS.

Jimmy spends the week-end with Jane and Stephen, and that night he takes Jane into the garden beneath the apple tree in bloom and tells her that he loves her. Jane weakly protests, but the suddenly realizes that she, too, loves Jimmy. Their friendship has ripened into passion. Jane still thinks, however, of Agnes and little Agnes, of Stephen and her children, but as Jimmy holds her in his arms and kisses her, he tells her not to think of anything but themselves.

JIMMY—CHAPTER XI.

WHEN Jane opened her eyes next morning, the cold light of the April dawn was breaking over the garden. She had come into the house with Jimmy some four hours before. They had turned out the lights in the living-room and crept silently up the stairs and exchanged one last kiss at the door of Jane's bedroom. She had opened the door with elaborate precaution and moved quietly into her room. Precautions, however, were unnecessary. Stephen was sound asleep on the sleeping-porch.

She recalled the events of the evening with horror and incredulity. It could not have happened. If it had, she must have been mad. She was Jane Carver—Mrs. Stephen Carver—Stephen Carver's wife and the mother of his three children. She was Jane Ward—little Jane Ward—John Ward's daughter—who had been born on Pine street and gone to Miss Milgrim's school with Agnes and to Bryn Mawr with Agnes. Little Jane Ward, who had loved Andre and grown up and married Stephen. She had been Stephen Carver's wife for nearly sixteen years. Yes, she must have been mad last night in the moonlit garden. Mad—to let Jimmy speak, to let him hold her in his arms. Mad to sit with him there—beneath the apple tree—how many hours? Four—five—six hours she had sat with Jimmy beneath the apple tree, deceiving Stephen and betraying Agnes and planning to abandon her children.

Stephen Awakes, Very Cheerful.

Suddenly Jane heard Stephen stirring on the sleeping-porch. It was 7 o'clock, then. The day had begun. This day in which thoughts must give birth to action. This day in which feeling must be foresworn. Stephen, struggling into his bathrobe, appeared on tiptoe at the door to the sleeping-porch. He looked a little sleepy, but very cheerful.

"Hello," he said, "you awake? Why didn't you sleep in here?"

"I didn't want to wake you up," said Jane. She was amazed at the casual tone she managed to achieve. "I sat up very late with Jimmy in the garden."

"I went up early," said Stephen, "just as soon as I finished with the paper. Coming down to breakfast?"

"No," said Jane. "Ask Sarah to bring up a tray."

Jane felt she could not face a Lakewood family breakfast. Whatever life demanded of her on this dreadful day, it did not demand that she should sit behind her coffee tray, surrounded by her children, and pour out Jimmy's coffee under Stephen's unconscious eye. She would wait in her room until Stephen had gone to the train, until the children had left for school. Then she would go down and tell Jimmy that she had been mad in the garden.

Jimmy Looks Terribly Happy.

Two hours later Jane opened her bedroom door and walked down the staircase. No Jimmy in the hall. She entered the living room and saw him standing by the terrace doors gazing out at the apple tree. He wheeled quickly around at the sound of her step on the threshold. Jimmy looked tired. Jimmy looked worn. But Jimmy looked terribly happy, Jane smiled tremulously.

"Jimmy——" she said, still standing in the doorway.

"Don't say it," cried Jimmy. "I know just how you feel. I know just how you've reacted. Don't say it, Jane! Give yourself time to—to get used to it."

"I am used to it," said Jane pitifully. "I'm terribly used to it. I've been thinking for hours."

"I know what you've been thinking!" cried Jimmy. He walked quickly over to her and caught her hand in his. "It was inevitable, Jane, that you'd think those thoughts. Don't—don't let them trouble you, Jane. I knew how it would be."

"You knew how it would be?" faltered Jane.

"I even knew you wouldn't come down to breakfast. In point of fact, I didn't come down to breakfast myself. In spite of all the many things I've done, Jane, in and out of camp meetings, I can't say that I ever planned to run away with the wife of a friend before. I didn't seem to care much about meeting Stephen myself this morning. I didn't seem to care much about sharing his eggs and bacon."

Makes It Hard to Tell Him.

"You haven't had any breakfast?" said Jane, stupidly. Jimmy shook his head. "I'll ring for a tray." She moved to the bell by the chimney piece. Jimmy followed her across the room.

"But, Jane—" he said.

"Yes," said Jane, her hand on the bell rope.

"Those thoughts, you know, aren't really—really important. I mean—they don't change anything."

"They change everything," said Jane, dully. "Sarah, a breakfast tray, here in the living room, for Mr. Trent."

"And one for Mrs. Carver," said Jimmy, with an affable smile for the maid in the doorway. "I'm sure you haven't eaten a bite this morning. I'm sure you just drained down a cup of black coffee."

"That's just what I did," said Jane, smiling wanly at Jimmy's omniscience.

"Two breakfast trays, Sarah," grinned Jimmy in dismissal. Then, when the girl had gone: "Sit down here, darling, on the sofa, with a pillow at your back. Put your feet up. There! Comfortable, now?"

"Very," said Jane, with another wan smile. "Jimmy, you make it awfully hard for me to tell you."

"Tell me what?" said Jimmy brightly. "That you take it all back? Don't trouble to tell it, Jane. Just sit there and rest and wait for your breakfast. When you've eaten it, life will seem much rosier." He stood looking down at her very cheerfully from the hearth rug. "I wish I could sit down c... the floor, Jane, and take your hands and tell you I adore you, but I really think I hadn't better do it until Sarah has come in with the breakfast trays."

Going to Do It in South Seas.

"You hadn't better ever do it," said Jane.

"Nonsense," said Jimmy. "I'm going to do it innumerable mornings, in the South Sea Islands and Siam and Burma——"

Jane couldn't help laughing.

"Jimmy," she said, "you're perfectly incorrigible. But I mean it. I really mean it. I'm terribly sorry—I know it's rough on you—but—but I made a dreadful mistake last night in the garden."

"And now you've discovered that you don't love me," smiled Jimmy. "Well, presently you'll discover again that you do."

"No, Jimmy." Jane's voice was shrill with conviction.

"Here's Sarah," murmured Jimmy, turning with nonchalance to flick the ash of his cigarette in the empty grate. Sarah placed the breakfast trays on two small tables and retired noiselessly from the room.

"Now eat, Jane," said Jimmy commandingly. "I'm going to let you have all that breakfast before I even kiss you."

Jane thought the breakfast would choke her. But somehow, under the stimulus of Jimmy's pleasant conversation, she found she had consumed the entire contents of the tray. Jimmy rang again for Sarah. When the trays were removed, he stepped quickly over to her and sank on his knees by the sofa.

"Darling!" said Jimmy, seizing her hands in his.

"Jimmy!" cried Jane in terror. "Don't kiss me!" Don't you dare to kiss me! I'm not the woman I was last night in the garden." Her earnestness held him in check.

"Darling," said Jimmy, still clinging firmly to her hands, "I know it's terribly hard for you. I know it's much worse for you than it is for me. You'll have to face Stephen, whom you love, and a scandal, which you'll hate. You'll have to leave your children for a time—though, of course, you'll see them afterward. I love your children, Jane, and they like me. They're great kids. But of course you'll have to leave them. It's a terrible sacrifice—and what have I to offer you?"

"Oh, Jimmy," said Jane pitifully, "don't say that! It isn't that!"

"I know it isn't, but still I have to say it. I'm a total loss as a husband, Jane. I'm a rolling stone and I'll never gather moss. We'll wander about the world together and I'll write a little music and look for pleasant jobs that won't keep me too long in any one place. You'll be awfully uncomfortable, Jane, a great deal of the time. And maybe lonely——"

"No, I wouldn't be lonely," said Jane.

"I'm not so sure," said Jimmy. "I think there are lots of raggle-taggle gypsies that you wouldn't find so very congenial on closer acquaintance. They're rather sordid, you know, and just a little promiscuous, in close quarters."

"I wouldn't care," said Jane eagerly; "I wouldn't care, Jimmy, as long as I had you."

Then Jane Weeps in Silence.

"Well, then," smiled Jimmy, drawing a long breath, "well, then—if that's the way you feel, just why am I not to dare to kiss you?"

"Because I'm not going away with you Jimmy." Jane drew her hands from his. "I'm not going to do it. This isn't just the silly reaction of a foolish woman to a moment's indiscretion. It's something much more serious. I'm in love with you, Jimmy, but I love you, too. I love you, just as I love Stephen and the children. I love you as I love Agnes. And that's one of the reasons why I won't let you do this thing. Can't I make you understand, Jimmy, what I mean? When you love people, you've got to be decent. You want to be decent. You want to be good. Just plain good—the way you were taught to be when you were a little child. Love's the greatest safeguard in life against evil. I won't do anything, Jimmy, if I can possibly help it, that will keep me from looking any one I love in the eye." Her voice was trembling so that she could not keep it up a moment longer. She turned away from Jimmy to hide her tears. In a moment he had tucked a big clean handerchief into her hand. She buried her face in the cool, smooth linen. Jimmy rose, a trifle unsteadily, to his feet.

"Jane," he said, "Jane—you almost shake me."

Jane wept on in silence.

Confusing the Issues, She Holds.

"See here," said Jimmy presently. His voice had changed abruptly. "This won't do, you know. For it really isn't true—it's very sweet, but it's silly—it's sentimental. It doesn't do anybody any good for a man and woman who are in love with each other to go on sordidly living with people they don't love. Stephen wouldn't want you to live with him under those circumstances. Agnes wouldn't want me to live with her. They're both exceptionally decent people."

"So we're to profit by their decency?" said Jane coldly. "To be, ourselves, indecent?"

"Darling," said Jimmy, "it isn't indecent to live with the man you love.

Jane rose abruptly from the sofa. "You're just confusing the issues, Jimmy," she said sadly. "But you can't change them. It isn't right for married people, happily married people, to leave their homes and children for their own individual pleasure."

"But we're not happily married people," said Jimmy.

"If we're not," said Jane steadfastly, "it's only our own fault. Neither Stephen nor Agnes has ever sinned against us. They love us and they trust us. They trusted us, once for all, with their life happiness. I couldn't feel decent, Jimmy, and betray that trust."

Smug About Her Tolerance.

"Jane," said Jimmy, "I don't understand you. With all your innocence you've always seemed so emancipated. Intellectually emancipated. You've always seemed to understand the complications of living. To sympathize with the people who were tangled up in them. You've always said——"

"Oh, yes," said Jane, "I've done a lot of talking. It made me feel very sophisticated to air my broad-minded views. I was very smug about my tolerance. I used to say to Isabel that I could understand how anybody could do anything. I used to laugh at mamma for her Victorian views. I used to think it was very smart to say that every Lakewood housewife was potentially a light lady. I used to think I believed it. I did believe it theoretically, Jimmy. But now—now when it comes to practice—I see there's a great difference."

"But there isn't any difference, Jane," said Jimmy. "Not any essential difference. Just one of convention. You're a woman before you're a Lakewood housewife. The Colonel's lady and Judge O'Grady are sisters under their skins!"

"But they're not, Jimmy. That's just Kipling's revolt against Victorian prudery. I suppose he felt very sophisticated when he first got off that line! The complications of living seem very complicated when you look at them from a distance. When you're tangled up in them yourself, you know they're very simple. If you're really the colonel's lady, Jimmy, no matter how little you may want to do it, you know exactly what you ought to do." She turned away from him and stood staring out through the terrace doors at the April garden. For a long time there was silence in the room. Then—

"I—I don't believe—you love me," said Jimmy slowly.

Mute Misery to Last a Lifetime.

Jane turned her white face from the April garden.

"Then you're wrong, Jimmy," she said gently. "You're very wrong. It's killing me to do this thing I'm doing. It's killing me to be with you, here in this room. Will you please go away—back to town, I mean—and—and don't come back until you've accepted my decision."

"I'll never accept it," said Jimmy grimly.

"Then don't come back," said Jane. Without another word he left the room. Jane opened the terrace doors and walked out into the garden. She walked on beyond the clump of evergreens and sat down on the bench beneath the apple tree. She had been sobbing a long time before she realized that she still held Jimmy's handkerchief in her hand. She buried her face in it until the sobs were stilled in a mute misery that Jane felt was going to last a lifetime. She sat more than an hour on that bench. When she returned to the house, Sarah told her that Mr. Trent had gone back to the city on the eleven-fifteen.

STOCK PRICES GAIN AS MARKET RALLIES

90 Selected Issues at Close Average 4.2 Points Higher in Light Selling.

New York, June 8 (A.P.).—Stocks rallied rather impressively today after an early decline that had been led by the rails. The recovery was unspectacular, compared with last week's feverish ascent, but it was substantial and the average of 90 issues rose 4.2 points net, closing above the level reached last Thursday.

Not for some time had the market been able to show so large a gain on so small a turnover, for today's volume was only 1,000,000 shares. Rails issues, which had wilted under Pennsylvania's report of a first quarter net loss, recovered quickly after the morning's accumulation of offerings had been absorbed. Oils, favored by a more cheerful turn in the news, looked much stronger. Coppers, motors, chemicals and foods acquired group strenth and the utilities moved up vigorously.

United States Steel common dropped 2 points on the first sale, extended its loss fractionally, but was prominent in the upturn and gained 1⅞ net. American Can, Case, Columbian Carbon, Union Carbide, American Telephone, Public Service of New Jersey, Johns Manville, Rock Island and Woolworth were up 3 to 4 at the close, while General Electric, Westinghouse, Anaconda, National Power & Light, Consolidated Gas, National Biscuit, Sears-Roebuck, Loew's and Dupont advanced 2 or more. New York Central turned a loss of 3⅝ into a 2-point gain.

Rails Gain on Rally.

Atchison, down 4¾ in the early break, lost only a fraction on the day, and Union Pacific and Pennsylvania closed firm. Standard Oils of California and New Jersey, whose merger possibilities are now being discussed in Wall street, ran up more than 2 points each.

Neither the German situation nor the bank mergers and closings in Chicago appeared to have much direct effect on the market, although there was considerable discussion of these current news topics in brokerage circles. Some bankers expressed the opinion privately that an opening of the German question to international discussion should prove constructive.

The Requa report, embracing a stabilization plan for the California oil industry, was viewed as constructive, and its prompt indorsement by California Standard appeared encouraging. Resumption of common dividends by Pan-American Petroleum and rumors of a forthcoming increase in California crude prices, restoring quotations to the early March level, were other contributions to the day's news bearing on the petroleum business.

Dividend Cut Feared.

The early upset in the rails called attention to the New York Central dividend meeting on Wednesday. Some circles feel that another reduction, possibly to a $5 annual basis, may be made, but the stock's recovery indicated that shorts were none too sure of their ground. Central's earnings in the twelve months ended April 30 were equivalent to more than $5 a share, while Pennsylvania, whose dividend rate has also been questioned, earned slightly less than the present $4 yearly requirement in the same period.

Brokerage houses and the weekly reviews of economic services believed business sentiment had been bolstered by the recovery in stock prices. The recurrence of strength after only a moderate reaction naturally fortified confidence.

Wheat lost about a cent in response to rains in the Northwest, expectations of a bearish Goverpment crop report and good harvesting weather in Texas. Corn sagged fractionally. Cotton had an early reaction, but recovered with stocks, and ended the day 7 to 10 points above the Saturday close.

Foreign exchanges were dull and firm. The German mark steadied despite a demand for foreign funds over the week-end. The Reichsbank sold earmarked gold in Paris and also a large volume of exchange holdings. Sterling cables eased nominally.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, June 8 (A.P.).—Heavy rainfall in parts of Alberta Province, Canada, and predictions of showers elsewhere in Canadian drought territory, led to lower prices today for cereals. An increase of 815,000 bushels shown by the United States wheat visible supply, contrasting with 2,363,000 decrease a year ago, was also a bearish factor. On the other hand, private Washington reports indicating possibility of a 4 per cent beer were associated by brokers with a sudden late rally in wheat, but the market quickly fell back again.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅜ to 1¼ cents lower, corn unchanged to ½ down, oats, ½ to ¼ off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 7 cents.

Critical crop conditions resulting from widespread Canadian drought were ineffective in upholding wheat, especially during the earlier dealings. Continued influx of advices regarding drought results was responsible, however, for rendering the market unusually sensitive, and numerous speculative sellers made haste to switch temporarily to the buying side after private reports to brokers became current that the Wickersham Commission under direction of President Hoover was holding conferences with some of the largest brewers in the country on the advisability and feasibility of permitting a 4 per cent beer. In the absence, though, of any confirmation of the reports about beer, wheat selling was soon generally resumed.

Word that the domestic winter wheat crop was making splendid progress exercised a persistent bearish influence, and reports of big yields in the Texas harvest contributed to the downward yield in prices. A further weight on the market was announcement of 3,416,000 bushels enlargement of wheat supplies afloat for Europe and an estimate that France's 1931 wheat crop would total 276,600,000 bushels against 232,000,000 last year. New export business in North American wheat lacked volume.

Corn and oats went down with wheat and as a result of favorable weather and crop news. December corn touched a fresh low record for the season.

Notwithstanding firmness of hog values, provisions worked downward with grains.

BONDS CLOSE LOWER IN IRREGULAR SALES

Industrials Are Exception in Losses; Strength Shown on Leading Issues.

New York, June 8 (A.P.).—The bond market wavered back and forth today. Prices were generally lower, except in industrials, until the last hour when a reversal developed causing closing prices to be irregular. These fluctuations were accomplished on a much smaller volume. Sales totaled $8,206,000 compared with $11,029,000 on Friday. The former is the smallest aggregate turnover for a full session in more than three weeks.

Strength in the industrial group was most apparent among a few leading issues. The average closing price for ten representative industrial loans jumped six-tenths of a point, which was double the net gain in the average of 30 bonds including equal numbers of industrials, railroads and public utilities. Armour 5½s were active and several points higher at one time, although closing unchanged. The 4½ per cent issue of that company were conspicuously strong on a few sales.

More typical gains were scored by such issues as Bush Terminal Building 5s, California Packing 5s, Bethlehem Steel refunding 5s, American Smelting 5s, Allis Chalmers 5s, International Paper, series A, 5s and 6s and Goodyear 5s.

Foreign obligations were varied in their movements. German issues were generally lower, following the Anglo-German conference. The 5½ per cent bonds of the Federal Government were the most active issue, with one exception, on the whole list. In contrast with this lack of demand, the bonds of Argentina, Antioquia, Australia, Brazil, Chile, Chile Mortgage Bank, Rio Grande do Sul, Rio de Janeiro, New South Wales and Minas Gerses made net gains ranging from fractions to several points.

Public utility issues withstood the day's selling pressure better than the railroad or foreign groups. The carriers, however, shared in the recovery and their final prices were irregular.

NATS' BATTING RAMPAGE NETS 18-4 WIN OVER CHISOX;

HOUGHTON, M'LEOD AND HUNTER QUALIFY FOR U. S. OPEN

Four Pitchers Hammered In 20-Hit Attack Featured By 8-Run Second Inning

Burke Goes Route; Thomas Driven Out Under Barrage.

Bluege Makes 4 Hits; Kerr Gets Homer Into Stands.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

PLAYING like a bunch of store clerks at the firm's annual picnic, the Chicago White Sox let the Nationals make 1931 history at Griffith Stadium yesterday afternoon in bowing for the third successive time, 18 to 4. This run-total was the highest hung up by the Johnsons this year, their twenty hits representing the largest collection they have made in a regulation game, while the eight tallies they scored in the second was their most productive round of the season.

Manager Donie Bush called on four pitchers, but none was able to hold the Nats in check. Every member of the cast who played the whole game for Washington was credited with at least one hit, with at least one run, and with driving home at least one mate and, besides this, Spencer and Hargrave, who divided the catching duties, made small contributions, the former getting a bingle and a run and the latter driving home one.

Chisox Pitchers Throw And Duck.

Alphonse (Tommy) Thomas, who started, managed to pull through the first inning at the cost of one run, but after that the Nats hit the ball so hard and so often that both he and the relief flingers—Vic Frasier, Jim Moore and Urban (Red) Faber—would throw the ball and then duck and, fortunately for them, they proved better duckers than pitchers or there might have been some casualties.

To all intents and purposes, the game was decided in the second inning, when twelve Nationals went to the tee and eight of them scored. Kuhel opened by boaxing a pass and Bluege's single and Spenceer's intended sacrifice, which went as a hit, filled the bases. After Burke and Myer followed with singles, Frasier came to Thomas' relief and Manush immediately doubled. When Cronin walked, the aisles were packed for a second time and a pass to Harris forced home the fifth run of the frame.

West's roller to Blue, which scored Manush, was the first out and after Cronin had tallied after the catch of Kuhel's long fly, Bluege singled Harris home. Spencer rolled to Frasier for the third out.

Merry-Go-Round Staged by Nats.

This big round brought the home total to nine and nine more runs were added before the finish, the Nats reminding of a merry-go-round in the fourth, fifth and sixth as they hustled around the bases for clusters of four, two and three runs, respectively.

Ossie Bluege was the hitting hero of the day, getting four for four, with Henie Manush, Sammy West and, believe it or not—Bob Burke getting three each. Two of Manush's were doubles, while Joe Cronin also poled out a brace of two-baggers. "Runs driven in" honors went to Dave Harris, with four, with Bluege's three ranking him second in this respect.

Games have been won by the Sox with four runs, but not yesterday. Bobby Burke did the native flinging and he pitched shutout ball until given a nine-run lead and then let down and simply coasted home. Even with him just lobbing the ball over at times, he yielded only eight hits, and little Johnny Kerr cracked out three of these, one of his blows being a homer into the stands in left opening the ninth, by which time most of the fans had already left the park.

NATS RETAIN HOPES FOR LAZZERI

Reopening of Deal by McCarthy Waited by Griffith.

THE rumor will not down that President Clark Griffith, of the Nats, has hopes of landing Infielder Tony Lazzeri from the Yankees before the open season for trading ends a week from last night. The Nat owner admits that he broached the subject of a trade involving Lazzeri to Manager Joe McCarthy when the New Yorkers were here last, but declares that, as far as he knows, the subject was both opened and closed when the Yank pilot said "Nothing doing."

That Griffith has not given up hope that the matter will be reopened by the Yankees was indicated in his conversation with newspapermen before the game, however. "I have a few 'feelers' out, you understand," he said, "but as far as I know the Washington Club will figure in no trades. Still, you know, Phil Ball called me up and agreed to swap Manush and Crowder for Goslin last year after he had first turned down the proposition, and our only chance of swinging a deal is for something like this to happen within the next few days."

Hopes McCarthy Will Reopen Deal.

As a proposal for obtaining Lazzeri is the only one Griffith is known to have made, reading between the lines one can assume that he still has hopes of McCarthy reopening the subject.

It is assumed that, if Lazzeri is obtained, he will be assigned to second base, a job which Buddie Myer has held down most capably this season. The Italian is out of position playing anywhere else and is not making a hit as a third sacker in New York. Besides, rumor says that he and McCarthy hardly speak as they pass by.

Although Lazzeri is generally regarded as a veteran, he will not be 27 years old until next December. In his five years as a big leaguer, he has hit under the .300 mark but once and boasts an all-time average of .312, although he was benched when the Yankees showed here last month because he was in a batting slump.

What player or players Griffith has offered McCarthy for Lazzeri is not known, but it is understod that the Yankees are seeking an infielder and, above all, need pitchers, and, if the Nats want Tony bad enough, they probably could help the New Yorkers in either of these respects.

Crowder to Face Chisox Today.

It will be up to General Alvin Crowder to make it six in a row, four straight here, over the Chicago White Sox at Griffith Stadium this afternoon in the finale of the set with the Windy Cityans. Crowder went the route for the first time this season in downing the Tigers last week and gave indications of having arrived after a mighty poor start, but he still must prove his case, and his work today will be watched with much interest.

Cecil Pat Caraway, lean, lanky southpaw, who was badly pounded in the opener of the set, is expected to try a comeback for the Chisox.

Infielder Jimmy McLeod left yesterday for York, Pa., where he will join that city's entry in the New York-Pennsylvania League, which is managed by the veteran, Jack Bentley. Strings have been kept on the youngster.

Some of the players blame McLeod's failure to make good on the fact that

Cardinals Sign Fuzak "Big Ten" Hitting Star

Champagne, Ill., June 8 (A.P.).—Bill Fuzak, left fielder on the University of Illinois baseball team, champions of the Western Conference, has signed a contract with the St. Louis Cardinals. He hit .487 in ten conference games, eight of which Illinois won.

Hurler Mitchell Hero As Giants Beat Cubs

Chicago, June 8 (A.P.).—Clarence Mitchell, 42-year-old Giant southpaw, pitched and batted the McGrawmen to a 6-to-1 victory over the Cubs in the third game of the series today.

In addition to holding the locals to five hits, two of which were of the scratch variety, Mitchell drove in the Giants' last two runs with a double in the eighth and scored one run. The Cubs filled the bases on him in the ninth, but he forced Grimm to ground weakly to Terry for the final out.

The Giants pounded Pat Malone and his successor, Jakie May, for twelve hits, including two doubles by Vergez and four singles by Terry.

Five U. S. Golf Pros Seeking French Title

Beauville, France, June 8 (A.P.).—Professional stars of North and South America will add international zest to the French open golf championship starting tomorrow over the new club course here. For the 72-hole medal competition spread over two days, nine prizes, totaling $1,000, have been offered.

Jose Jurado, runner-up in the British open, heads the list of South Americans, which includes three other Argentines, Marco Churio, Hector Frecoero and M. de Maria. Horton Smith, Joe Kirkwood, Willie Hunter, J. H. Forsman and Johnnie de Paolo are the North American entries.

The French contingent includes Arnaud Massey, dean of French golf; Aubrey and Percy Boomer, Britains living in France; Thomas Henry Cotton and Arthurs Havers, English stars, and Percy Allis, Berlin pro.

E. R. Whitcombe, another Englishman, is not defending his French open title against the field of 75 entries.

Sutter Advances At Tri-State Nets

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 8 (A.P.).—Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, today advanced through the third and fourth rounds of the thirty-first annual tri-State tennis tournament, defeating John Conway, Cincinnati, 6—1, 6—0, and Matson Tobin, Cincinnati, 6—2, 6—4.

Two Portsmouth (Ohio) players, Frank Blood and John Johnson, respectively, defeated Jim Dodd, Cincinnati, 6—3, 6—2, and Mel Zikes, Bloomington, Ind., 6—3, 6—4, and went into the fourth round.

Other results: Martin Buaxby, Austin, Tex., defeated Bill Chambers, Cincinnati, 6—1, 6—0, and Yama Guchi, Japan, defeated D. D. Driscoll, Cincinnati, 6—4, 6—4.

On defaults, Gordon Brown, Chicago, won from Francis Herfel, Cincinnati; Bruce Barnes, Austin, Tex., won from Edward Ardus, Cincinnati, and Karl Kamruth, Austin, won from Meyer Zeligis, Cincinnati.

Gordon Locke to Coach Football at Iowa U.

Railroad Baseball Teams Clash in Alexandria.

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., June 8.—Three teams will vie for honors in the Potomac Yard Baseball League, which opens for its fourth season tomorrow afternoon on Hunton Field at 5 o'clock.

The Mechanical Team, managed by Bill Johnson, which won the championship in 1930, will mix with the inspectors in the initial tussle. Bill Gates' Transportation Club is the other nine in the league.

Robert McDonald, D. C. Association umpire, probably will officiate all games in the league. The managers of the club are: Johnson, Mechanical; Gates, Transportation, and Spiller, Inspectors.

It is expected a good-sized crowd will trek to Hunton Field to witness the initial contest.

Charlie Horn, former St. Mary's star pitcher, won a game for the Fairmont Club, in the Mid-Atlantic League, yesterday, defeating Hagerstown, 6 to 1. Horne allowed five hits. He is one of the mainstays with the West Virginia nine.

The Del Ray Athletic Club tossers will meet the Columbia Cleaners and Dyers of Washington in next Sunday's tussle on Duncan Field.

Browns Beat Red Sox, 4-0, to Leave Cellar

Boston, June 8 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Browns climbed out of the American League cellar today by virtue of a 4-to-0 win over the Boston Red Sox, a loss which dropped the Sox to last place. Walter Stewart, St. Louis left-handed pitcher, was credited with the shutout. Dick Ferrell helped Stewart out by driving in two of the runs. Boston's seven hits were scattered.

FOXX CLOUTS 2 HOMERS AS A'S WIN

Detroit, Harris in Line-Up, Loses 3d in Row, 7-3.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8 (A.P.).—A four-run rally in the sixth inning enabled the world's champion Philadelphia Athletics to win their third straight of the series with Detroit today by 7-3. The victory was also the Athletics' sixth of the season over the Tigers in as many games.

Earl Whitehill, although beaten by Lefty Grove, who turned in his tenth victory of the season, held the Mackmen hitless for four innings. The first hit made off him was Jimmy Foxx's first of two home runs. Foxx's pair of circuit blows, the second hit with one on in the eighth, brought his season's total to thirteen and was his third in two days.

Harris Yanks Himself For Pinch Hitter.

Manager Bucky Harris appeared at second base for the Tigers and played until the ninth inning when he gave way to Alexander, who pinch hit for him. It was the first time Harris started a game for the Bengals in the role of player.

Mark Koenig, who did not have a fielding chance at short during the game, made four of the losers' seven hits and had a perfect day at bat.

MISS ORCUTT QUALIFIES ABROAD

Adds Round of 87 in British Play; Error Threatens Status.

PORTMARNOCK, Ireland, June 8 (A.P.).—One American girl, Maureen Orcutt, and 63 natives of England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales, swished and waded their ways around soggy Portmarnock course today for places in the match play for the British women's golf championship, starting tomorrow.

Leading the field was Miss Enid Wilson, English champion, whose round of 75 Saturday in the first qualifying round was considered remarkable under the adverse conditions. Today she needed 83, with the wind and rain even more severe, for a total of 158, 9 strokes better than Diana Fishwick, defending titleholder, and Wanda Morgan, who tied for second with aggregates of 167. Miss Fishwick had rounds of 87 and 80, and Miss Morgan 80 and 87.

Miss Orcutt Adds Round of 86.

"Fourth place went to Molly Gourlay with 83 and 85, and fifth to Miss Orcutt, Englewood, N. J., girl, who took an 87 today to add to an 82 Saturday for 169 and fifth place.

"Miss Orcutt barely escaped disqualification when her score first was reported to officials as 86 instead of 87. At the end of her round, Miss Oscutt overheard a conversation in which it was mentioned that she had a second round of 86, whereas she herself had calculated it at 87. From inquiries she ascertained she had been credited with a 5 on one hole where she took 6.

"Greatly excited, she searched for her marker, but was unable to find the official for nearly an hour. In the meantime, however, she went to the committee tent, where she declared her card had been marked wrong, since she knew that if the erroneous score were accepted finally she would be liable to disqualification.

"While discussion was taking place Miss Orcutt's marker was found, the error was cheeked, one stroke was added to the American girl's score for the round and the disturbing incident ended happily for her.

"Ranging behind Miss Orcutt's score through the 64 qualifying places were scores that took in as high as 100 for today's round and aggregates up to 191.

Many greens today were just puddles of water. One player, Miss D. Pimm, actually took off her shoes and stockings to wade in and retrieve her ball at the troublesome thirteenth hole where Miss Wilson took an eight, Miss Morgan and Miss Orcutt sixes.

Miss Orcutt is paired with Mrs. D. E. F. Soulby, who qualified with a 185 for the first round tomorrow. Miss Fishwick meets Miss R. Rabbidge, who qualified with a 183, while Molly Gourlay matches strokes with Mrs. J. Todd, who got in with a 184.

D. C. Physicians Win In Medical Golf Play

Special to The Washington Post.

Philadelphia, June 8.—Washington golfers figured among the prize winners in the field of nearly 100 players who competed in the annual tournament of the American Medical Golf Association tournament at the Aronomink Golf Club today. Dr. W. P. Reeves, from the National Capital, scored a net total of 146 for 36 holes, just one stroke behind Dr. S. Baysinger, Rolla, Mo., who took first prize. Dr. G. L. McKee, of Pittsburgh, scored 167 to land the gross prize for 36 holes. Dr. Jesse Shoup, another Washington golfer, was among the winners at eighteen holes with 85, three strokes behind the leader, while Dr. R. A. Keilty, also from the Capital, annexed first prize in the Kickers handicap event, returning a net card for his tournament.

Card of 150 Best at Richmond Where 5 D. C. Pros Fail.

Barnett, Armour and Larkin Unable to Make Grade.

THREE of the eleven Washington golf professionals who attempted to qualify for the national open tournament in the trials held throughout the country yesterday made the grade. They are Al Houghton, of Kenwood Club; Fred McLeod, of Columbia Country Club, and J. Monro Hunter, of Indian Spring.

Houghton led the field of 31 seeking to qualify at Richmond which included six Washington pros and one amateur. McLeod and Hunter qualified in the trials at the Oakmont Club, Pittsburgh. Bob Barnett, of Chevy Chase, and Alex Amour, of Congressional, failed to gain the qualifying circle at Oakmont. Gene Larkin, of Chevy Chase, the only Washingtonian in the trials at Philadelphia, also failed.

Houghton put together rounds of 73—77 for a total of 150 to lead at Richmond, repeating his feat of last year when his card was lowest in the trials.

Diffenbaugh Misses By 2 Strokes.

George Diffenbaugh, of Indian Spring with a card of 154, the result of rounds of 80 and 74, was two strokes without the qualifying pale. Mel Shorey, of East Potomac Park, was third among the Washingtonians with a card of 78—77—155. Al Treador, of Manor, scored a 79—81 for 160, and J. W. Harvey, an Indian Spring amateur, had a card of 83—82—165. Arthur B. Thorn, of Woodmont, and Walter Cunningham, of Burning Tree, failed to turn in cards of disastrous scores in the afternoon round.

McLeod's qualifying card at Oakmont in a field of 90 was 81—74—155, the diminutive Columbia pro making a brilliant comeback in the afternoon to land a place in the select circle, seven strokes behind the leader, Emil Loeffler, of the host club, who had a 73—75—144. Monro Hunter was a stroke behind McLeod with an 80—76.

Cards of 157 were the qualifying limit at Oakmont and both Barnett and Armour failed of this mark by a wide margin. Barnett followed his 82 in the morning with a big 86, for a 168 total, and Armour had 81—89—170.

Larkin Outside Fold.

At Philadelphia, Gene Larkin, assistant professional of the Chevy Chase Club, was six beyond the qualifying limit of 157 with his card of 82—81—163. Larkin went out in 39 in the morning, but slipped to a 43 on the inward holes, and could clip but one stroke off his score in the afternoon play. Among the qualifiers who were led by 19-year-old Robert Campbell, of Jenkintown, Pa., with a card of 72—80—152, was Ralph Beach, former Washington pro, now with the Suburban Club, of Baltimore, who had a score of 76—77—153.

The national open will be played at Inverness on July 2, 3 and 4.

Scores of the trials at Rochmond yesterday follow:

Al Houghton, Kenwood Country Club, Bethesda, Md., 73, 77—150.

Pat Petranck, Penrose Park Country Club, Reidsville, N. C., 74, 77—151.

George Slingerland, Greensboro, N. C., 79, 73—152.

George Diffenbaugh, Indian Spring Golf Club, Silver Spring, Md., 80, 74—154.

Cox Sets Record at Rye; Voigt Among Qualifiers

Rye, N. Y., June 8 (A.P.).—A record-smashing 64 on the first 18 holes enabled Wiffy Cox, Brooklyn pro, to lead the field by a wide margin in the national open golf qualifying round for the New York district playoff today at the Westchester Country Club.

Cox, whose sensational score in the first round broke the record for the south course, scored a 74 in the afternoon for a 36-hole total of 138, and a lead of seven strokes over his nearest rivals, Bobby Cruickshank, of Purchase, N. Y., and T. Philip Perkins, of Long Beach, former British amateur champion.

All, told, eleven professionals and two amateurs, Perkins and George Voigt, qualified in this district. Among those who failed to get in the qualifying limit were two former open champions, Cyril Walker, who held the title in 1924, and Willie Macfarlane, title-holder in 1925.

The qualifiers:

Wiffy Cox, Brooklyn	64	74—138
Bobby Cruickshank, Purchase	72	73—145

Navy's Crew Is Speeding Workouts

Wisconsin Only Other Boat to Try Out Title Course.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 8 (A.P.).—The first big parade of the training season on the Hudson took place this afternoon when Navy and Wisconsin covered the course within a few minutes of each other. Both went up the river with wind and tide.

The crews of the other four squads were on the water about the same time, but are deferring time trials until later in the week, which for some will be the concluding test before the I. R. A. regatta on June 18. Wisconsin's time for the 4 miles was announced as 21:32 1-5. Navy was caught unofficially at 21:30.

Boatings are intact, but changes are expected in the Penna Varsity possibly by tomorrow. Coach Gallow, of the Quakers, indicated today he thought one or two men in the first boat would not be able to stand up under the 4-mile grind, the Philadelphians having confined their rowing in the early season to short-distance races and practices.

UPSETS MARK PLAY FOR DISTRICT JUNIOR TENNIS TITLE

Boys' Choices Advance to Finals

Pitzenberg and Hunt Do Expected; Bob Doyle Beaten.

Perkins, Willis Score Surprise Victories in Junior Play.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

WHILE form was upset all over the courts at Sixteenth and Kennedy yesterday afternoon in the District junior championship, the favorite entered the finals of the boys' title in a match which more than tested his mettle. Happy Jacob, conqueror of Clyde Smith in the first round of the junior tournament, succumbed to Ricky Willis, and Al Perkins, virtually unknown, eliminated Len Nicholson, prep school champion. Nathan Ritzenberg was the boy concerned, and his victim in a more than well-played match, was Bob Doyle, last of a long line of tennising Doyles.

Ritzenberg reached the final round of the boys' dvision by his victory over his slight rival—a round in which he will meet Gilbert Hunt, heavily backed No. 1 seeded player, who twice has been runner-up to the title.

Ricky Willis, blond Devitt Prep star, looms as the favorite in the junior singles by reason of his straight set win over Jacob yesterday, 6—4, 6—2. Willis was better in all departments of play than the dark horse of the junior ranks. His steadiness in back court, and his ability to hit harder in the crucial moments, gave him big leads in each set.

Nicholson Appears Overconfident.

Nicholson made the error of taking Perkins' challenge without great seriousness and suffered the loss of a 6—1, 6—4 match. Even in the second set, with Perkins leading, 4—2, Nicholson appeared taking things a bit too easily, seemingly confident that his steadiness would eventually prevail.

Charles Daley, the lad who learned his tennis in Honolulu, entered the semifinal round by beating Glassie, Western High School player, 6—4, 6—2. The other semifinalists are Willis and Perkins.

Only one match was played in the boys' ranks yesterday, the Ritzenberg-Doyle affair, but it dominated the day's play in no uncertain manner. Doyle, hardly higher than a netpost, and not as heavy as one, put up a whale of a battle before yielding to his slightly larger and stronger and more well-rounded opponent. Doyle, son of Louis I. Doyle, former District champion, and nephew of Connie Doyle, greatest of all players produced in Washington, showed good form in all departments of the game, and also the need of more strength and stature.

Doyle, Ritzenberg Play Well.

Doyle overcame a 2—1 disadvantage in the first set to take Ritzenberg's serve and carry his own for a 3—2 lead. Here Ritzenberg held for 3—3 and games went with service until at 5—4 in his favor he outsteadied his opponent for the first set.

Still following the put and take system of playing, the boys went through the second set evenly, displaying at times tennis of a caliber superior to the Mitchell-Mangan match last week which decided the senior championship of the city. Ritzenberg once more lead, 5—4, but Doyle swung his 70-odd pounds into his service to such good effect that he evened matters at 5—5 on a love game, scoring one ace and sending up a perfect lob to boot.

Games went with service again until Ritzenberg led, 8—7, neither boy being able to sum up enough consistency to stem the service tide. But here Doyle faltered, falling prey to one bad bounce and a splendid chop for 0—30. He won the next point, but netted a seemingly easy overhead to give Ritzenberg match point. Then Doyle finished by double faulting.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

ACCORDING to the records of the D. A. R., there are only six real daughters of the American Revolution, and strange as it seems, two of these are sisters. Henry Pool, the father of these sisters, Mrs. Mary Pool Newsom and Miss Sarah Pool, who are now living in Gibson, Ga., was born in Boston, Mass., in 1761, 170 years ago. He saw the battle of Bunker Hill and served the soldiers on Copps Hill nearby with water.

The two children now living were born to Henry Pool's third wife, and according to the family Bible the youngest was born when Pool was 90 years old!

Vittorio Zanelli probably has the most aggressive silk worm in the world. This rare worm, known as the weaver worm, instead of spinning a cocoon, turned out a beautiful piece of ribbon that measured 3½ yards long by 6 inches wide.

—Washington Park Selections—
By J. B. SNODGRASS.

WASHINGTON PARK RACE TRACK, Chicago, June 8.—The main attractions on the ordinary week-day card at the Washington Park course will be a pair o allowance affairs. One will be contested over the six-furlong sprint distance, while the cofeature will be decided at the mile and an eighth route. In these two events small but evenly matched fields will face the barrier.

The three-quarter mile dash, fifth race, which attracted a list of eight contestants in the overnight event, should result in a victory for H. P. Headley's HOT SHOT. This 5-year-old has shown a liking for muddy footing and appears well placed in this number. LEROS has trained briskly after a short rest and is given the place call. BETTY DERR is dropping down in company and may finish closer than third.

Only five names were received in the entry box for the sixth heat, the cofeature. NOSTAW, from the Miss B. Watson string, has raced consistently in his previous efforts and against this small field figures to romp to an easy victory. A superior muddier, JIMMY MORAN, must be conceded the place, with ROYOL JULIAN, a speedy worker, as the show selection. CHIEF JOHN and MORPHEUS, the other starters, appear outclassed.

FIRST RACE—The Leiter entry of DIS DAT and HOOSIER PRINCE figures to annex the open. Both youngsters are on edge and either is capable of graduating in the event of a scratch. K. RUSSELL has disappointed in recent starts, but may furnish stern opposition over the muddy track. ADSUM has enjoyed a short rest and should get into the money.

SECOND RACE—NO MORE, from the C. Davidson Stable, scored impressively last outing and under the same conditions should repeat here. The FRIAR ROCK gelding will have BAGGAGE MAID to fear. This clever miss has shown speed in sprints and figures to force the pace. ILIUM, W. J. Zeigler's smart 3-year-old, has raced with better company, but may falter in the going. However, he should last to gain the minor award.

THIRD RACE—ANITA ORMONT, a fast-stepping juvenile in the W. F. Axton stable, is gifted with a high turn of speed and is selected to win. The Axton colorbearer is bred for mud, and on her recent excellent performances will be difficult to beat. ESCOBA LAND has shown some fair efforts, but it is doubtful if she can carry her impost of 112 pounds over the distance. However, the Simmons filly is favored for the runner-up position. LITTLE COUSIN has trained well and appears best of the others for the show.

FOURTH RACE—NIGHT COMMANDER has the speed of this contingent and should account for the major part of the purse. He will encounter stern opposition from LAHOR and BLACK BELT. The former is a confirmed mud-runner and is capable of extending the top one. The latter displayed speed in her initial winning efforts here, and under an energetic ride may prove troublesome. CAMP PRINCE is dropping down in company and is an outside possibility.

SEVENTH RACE—CLASSY, owned by W. L. Johnson, finished second to Duellist last start and previously won over a heavy track. The gelded son of The Porter is favored to take down the important money in this event. RIFF RAFF stepped a mile in 1:45 3-5 as a final conditioner, and should furnish the opposition. MISS MARYLAND has scored over a heavy track and should get a part of the money.

JAMESTOWN PROVES MUD RUNNER

Cheers Stake Backers at Belmont by Win in Heavy Going.

NEW YORK, June 8 (A.P.).—George D. Widener's Jamestown, challenger for Twenty Grand's 3-year-old title in the Belmont Stakes next Saturday, today splashed through 1⅛ miles of sloppy going in 1:52 to win the Colin Purse at Belmont Park.

The purse was only $1,200, but the mighty son of St. James, winner of six of his seven starts as a juvenile, definitely answered the question as to his ability to run over any distance and any kind of a racing strip. At the end of today's race he was merely galloping, but finished out the 1⅛ miles in the good time of 2:07.

Shows Slop Is No Handicap.

It was the first attempt of Jamestown to run over anything except a fast track, but he appeared perfectly at home in the slop and, under "Pony" McAtee's guidance, finished four lengths in front of J. E. Davis' Gigantic. W. S. Salmon's Mad Career was third and last.

Jamestown reeled off the half mile in 0:47 2-5 seconds, hit the 6-furlong pole in 1:14 3-5 and was clocked in 1:38 4-5 for the mile. He carried 124 pounds, 2 less than he will pack Saturday, but the time for the 1⅛ miles was only 3 3-5 seconds off the track record.

Jamestown's performance came as an answer to Twenty Grand's brilliant workout over the training track, which is several seconds slower than the main course. Jimmy Rowe sent the Kentucky Derby winner 1⅝ miles and he was fighting for his head during the entire trip.

He stepped the half ile in 0:53, 6 furlongs in 1:17 3-5, the mile in 1:45 3-5, 1⅛ miles in 1:58 3-5, 1¼ miles in 2:12, and finished out the furlong in 2:26 3-5.

Farrell Ousted From Post As Marlboro Track Head

Succeeded by J. B. Boyle, New Bowie Manager; Thomas Lynch Made Assistant by Directors' Action.

JOSEPH FARRELL was yesterday ousted as manager of the Marlboro race track and fair by the directors of the Fair Association, and Joseph B. Boyle, who succeeded Farrell as manager of the Bowie track, was elected manager of the annual Marlboro event.

John A. Farrell, brother of Joseph, was also replaced as assistant manager by Thomas Lynch, who is assistant manager at Bowie. All the other directors and officers were re-elected.

Vernon Cook, attorney for the majority stockholders of the Bowie and Marlboro tracks, said that no attempt had been made to select other officers. It had been rumored that an effort would be made at the meeting yesterday to choose another president to replace M. Hampton Magruder.

The action yesterday is another step in the fight which the majority stockholders have been carrying on against the Farrell brothers. At a meeting of the Bowie directors early last month John Farrell lost his place as assistant manager and Joseph Farrell was given the post of vice president as the result of a compromise between the stockholders and the directors, who are said to favor the Farrells. They were unable to retain him as manager.

Mr. Boyle and Mr. Lynch now hold the same positions at both the Bowie and Marlboro tracks, which are closely affiliated. The majority of the stock of both tracks is owned by the same persons, and the two boards of directors are made up of the same men.

5 PLAYERS BREAK 80 IN COLUMBIA TOURNAMENT QUALIFYING

76 by Burnett And Merrill Top Field

Low Scores Indicate 80 as Limit in First Sixteen.

Stevinson Shoots 82; Howell Among 150 Playing Today.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

THE first day of the three days' qualification round of the Columbia Club invitation golf tournament yesterday was remarkable for the fact that lower scores were turned in than had marked the first day's qualification since the season opened a month ago with the competition at the Washington Golf and Country Club's event.

This was undoubtedly due to the fact that the course was in championship condition, both as to fairways and greens, and also because the golfers are now becoming accustomed to playing summer rules, where the ball must be played as it lies.

No less than five players were under 80 and, with the field which is scheduled for today as well as a strong entry list tomorrow, the probability is that no score under 80 will qualify for the first sixteen, although last year no less than six players with cards of 76 played off for positions in the championship flight. The leaders yesterday were Volney Burnett, Beaver Dam, with 40—36—76, and C. M. Merrill, unattached, with 41—35—76. Bradley H. Burrows, recent runner-up in the Chevy Chase tournament, started with two 6s for a total of 43 on the first nine, but came back in 34, one under par, for a total of 77.

Peacock Close Behind Leaders.

Close behind the leaders were Roger Peacock, Argyle, who had 39—39—78, as against the 71 with which he tied for the medal score in the Columbia tournament last year, and Thorp D. Drain, Washington, who, after an indifferent outward round of 43, came back in 36, for a total of 79. Burnett, Merrill, Burrows, Peacock and Drain were the only quintet of players to break 80 during the day. The cards of the three leaders:

Out—
Burnett	4	5	4 3 6 4 4 4 6—40
Merrill	7	4	4 6 4 4 4 4—41
Burrows	6	6	5 4 6 4 4 3 5—43
In—
Burnett	4	4	4 3 4 5 3 5—36—76
Merrill	4	5	4 3 4 4 3 4—35—76
Burrows	4	4	5 3 5 4 2 3 4—34—77

Miller B. Stevinson, who has the distinction of benig the first Columbia Club member whose name is inscribed upon the Wardman Trophy which is the principal prize in the tournament, could not do better than 82, having expended fifteen strokes on the first three holes for 42 in the first nine, coming home in 40. B. Warren Corkran, of the Baltimore Country Club and winner of many Maryland and other sectional championships, who was Stevinson's partner, finished with 85. An unusual score was recorded by D. C. Gruver, who, although he was six strokes over par for the first six holes, gathered himself together for a total of 82 for the complete round, which virtually lands him in the second sixteen.

Howell to Play Today.

With approximately 150 golfers teeing off yesterday, there are still over 400 golfers scheduled for the qualification round today and tomorrow. In the list today are William R. Howell, twice consecutive winner of the Middle Atlantic championship and winner of the Columbia event last year; J. Monro Hunter, jr., Indian Spring, and medalist at Woodmont; Everett Eynon, champion of the Columbia Club; W. C. Evans, who tied for the medal at Columbia last year with Roger Peacock; Charles W. Cole, jr., winner of the second sixteen at Indian Spring; Thomas S. Pitt, who won the consolation in the first sixteen at Washington Golf and Country; Jack Powell, junior champion of the Columbia Club, and many other players who have substantial victories to their credit.

With an equally strong field tomorrow and with an unusually large number of low scores recorded yesterday, it is evident that the struggle for qualification will be intense. The scores under 100 yesterday:

76—Volney Burnett, Beaver Dam; C. M. Merrill, unattached.
77—Bradley H. Burrows, unattached.
78—Roger Peacock, Argyle.
79—Thorp D. Drain, Washington.
80—P. H. Coleman, Beaver Dam.
81—B. B. Bowen, Argyle.
82—D. C. Gruver, Washington; John M. Downey, unattached; B. Noble Cook, unattached; Miller B. Stevinson, Columbia.
83—W. W. Jones, Congressional.
86—Dr. Thomas D. Webb, Washington; George J. Richardson, Indian Spring; Charles N. Andrew, jr., Indian Spring; Robert A. Mihills, Indian Spring; B. Warren Corkran, Baltimore Country Club.
88—Howard E. Regan, unattached; W. M. Smale, Loudoun County Country Club; J. H. Davidson, unattached; W. N. Baldwin, Manor; L. M. Parker, Congressional; Dr. J. McEvoy, Congressional; A. L. Vanderlyn, jr., Congressional; L. K. Downey, Congressional.
87—Reeve Lewis, jr., Chevy Chase; Capt. M. P. Mears, U. S. N., Chevy Chase.
88—T. M. Mather, Washington.
89—H. H. Rosnley, Beaver Dam; William Thrasher Morton, Washington; Herbert Ealen, Indian Spring; W. S. Foster, unattached; C. W. Dunning, Berlin, Germany.
90—G. C. Brown, Kenwood; M. C. List, Washington; A. J. Walker, Congressional.
91—C. H. Giroux, Congressional; George W. McCarter, Indian Spring.
92—Joseph T. Kirchner, Bannockburn; W. W. Seay, Beaver Dam; J. M. Cutts, unattached; Dwight N. Burnham, Manor.
93—J. O. Reilly, Argyle; C. C. Ward, unattached; C. A. Bennett, Congressional; J. A. White, Bannockburn.
94—J. H. Smith, unattached; O. W. Goddard, Beaver Dam.
95—W. H. Clampitt, unattached; Russell Edwards, Manor; J. H. Shepperd, Congressional; D. Lynch Younger, Columbia.
96—W. N. Takes, Indian Spring; R. C. Leary, Columbia.
97—A. J. Hendley, unattached.
98—C. C. Kaemmerer, Beaver Dam; R. D. White, Beaver Dam; C. B. Molster, unattached; John S. Bryan, Washington; E. C. Kellogg, unattached.

Army-Navy Women In Tie.

The women's tournament at the Army-Navy Club yesterday, under the auspices of the Women's District Golf Association, resulted in a tie between Mrs. Ora Emge, Beaver Dam, 93—15—78, and Mrs. T. M. Shock, Army-Navy, 95—17—78, for the cup offered by Mrs. William A. Angwin, chairman of the women's golf committee of the Army-Navy Club. In the draw Mrs. Emge was the fortunate winner. Mrs. W. F. Holtzman, Army-Navy, was the third winner with 98—18—80. Mrs. Alma von Steinner, Beaver Dam, was the low gross winner with a card of 91.

Other low gross winners were Mrs. E. A. Knox, Congressional, 95; Mrs. W. E. Hall, Washington, 96; Mrs. J. O. Rhyne, Congressional, 96; Miss Dorothy Hunter, Indian Spring, 97, and Mrs. Frank R. Keefer, Chevy Chase, 98. Mrs. Hewitt, Army-Navy, won the low net for nine holes, and other prize winners were Mrs. L. Hedrick, Army-Navy; Mrs. W. J. Clear, Washington; Mrs. L. Lawler, Mrs. J. L. Pieser, Mrs. R. W. Orr, Mrs. J. F. Dowdall and Mrs. F. D. Letts.

Announcement was made yesterday that on next Sunday, June 14, members of the Columbia Club will be the guests on the Washington Golf and Country Club at a field day party. It is expected that between 100 and 200 of the Columbia Club members will accept this invitation for an event which in the past has been the most successful get-together party of the golfing season.

MIRACLES OF SPORTS. —By Robert Edgren

Cotton, New Coaching Aid At C. U., Has Good Record

Grid Teams Averaged Better Than .500, With Court Teams Even More Successful, Winning Conference Title in 1928.

IN acquiring the services of Forrest C. Cotton, formerly of St. Ambrose College, as assistant football coach and head coach in basket ball, Catholic University has added to its coaching staff a veteran of eight years' successful experience.

Information received yesterday by Arthur J. Bergman, Catholic U. athletic director, from Davenport, Iowa, where St. Ambrose is located, revealed that for the past eight years Cotton's teams in football have averaged over .500 in victories, and over .750 in basket ball.

Iowa Conference Court Title Win in 1928.

Cotton, who is 30 years of age, married, and father of two children, has been largely responsible for the prestige St. Ambrose has gained in Iowa Conference athletics. His basket ball team in 1928 won the conference championship with a record of 20 victories and 2 losses.

Members of Cotton's teams in both football and basket ball frequently have been named for all-Iowa and all-conference honors. Bill O'Connor, now a student at the Sulpician Seminary here, was the first St. Ambrose basket ball player to merit all-State recognition, being named a forward on the honor team in 1928.

Cotton was a freshman at Notre Dame in 1919 when Director Bergman was a senior under Knute Rockne. In his sophomore year, Cotton was awarded a monogram as a tackle and the next two years found him playing regularly for the Irish. In his last season, he was prominently mentioned for all-American honors, especially in the East where he had played against Army in a 0-0 game. He was chosen unanimously for the all-Western eleven.

Cotton was born in Elgin, Ill., and lived there until the completion of his course at Notre Dame in 1923.

Annual W. & L. Race To Harry Lee Crew

Special to The Washington Post.

Lexington, Va., June 8.—Hundreds of alumni, students and visitors gathered on the banks of the North River here this afternoon to watch the red of Harry Lee sweep to victory in the fifty-first boat race between the Albert Sydney and Harry Lee crews of Washington and Lee University.

Since its inception in 1874, the races between the two crews have been a feature of commencement week programs, and alumni still keep their strong attachments for the two boats.

Stroked by Earl Richmond, of Flint, Mich., the Harry Lee crew jumped into a half-length lead at the start, a mile and an eighth up the river and at the bend, a half-mile from home, it was in front by two lengths, and gradualy widened its lead until three lengths of open water showed at the finish. Charles Peaper, St. Louis, Mo., rowed No. 1; Dave Nichols, Providence, R. I., rowed No. 2; Capt. H. B. Heaps, Pylesville, Md., rowed No. 3, and Albert O. Burks, Roanoke, Va., was the coxswain.

The time for the distance was 4:50.

PEFFER STAR IN STATE VICTORY

Hyattsville High Beats Annapolis, 6 to 3, to Advance.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, June 8.—Hyattsville High Baseball Team, Prince Georges County title holder, advanced to the third round in the State championship series by defeating Annapolis High, Anne Arundel County standard bearer, 6 to 3, in Patterson Park hree this afternoon.

The Prince Georgeans took the lead in the first inning and added steadily to their advantage as the game progressed.

Francis Peffer, Hyattsville's mound ace, allowed only six hits, all singles, and struck out thirteen. Meanwhile the winners were combing the delivery of Wytych, Annapolis hurler, for eleven bingles.

Jack Sheriff, first baseman, and Curly Byrd, jr., second baseman, led Hyattsville's attack with three safeties apiece. Kane, Annapolis catcher got two of his team's hits.

Detroit Doctor Heads Medical Golf Body

Philadelphia, June 8 (A.P.).—Dr. Frank A. Kelly, of Detroit, was elected president of the American Medical Golf Association today. Dr. J. G. McKee, of Pittsburgh, shot 167 to win the annual tournament held in connection with the American Medical Association meeting.

Dr. Homer K. Niccoll of Chicago, was elected first vice president, and Dr. William J. Burns, of Detroit, executive secretary.

Virginia Trout Season Will Close Sunday

Richmond, Va., June 8 (A.P.).—M. D. Hart, executive secretary of the Virginia commission of game and inland fisheries, today called attention to the fact that the brook and rainbow trout season ends June 14, while the season for taking black and rock bass or red-eye opens June 15 throughout the State.

The bag limit on the latter is 15 a day and 150 a season; length limit—black bass, 10 inches; rock bass, or red-eye, 6 inches, measured from tip of nose to tip of tail.

A license is required to fish with live minnows and artificial bait or to use rod and reel. The present combination, hunting, fishing and trapping license is good until June 30. On July 1 the 1931 license will be required. It then will be good for twelve months.

Former G. U. Track Star Likely to Succeed O'Reilly

Hilltop Authorities to Announce Selection Soon, Is Indication; G. U. and O'Reilly Silent on Resignation.

A FORMER Georgetown University track star is being seriously considered for the position of track coach to succeed John D. O'Reilly, who resigned recently after seventeen years of service at the Hilltop. The Post learned last night on good authority. Appointment of the new coach will be announced some time this month, possibly this week, it was indicated.

While the prospect's name was withheld, it was said that he is a resident of Washington and a well-known official for amateur and collegiate track meets throughout the East. During his career at the Hilltop he was one of the best-known figures in Eastern collegiate athletics.

Speculation among Georgetown adherents yesterday was divided between the question of O'Reilly's reasons for suddenly relinquishing his post and the matter of securing a new coach, with the former developing nothing tangible nor any comment either from O'Reilly or Hilltop officials.

O'Reilly Resigned Last Saturday.

O'Reilly, whose reputation for producing stellar track and baseball teams is known throughout the country, handed his resignation to the Rev. W. Coleman Nevils, S. J., president of the university, last Saturday morning. Father Nevils immediately accepted the resignation without comment and O'Reilly himself made public his action, though declining to explain.

In the absence of a statement from Father Nevils, who has been busily engaged with graduation ceremonies, The Post last night queried Father Peter V. Mas

A. C. Crounse Heads Society to Meet Wednesdays on Glebe Road.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The Kiwanis Club of Arlington County was perfected at a meeting last night in the Arlington Trust Building at Rossyln with election of Amos C. Crounse as its first president.

Other officers are: Dr. J. [illegible] Walton, vice president; W. Thomas French, secretary-treasurer, and Macon Ware, district trustee. Members of the board of trustees are: Dr. J. Ed Payne, Henry J. Klinge, Frank L. Wolfork, Commander S. G. Green, Maj. J. H. Pirie and Allen B. Prosise.

The club will hold its weekly luncheon meetings Wednesday at Windsor Arms, Glebe road.

The county board of supervisors having announced that it will indorse the traffic survey sponsored by the National Capital Park and Planning Commission and the Bureau of Public Roads, the board of directors of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce will have the subject before it as special topic at a meeting tonight in the Kelly Building at Clarendon.

While no official action has been taken by the chamber of commerce it is known that a number of the members of the board are in favor of the project an it is expected unanimous approval will be given.

Election of officers will be principal business at monthly meeting of the Ashton Woman's Club tonight at 8 o'clock in the clubhouse on Clarendon avenue.

Funeral services for Walter F. Upfold, of Cherry Valley street, Ballston, who died at Georgetown Hospital, Washington, Sunday, will be conducted from the residence tomorrow at 12 o'clock by the Rev. Henry J. Miller, rector of St. George's Episcopal Church. Interment will be in the Columbia Gardens Cemetery.

Mr. Upfold, who was a bricklayer, was a veteran member of the Ballston Volunteer Fire Department and served at one time in the position of financial secretary and treasurer.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Beatrice Upfold, he is survived by two daughters, Edith Upfold and Mrs. Louise Collins, and one son, Harold Upfold.

The ladies' auxiliary to the Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department will hold its monthly meeting tonight at the firemen's hall at 8 o'clock. Concluding a short business meeting there will be an apron and necktie box social.

Leeways Citizens Association will meet tonight in the auditorium of the Robert E. Lee School at 8 o'clock.

Parent-Teacher Association of the Robert E. Lee School will give the children of the school a luncheon Friday noon as part of the program for closing of school that afternoon.

Chief A. C. Scheffel, of the Arlington Volunteer Fire Department, announces appointment of the following members to serve on his committee on arrangements for the annual firemen's carnival the week of July 13: Charles Snoote, Carl Scheffel, Thomas J. Snoots, Daniel Ritnour, William McAtee and Elmer J. Blackmer.

Suit for divorce was filed in the county clerk's office yesterday by Harold Smith Brooks against Selma Elizabeth Brooks.

Charged with reckless driving, John E. Harrod was fined $14.25, including costs, by Bryan Gordon, assistant police court judge.

Judge Gordon declared he had no sympathy with persons charged with reckless driving. It is a most dangerous practice, he said, and warned the defendant that if brought before him again he would receive a jail sentence.

Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department will hold its annual carnival in the park ground opposite the firehouse, beginning Monday, June 15, and continuing through Saturday evening.

Proceeds will be applied to the building fund being raised to provide additional room for housing fire equipment.

Dancing will be a feature each evening and will be in charge of Chief Herbert F. Smith.

Members of the department in charge of stands will be Robert Baillie and S. O. Krigbaum, candy stand; Winnard Caton, ice cream; M. Munder, soft drink stand; C. M. Austin, lunch stand; Steven Childs, bingo stand; J. W. Sweker, popcorn stand; M. Saunders, the paddle stand.

There will be a grocery, meat and aluminum stand and a Ferris wheel. The committee announces there will be special attractions each evening.

Continuing its building program, the Arlington County School Board will open bids tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock for addition of eight rooms to the Jefferson Colored School and fourteen rooms to the Patrick Henry School.

In adding eight rooms to the Jefferson Colored School, County Superintendent Fletcher Kemp announces that facilities will be furnished to carry on a high school course for colored pupils in the county.

Plans and specifications have been prepared by State Architect Raymond V. Long. Cost of these additions will come from the school bond issue of 1930.

Colored elementary schools of the county will hold their seventeenth annual commencement exercises Monday evening at the Calloway Methodist Episcopal Church at Halls Hill, Arlington County. Invocation will be given by the Rev. E. W. Johnson.

Dr. Roscoe C. Brown, of the United States Public Health Service, is announced as principal speaker. Program will include recitations by Myrtle Plummer, of Kemper School, and Gwendolyn Points, of John Langston School. Diplomas will be presented by County School Superintendent Fletcher Kemp.

ALEXANDRIA OPENS MASONIC REUNION

Scottish Rite Gathering Is Begun With Initiation; 25 Get Degrees.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria. 523.

The annual spring reunion of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, Southern jurisdiction, Valley of Alexandria, Orient of Virginia, was opened in the Cameron street Masonic Temple yesterday, when degrees were conferred upon 25 candidates. Delegates from Winchester, Strasburg, Fredericksburg, Harrisonburg, Front Royal, Clarendon, Quantico and other points in northern Virginia were present. H. H. Porter, of Clarendon, venerable master of Washington Memorial Lodge of Perfection, is sponsoring the reunion. Percy E. Clift is general chairman. The reunion will close Thursday night with an elaborate banquet in George Mason Hotel.

Those participating in degree work were A. A. Paul, venerable master; W. L. Allen, senior warden; F. S. Travers, junior warden; C. C. Wenrich, crator; R. W. Nixon, master of ceremonies; F. I. Hastings, expert; J. H. Kretchmer, assistant expert, and L. P. Chauncey, captain of the host.

The following committees are actively engaged in the reunion:

Executive, P. E. Clift, chairman; H. H. Porter, C. C. Batcheller, L. P. Chauncey and C. C. Wenrich; publicity, J. W. Tulloch, chairman; program, Harry H. Newton, chairman; work schedule and dates, B. J. Richards and H. A. Lipscombe; petitions, C. C. Wenrich, chairman; John C. Cox, vice chairman; J. M. Duncan, F. S. Travers, J. H. Fisher, Thomas Chauncey, George West and R. W. Nixon; luncheon and dinner, John H. Trimyer, chairman; music, Samuel E. Wade, chairman; J. L. Scruggs, J. M. Doble, C. W. Sutton, A. H. Friedlander, D. C. Thomson and Frank Wolford; entertainment, Harry H. Newton, chairman; Roger C. Sullivan, Percy Cranford, A. Slater Lamond, Clyde C. Lamond, jr., Charles H. Callahan and F. C. Schondau; decorations and property, B. W. Pullin, chairman; F. S. Travers and William Baader; electric, B. K. Smith, chairman; directors of work, B. J. Richards and H. A. Lipscombe; class director, A. M. Sherwood; captain of drill team, F. I. Hastings, and reception, Robert S. Barrett.

A grand jury in the corporation court, Judge William P. Woolls presiding, returned eight true bills, and refused to indict in one case. The cases were presented by Commonwealth's Attorney Albert V. Bryan. William A. Smoot is foreman of the jury.

Among indictments returned was one against Joe Mardo, of New York, who allegedly entered the home of Councilman Arthur Herbert on the night of May 12 and was shot by Policeman Roberts while attempting to escape. Mardo was indicted for burglary.

Walter C. Gardner, of Washington, was indicted for alleged perjury in connection with a divorce case heard here last year. The indictment charged that the alleged perjury was committed October 16, 1930, consisting, according to the Commonwealth's attorney, of a claim that Gardner was domiciled and a resident of Virginia, and that his wife had deserted him for a period of three years.

Other indictments returned were: George Jones, shooting James Field, March 15, 1931; Charles Wallace, attempting to rob Miss Christine Coffey, December 27, 1930; George Allen, William Davis and Warren Jones, assault; Joe Miller, grand larceny, it being alleged he took an automobile belonging to Edward Lee, on May 13.

No true bill was returned in the case of Dewey Welch, charged with having entered and robbed the shop of John Payne. Welch, while a prisoner in the city jail, was taken ill and removed to the Alexandria Hospital, from which he made his escape and has never been apprehended.

The Rev. Dr. E. V. Regester will speak at the meeting today at 12:30 o'clock of the Rotary Club, at George Mason Hotel. Judge William S. Snow, president, will preside, and Joseph Everly will be in charge of the program and introduce the speaker.

Miss Sybil Baker, of Washington, director of playgrounds, will speak at the annual supper given by the Business and Professional Women's Club in honor of the seventh grade girls of the public schools, at 6:30 o'clock this evening in the George Mason Hotel. Miss Louise Howlett, education chairman, and Mrs. Albert M. Briggs, program chairman, are in charge of arrangements.

The new ambulance of the Alexandria Fire Department made a trip to Fredericksburg yesterday to bring George M. Belew, of 238 West Lloyd avenue, Potomac, to his home from Mary Washington Hospital, Fredericksburg, where he had been taken after having both legs broken in an automobile accident.

Class night exercises were held last night at St. Mary's Academy, with a play, "The Making of Miss 1931," presented by the pupils. The address to the graduates was by the Rev. John S. Igoe.

Graduating exercises will be held at the academy this morning, when fourteen will receive diplomas.

Members of St. Mary's Alumnae will entertain the graduates at dinner this evening at the Belle Haven Country Club.

The State Industrial Commission yesterday heard five cases for compensation for accident, the session being held in the city council chamber. The cases included the following: James M. Lazard, against the Board of Supervisors of Arlington County; Malachia Adams, by Dr. Edward Gorman, claimant, against Washington Concrete Products Co. and U. S. P. & G. Co.; Frank Cockrell, against the city of Alexandria; James D. East, jr., against American Oil Co.; R. L. Raynes, against Merritt-Chapman & Scott Corporation; Preston German, against Alexandria Iron Works; Neal Cole, against Hires-Turner Glass Co.

The funeral of Mrs. Ada Kurtz, who died Friday in Alexandria Hospital, was held yesterday at the Wheatley funeral home, conducted by the Rev. Dr. D. L. Snyder, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and burial was in Union Cemetery.

Pallbearers were nephews of the deceased, George E. Warfield, George Burroughs, Edgar Warfield, jr., Arthur K. Warfield, George O. Baker and Courtland Warfield.

Charles E. Pettit died on Sunday at his home, 113 South Royal street, and the body was taken to the home of his sister, Mrs. John Rusin, 532 North Washington street. He was the son of the late Joseph and Amelia Pettit.

The funeral of Edwin L. Cockrell, who died on Saturday in Washington, will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at the S. H. Hines funeral parlors, 2901 Fourteenth street northwest, Washington, conducted by the Rev. Dr. D. L. Snyder, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, this city. Burial will be in Bethel Cemetery.

Egan Death Driver Under $5,000 Bond

Labor Editor's Rites to Be Held Tomorrow at St. Patrick's.

Clarence Worthy is held for the action of a Prince Georges County grand jury in connection with the death Sunday of James P. Egan, editor of the weekly bulletin of the American Federation of Labor, who was killed in an auto accident in Riverdale, Md.

According to testimony offered to the coroner's jury which held Worthy, Mr. Egan had started to walk across the road and had become entangled in the traffic when he was hit by Worthy's car. The accident occurred in Riverdale near Mr. Egan's home. Worthy, who gave an address on Girard street northwest near Thirteenth street, is held for bond of $5,000. The inquest was held and the bond set by Judge Robert E. Altemus, Bladensburg.

Funeral services for the dead man will be tomorrow at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's Church. He will be buried in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

5 Students Under Lee Honored by Fraternity

Lexington, Va., June 8 (A.P.).—Five "Lee Boys," alumni of Washington and Lee University who attended Washington College when Gen. Robert E. Lee was president, were initiated today into Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic society. They are Thomas J. Arnold, Elkins, W. Va.; Dr. S. H. Chester, Passaic, N. J.; Judge Robert Ewing, Nashville, Tenn.; Judge Stafford G. Whittle, Martinsville, Va., and Gen. Henry T. Wickham, Richmond.

Three others, Judge William H. Tayloe, Uniontown, Ala.; Col. Jo Lane Stern, Richmond, and G. A. Mahan, Hannibal, Mo., were unable to attend.

Second Woman Dies After Car Accident

Petersburg, Va., June 8 (A.P.).—Mrs. John Omelia, of Floral Park, N. Y., died at a hospital here today from injuries received in an automobile accident yesterday in which her sister, Mrs. Mabel Doggett, also of Floral Park, was instantly killed.

Mrs. Omelia was driving the car which overturned after a rear tire burst. Mrs. Doggett was pinned under the machine.

FORMER RESIDENT OF CAPITAL IS DEAD

Judge W. A. Milliken Taken by Death in Montreal; Was Confederate.

Judge William Alfred Milliken, for many years a resident of this city, died Saturday in Montreal, Canada, it was learned here yesterday.

Judge Milliken was born in Fayette County, Tenn., the son of the Rev. Leonard Hugh and Mary Lavinia Milliken. He enlisted in the Confederate Army when 15 years old, and served in the Thirteenth Tennessee Regiment. He was made a sergeant major at the age of 17. Following the war, he returned to his father's plantation, where he took up the study of law. He was appointed to the bench in Clarksville, Tenn., in 1879, but later went to Nashville, where he took over the duties as professor of law at Vanderbilt University.

While in Nashville, Judge Milliken founded the law firm of Milliken & Vertriss, and was coauthor of the Vertriss-Milliken code and author of the Milliken Digest.

For several years Judge Milliken lived abroad, and on returning to his home State was elected to the State Assembly, and served as a member of both the lower and upper houses.

Surviving Judge Milliken are five children, Humphreys and Lavinia Milliken, of Montreal; Mrs. Walter Woods, of Los Angeles, Calif., and the Misses Rhoda Jameson and Elizabeth Crawford Milliken, of this city; a brother, Benjamin Harrison Milliken, of Arlington County, Va., and a sister, Mrs. Frank Wright, of Sulphur Springs, Ark. He also leaves four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock from St. Paul's Church. Interment will be in Rock Creek Cemetery.

NEW STUDENT PLANS MADE AT ANNAPOLIS

Summer Aviation Study for Second Classmen Gets Under Way.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., June 8.—The summer schedule of academic routine at the Naval Academy was placed in operation today when 456 midshipmen of the second class entered upon an intensive course in aviation. Meanwhile, authorities of the institution were makng preparatons to recrut the new fourth class.

Aviation was added to the Academy curriculum only a few years ago and the future officers have manifested a keen interest in it. The course is designed to fit students for advanced work following their graduation if they elect to enter the aviation service. Throughout the academic term certain phases of the work are included in regular studies, while the junior class is given a thorough course of the practical side during the summer months instead of going on the summer training cruise with the other two undergraduate classes.

A dozen planes have been assembled here with as many expert pilots, assistant pilots and other attendants, and the course is under direction of Commander Dewitt C. Ramsay, of the Naval Academy staff of instructors. The midshipmen are taught all phases of aviation, engineering, navigation, ordnance work and flight tactics.

The course includes a certain number of hours in the air for each student, during which he familiarizes himself with the finer points of air navigation, though he is not put at the controls.

A naval medical examining board will be convened at the Academy Friday to begin physical examinations of candidates for admission.

About 900 out of a total of 1,800 youths appointed this year were found qualified in examinations conducted in February and April under Civil Service regulations at various places throughout the counttry, and from this number officials of the academy expect to enroll a class of about 600, which would fill the number of existing vacancies.

In many cases, candidates who have passed the mental examination hold appointment as alternates and their chances of entering depend largely upon the success of the principal appointees.

The incoming class will be the last with a large enrollment for some time, unless Congress should see fit again to change the law governing appointments. An act of the last Congress reduced the number of appointments allowed each senator and representative from four to three. This law applies to next year's appointees, and it is estimated that the class recruited in 1932 will enroll fewer than 300.

Lawyer Is Facing Life Term in Jail

Former West Virginian on Trial in New York as Fourth Offender.

New York, June 8 (A.P.).—Clarence C. Mason, formerly a lawyer of Harrisonville, W. Va., went on trial in general sessions court today charged with being a fourth offender, facing the possibility that if convicted he will be sentenced to prison for life.

Assistant District Attorney Pilatsky introduced records of Mason's convictions in Washington County, Ohio, in 1916; Milwaukee, Wis., in 1918, and Tarrant County, Tex., in 1921. All convictions were for forgery.

The fourth conviction was in New York, November 7, 1930, for the forging of the name of Thomas J. Davis, a lawyer in Harrisonville, in a telegram asking the People's Bank of Harrisonville to forward $1,000 to a telegraph office. At the trial his attorney contended no forgery had been committed because the People's Bank had gone out of existence ten years before the telegram was sent.

C. U. Rector to Speak in New York.

The Right Rev. James H. Ryan, rector of the Catholic University, will deliver the commencement address at Manhattan College, in New York, today. He will also receive the honorary degree of LL. D.

OUR OWN TELEPHONE EMPLOYE AWARDS.

"Telephone Company awards Medals to Workers."—Headline.

TO Miss Anastasia Gommack, information operator, the Chauncey P. Shrewsbury gold medal for extraordinary and original conduct on the afternoon of January 5 at about ten after 3. When asked by a subscriber named Wimp for the telephone number of one Jeptha P. Doople, she found it and gave it to him promptly without at any time saying, "There is no telephone listed under that name. All we have is the Gregory K. Doople Wet Wash Laundry." The judges in making this award consider Miss Gommock's one of the outstanding performances of the last decade.

To Miss Clarice Tulliver, telephone operator, the Judson Goss silver medal for distinguished candor. When an irate user of the dial telephone, failing after four attempts to get his number, cried savagely: "I have dialed the number four times without results. How long is this outrage going to continue?" Miss Tulliver did not reply: "You must have dialed incorrectly. Will you please hang up and try again?" She replied with disarming frankness: "I agree with you that this dial system is lousy!"

* * * *

TO Miss Jessica Snodgrass, information operator, the League of Fair Play award for the display of rare courage and a fine spirit of independence. When abused roundly without justification by some jittery oaf, whose failure to get a connection was due to the fact he had asked for the wrong number, she said, "Aw, go jump off a barge!" and ignored him. While this type of treatment is not to be encouraged as a general thing, the league feels that Miss Snodgrass deserves recognition for proving that even the information girl is human and can crack under a strain.

To Gustave Empkus, telephone installation man, the National Subscribers Federation award of $500 for the New Subscribing Sorority to the manager who by any one act achieved outstanding distinction. To no person who called about a new telephone and asked for immediate installation did he snap: "I can't promise anything. It may take four or five weeks." On the contrary, he seemed glad to see a new subscriber, anxious to please and willing to do what he could to speed the installation.

EXPLAINING ALL.

"IS that an eight or a twelve?" asked the admirer of Mr. Twitchell's new automobile.

"Both," replied Elmer. "Eight cylinders; twelve payments."

"Tony Manero was another golfer who had trouble on the homeward journey. He finished the first nine in 38, but shot a poor 41 thereafter, for an 82."—New York Sun.

WHAT? NO PERSIAN PANBEARERS.

BUSINESS has turned the corner for chorus girls, if Mr. Earl Carroll is not spoofing. In a call for girls for his new show in his new theater he appeals to them in this manner: "Telephone in your air-dressing tables....A safe for your gems....A refrigerator for your flowers....An orchid room in which to read, write or rest....A maid to take your messages."

FAIRFAX TO ASK BIDS FOR SCHOOL HOUSES

Four Buildings to Be Erected by County; Bus Routes Will Be Revised.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The Fairfax County school board has authorized Divisional Superintendent Wilbert T. Woodson to advertise for bids for the erection of the new school building at Franconia, a new home economics building at Herndon, and the new colored schools at Floris and Cub run upon receipt of the plans now being prepared by the State architect's offices at Richmond. The bids are to be submitted to the board during the latter part of this month.

The school board has worked out tentative bus transportation routes for the next school year, which will entail the closing of several of the smaller schools of the county and the purchasing of several new school buses. The only change contemplated in Centerville district will be the closing of the Rock Hill School and the transportation of the pupils to the Centerville School. It was believed that this could best be done in private cars rather than by bus. Trustee John T. DeBell was authorized to make whatever arrangements necessary.

New Bus Routes Planned.

Three new bus routes are contemplated in Dranesville district. The present route from Colvin Run to Forestville and to Herndon will be continued. The closing of the Dranesville School will create a new route beginning at Dranesville and carrying grade school pupils to Forestville, there picking up the overflow of high school pupils from Forestville and doubling back over the same route to Herndon. Beginning at Dranesville the grade school pupils will be taken to Herndon. Under this plan two buses will cover the route from Forestville to Herndon. The one room schools at Vale and Navy will be closed and the Vale pupils transported to Fairfax and the Navy pupils to Floris.

There will probably be some changes in Mount Vernon district, but the final plans have not been completed, which will route the pupils from Snowden and Mount Vernon direct to the Lee-Jackson School and avoid the necessity of changing buses in Alexandria, as at present. Wakefield School, in Lee district, is to be closed and the pupils transported to Annandale. The children now being transported from Belle Aire to Fairview School, which is overcrowded, will be taken to the Burke School instead. In Falls Church district the Springfield to Annandale bus will be discontinued and the children will walk to the new Franconia School.

Results of Test Reported.

The results of the seventh grade standard tests were given by Mrs. Elsie A. Davis, supervisor of white schools, who pointed out that these tests showed the value of large consolidated schools over the small one or two room schools. In making her term report Mrs. Davis stated that she had visited all the schools of the county on an average of once a month. She listed as the four objectives with which she had started the year, improvement in classroom instruction, inspiration of a greater desire on the part of teachers for professional growth and training, improvement in classroom appearance and atmosphere and more attention to proper grading and careful promotion. She stated that she recommended that all the pupils be required to make an average of 75 per cent in every major subject as a requisite for promotion. Next year, she stated, she will stress the importance of more careful drilling in reading, arithmetic and English.

All persons who are interested in the sale of tuberculosis seals have been invited to attend a meeting this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Miss Jennie Moore, county tuberculosis seal chairman, at Fairfax. Miss Sula Fleeland, chairman of the northern Virginia seal district, will address the meeting.

The Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular meeting this evening in the Potters Hill School.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Columbia Baptist Church will hold a strawberry and ice cream festival and food sale this afternoon on the lawn of the home of J. L. Shotwell, on Broad street, in Falls Church. A committee of women will serve ice cream, strawberries, cake, candy and punch, beginning at 4 o'clock.

The Herndon home nursing class will hold a meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Russell A. Lynn, Fairfax County Red Cross chairman, in Herndon. The members of the class will make layettes under the supervision of Mrs. Harry Sager.

The Farmers and Mechanics Council, Order of Fraternal Americans, of Andrew Chapel, has nominated Walter Wynkoop as president; Willie Day, vice president; John W. Iden, warden; C. Ashley Money, inside sentinel; Lewis Wynkoop, outside sentinel, and Alpheus Burgess as chaplain for the ensuing term. The other officers of the lodge are elected each year in December.

The East Falls Church Citizens Association will hold its regular meeting this evening at the home of Mrs. Harry E. Moran.

The first meeting since the organization of the Falls Chrucn Chapter of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held this afternoon in the parsonage of the Southern Methodist Church at Falls Church.

Mrs. Harry B. Mitchell, president of the Fortnightly Club of Herndon, has appointed the following committees: Library, Mrs. Russell A. Lynn, Miss Elizabeth Leonhardt and Mrs. Arthur Hyde Buell; grounds, Mrs. Albert S. Bates, Mrs. Frederick W. Robinson and Mrs. Buell; program, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Marvin Perkins and Mrs. Nora Elmore; ways and means, Mrs. George Coberth, chairman, who is to select her own assistants.

The Colvin Run Community League will hold its regular monthly meeting this evening in the old Colvin Run school building. The league advanced its regular meeting night to decide whether or not to attempt to purchase the old schoolhouse for use as a community hall. A report will be made by a committee appointed by President Joseph Wheeler at a previous meeting, to investigate the possible source from which the league could borrow money to make the purchase. At the time the auditorium was added to the school a number of citizens of the community borrowed money for its construction from a bank in Georgetown on their personal notes. The school board later took over these notes.

The Colvin Run school building will be sold at public auction tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock by Division Superintendent Wilbert T. Woodson and School Trustee Joseph Murphy. The building, including one acre of land containing two classrooms, a large auditorium, with stage and dressing rooms and a basement fitted as a community kitchen. Many of these improvements in the building have been installed by the people of the community at their own expense.

The Community Library Association of McLean will hold a meeting this afternoon in the library to transact the regular business.

The executive committee of the Eastern Potomac Federation of the Baptist Young People's Union, of which the Fairfax County Churches are members, will hold a meeting this evening in Clarendon.

The Clifton Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, will hold its regular monthly meeting this evening in the Masonic Hall at Clifton Station.

MONTGOMERY BODY TO OPEN BOND BIDS

$200,000 in Courthouse Site Securities May Be Sold at Meeting Today.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post,
9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md.
Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

The Montgomery County Commissioners at noon today will oper bids for a $200,000 issue of Montgomery County Courthouse site bonds at their office in Rockville. The commissioners reserve the right to refuse any or all bids if the amount is not considered adequate.

It is not believed that the petition being circulated asking for an audit of county funds and investigation by the county grand jury of county officials will have any effect on the bids offered. Because of the anonymous nature of the petition and the refusal of any individual or group to admit authority financiers are not giving much credence to the petition, it is said.

A former grand jury had acted on the charges which are contained in the anonymous petition and had given the county authorities a clean bill of health, it is pointed out, and the political motives behind the petition are held too easily discernable to create much of an impression on the financial powers who have dealt with the county and its administration before.

The bonds are dated June 15, 1931, and bear interest at 4½ per cent per annum, payable on the 15th of June and December at the Farmers Banking & Trust Co., at Rockville. The bonds are issued by authority of the General Assembly of Maryland and will be retired $5,000 each year from 1939 to 1962, and $10,000 each year from 1963 to 1970.

Graduation exercises will be held tonight in two of the county high schools. The other county high schools will hold exercises tomorrow and Thursday nights. A total of 240 students will be awarded their diplomas signifying completion of high school studies.

Takoma-Silver Spring High School will graduate 60 children this evening, and Gaithersburg High School will graduate 24.

Graduation exercises will be held tomorrow night for the following schools: Rockville High School, 58 graduates; Fairland High School, 8 graduates; Poolesville High School, 21 graduates.

Exercises will be held Thursday for the following: Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School, 30 graduates; Damascus High School, 16 graduates; Sherwood High School, 28 graduates; Dickerson High School, 5 graduates.

This is the largest number of pupils graduated in any one year in the history of the school system and indications for next year point to an even larger number, according to Superintendent of Schools Edwin W. Broome.

Mrs. Henry H. Griffith is chairman of the general committee in charge of the annual supper for the benefit of the Gaithersburg - Washington Grove Volunteer Fire Department, which will be held Wednesday and Thursday of next week. Mrs. Carroll Walker and Mrs. W. Lawson King are the other members of the general committee.

Committees which have been selected to have charge of the dinner are as follows:

Reception—Miss Ella Plummer and Miss U. Bowling. Hall decorations—Mrs. George W. Chadwick. Fancy table—Mrs. Merle T. Jacobs and Mrs. Hannah Schwartz. Meats—Mrs. L. C. Hogan, Mrs. Charles E. Crawford and Mrs. William Davis. Hot vegetables—Mrs. William McBain, Mrs. Zadoc M. Cooke, Mrs. George W. Darby and Mrs. Garry W. Bell. Bread—Mrs. Clyde Thomas. Vegetable salads—Mrs. Harry B. Kanode and Mrs. Paul S. Thomas. Coffee—Mrs. David R. Hershey and Mrs. Harold S. Kingsley. Cake—Mrs. Norman B. Jacobs and Mrs. William D. Barnett. Ice cream—Mrs. Leon Fulks and Mrs. Rachel Harris. Candy—Mrs. Walter F. Reinhart and Mrs. Ernest C. Gartner. Iced tea—Mrs. Thomas W. Troxell and Mrs. Fox. Ice water—Mrs. Stup. Salad dressing—Mrs. Charles E. Crawford. Engaging help—Mrs. Norman Belt.

A final decree of absolute divorce was granted Mrs. Nellie Busbey, of Montgomery County, yesterday by Judge Robert B. Peter, in county circuit court at Rockville. The wife had alleged desertion and infidelity on the part of the husband, Ridgaway Busbey, of Prince Georges County.

The couple was married August 17, 1920 in Washington. The wife was represented by Attorney Thomas M. Anderson, of Rockville.
